● All aboard for Los Angeles! The Convention Special will leave Chicago at 11:00 pm, August 21, over the route of the Empire Builder—via glorious Glacier National Park.

● En route! The best in food, prepared by skillful chefs and enjoyed in the cheerful, air-conditioned comfort of the modern dining car.

● Restful hours in the luxurious observation car as you glide through an endless variety of scenic beauty.

● Glacier Park Hotel—at the eastern gateway to the Park—where you spend the night. Next morning you are motored through the Park over "Going-to-the-Sun" Highway to Belton.

● Portland, City of Roses—guarded by majestic Mt. Hood and surrounded by vacation spots and sports.

● Spokane—one of the Pacific Northwest's most beautiful and interesting cities. Grand Coulee Dam nearby.

"All Aboard" for the Pi Kappa Alpha Convention

. . . Los Angeles . Aug. 27-31

● San Francisco offers an endless variety of attractions ranging from famous Chinatown to the world's longest bridge—all in a setting of mountains and waterfront.

● Los Angeles is famous not only for its own beauty but for the myriad of nearby attractions. Among these is Santa Catalina Island—just 25 miles away.

● The Burlington and Great Northern Railroads are proud to have been chosen to serve the loyal Pi Kappa Alphas who attend this year's convention in Los Angeles. Nothing will be left undone to make this trip a high spot in the lives of those who take it.

The official itinerary includes intriguing stop-overs and scenic splendors in America's glorious vacationland—the Pacific Northwest. It follows the same picturesque route chosen by thousands of summer vacationists—year after year.

If you find it impossible to take this trip as a "conventioneer," keep it in mind as an ideal vacation trip—anytime throughout the summer.

A Message to All ALUMNI of PI KAPPA ALPHA

THE PI KAPPA ALPHA FRATERNITY

OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL ALUMNI SECRETARY

PAUL E. FLAGG
CITY HALL
KANSAS CITY, MO.

June 1, 1938.

Dear Brother Alumni:

Our Fraternity will hold its 70th Anniversary Convention, August 27-31, at the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles.

A special train, designated as the "Pi Kappa Alpha Special", will leave Chicago on Saturday morning, August 21, and will arrive the following Saturday morning in Los Angeles. A one day side trip will be made in Glacier National Park.

This coming convention will give you an excellent opportunity to make your 1938 vacation both a memorable and most enjoyable outing.

For the first time in the history of our organization, one Convention session will be devoted to the alumni and their problems. This session is being made possible by the greatly increased interest that has been shown by you fellows since the 1936 Convention in New Orleans.

This renewal of loyalty to our Fraternity by the older men is a most heartening thing and indicates that much good can be accomplished in the coming years. Arrange your affairs so that you and your family or you alone can attend this outstanding Convention.

From present indications there will be more accredited alumni delegates from their respective chapters than ever before. Now is the time to elect your delegate and tell him what you want him to do when he gets to Los Angeles. May I ask that the alumni delegates bring a wealth of constructive suggestions to his session and participate in this meeting to the utmost.

This is an unparalleled event for the alumni and it is up to you fellows to make the most of it. Make this alumni session one to be long remembered. This is the event you have been waiting for.

Hoping to see you at Convention and wishing you continued success and good health, I remain,

Yours in the bonds,

National Alumni Secretary.

Convention Cover

◆ CALIFORNIA's welcome to IKA's and their guests at the 70th Anniversary Convention is typified in the cover illustrations of this issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND.

In the center are T. Paul Moody, Los Angeles alumni president (left) and Bud Knoblauch, Gamma-Eta leader, presenting you with the key to the city!

Stage "Pay-Up Week"

◆ THE SUPREME COUNCIL designated May 15-21 as "Pay Up Week for 1938."

Last year Walter F. Coxe, National Treasurer, declaring that "the largest source of 'lost revenue' for our chapters is from members leaving school without paying their debts," inaugurated "Financial Check-up Week," which met with hearty response and reduced balances considerably.

This year the General Office urged chapter officers, the Alumni Counselor and District Presidents to do everything in their power to collect every cent due the chapter during May 15-21.

"Go after every man personally; tell him that the other members of the chapter cannot afford to pay for the benefits he has received this year," wrote R. M. McFarland, Executive Secretary. That is actually what happens when a man does not pay—either the other men in the chapter receive less for their money, or the tradespeople or next year's chapter inherits a debt of this year's chapter.

Remaining delinquents were to be required to sign notes for their balances to establish the amount of the debt.

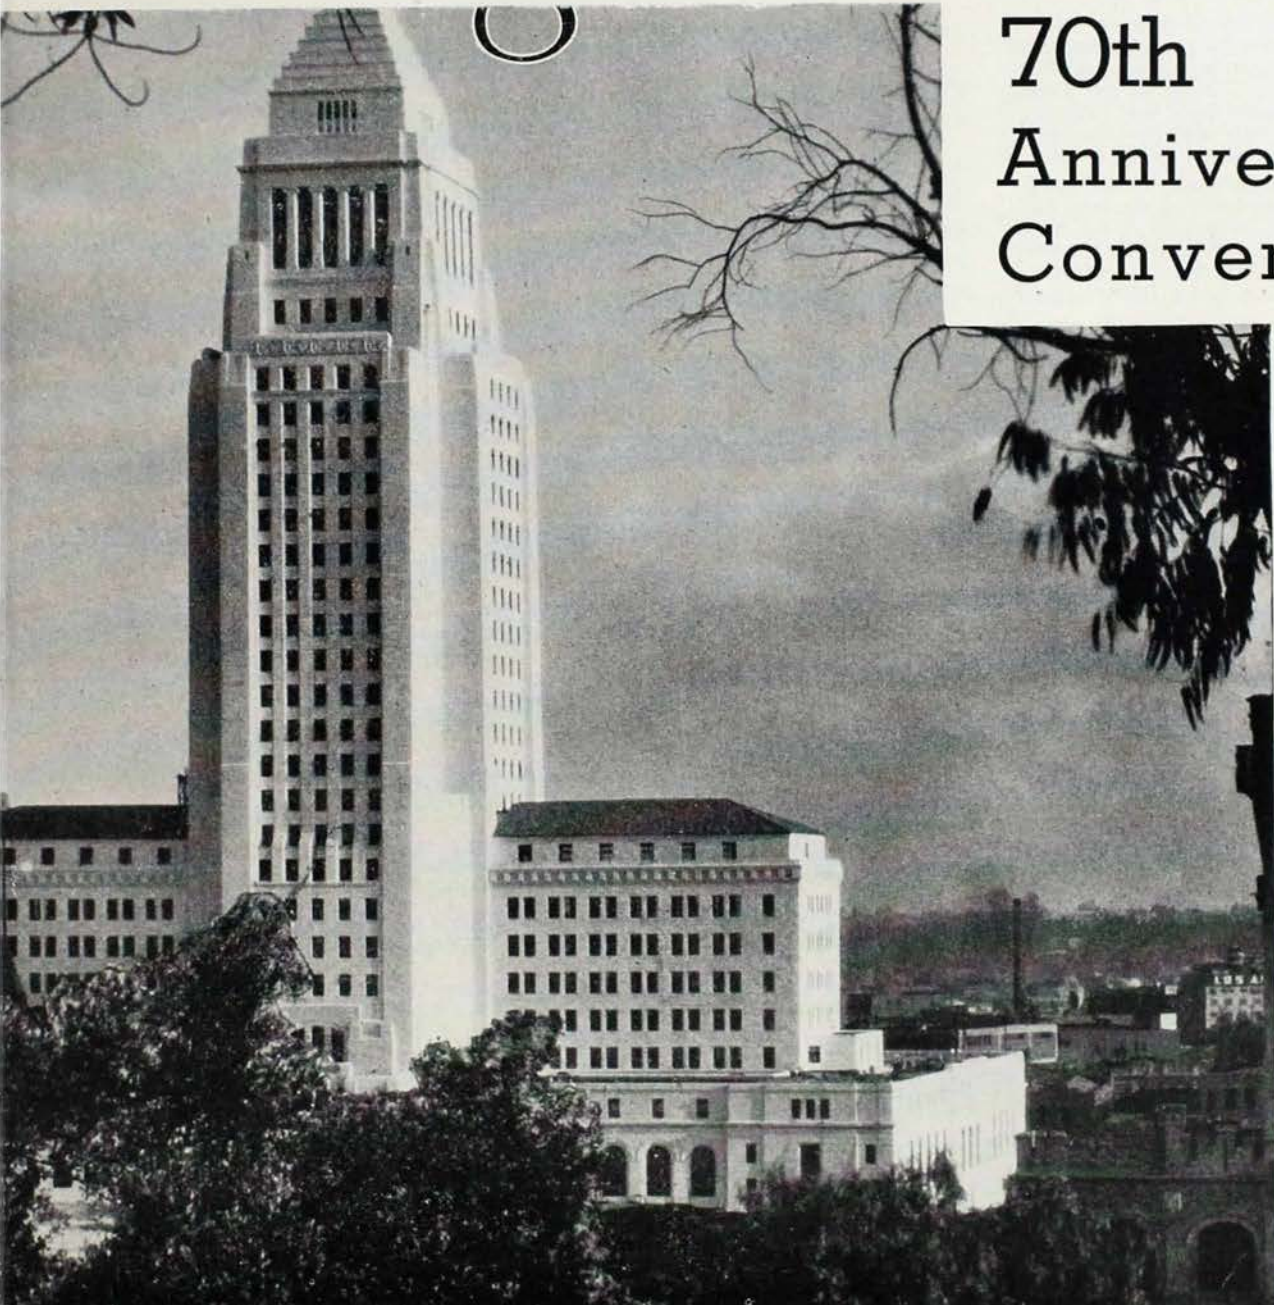

To IKA's Everywhere:

*"Phi, phi, k, a, will mean a lot to you
When you're a I I K A"*

Remember the old song? Still true, isn't it? Sure it is!

And IKA's, young and old, from the four corners of the country will gather once more in Los Angeles on Aug. 27, 1938, for the 70th Anniversary Convention. College chapters report that 300 or more undergraduates will be there. Let's have another 300 alumni there, too. Visitors and local guests should swell the total to 1,000.

Alumni—married or single, young or old—why not plan a California vacation this year and attend IKA's 70th Anniversary Convention in Los Angeles Aug. 27-31?

Five Day's Fun-$40

◆ FIVE DAYS of the most wonderful entertainment, including all meals, hotel room, boat trip to Catalina Island with many entertainment features, a big party with Paramount movie stars, the formal dinner-dance at the world-famous Coconut Grove, the 70th Anniversary Convention Banquet, and a host of other entertainment features—all for $40!

Even at the low special rates obtained by Dan Oertel and his committee, the total cost of the individual items included in the Convention Script Book amounts to $53.73—all of which IKA's will receive for $40.

Rooms, breakfasts and luncheons at the Ambassador, the boat trip to Catalina, entertainment on the island, meals on the island, the Convention Banquet, the Coconut Grove dinner-dance—all will be of the very best and all are included in the Script Book.

A slight saving can be made by visitors who so desire by taking nearby rooms at the Gaylord, Chancellor, Chapman Park or the Normandie. Credit for the difference between rates at these four hotels and the Ambassador rate will be allowed on the purchase price of the Script Book.

Script Books for wives and other women guests may be purchased at the same bargain rate, the stag items such as the round table luncheons, as well as the Dinner-Dance, being deducted. The Dinner-Dance ticket in the men's Script Book includes a lady guest.

The General Arrangements Committee has made it possible to have this package of merchandise for $40.00. If any individual bought these separate items, they would cost as follows:

Saturday
Mona Lisa Open House and Fiesta	$ 1.55
Sunday
Breakfast52
Catalina Trip
Trans., Ambassador to Wilm. and ret.	1.00
Trans. from Wilmington and return	3.50

Lunch, El Encanto	$1.50
Dinner, St. Catherine	$1.80
Dance Ticket50
Monday
Breakfast52
Lunch, Lido swimming pool	1.55
Convention Banquet	3.00
Tuesday
Breakfast52
Lunch, Gamma-Eta House	1.00
Dinner-Dance, IKA Ball	14.00
Wednesday
Breakfast52
Lunch, Gamma-Eta House	1.00
Ambassador Hotel (4 in 2 rooms with bath) 4 days minimum	20.00
	$53.73
Script Book	40.00
Savings	$13.73

One book only will be used. This book will sell for and be printed in the amount of $40. Tips and taxes are included. Delegates will pay only $38.50 for a book, the Los Angeles Convention Committee providing the Mona Lisa party with the compliments of Los Angeles alumni.

Ambassador Hotel rates: Two in room, bath and twin beds, $4 each; single room with bath, $5; four in two connecting rooms, with individual beds and connecting bath, $3.50 each; three in room, bath and individual beds, $3.25 each.

Gaylord, Chapman Park, Chancellor and Normandie Hotels: Double room $3.50 and $3; single room $2.50.

Hotel reservations should be made in advance with Mr. John King, Assistant Manager, Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles.

Sports for IKA Fans

By Carl White, Southern California

◆ ARE YOU A SPORTS FAN?

Los Angeles offers to visitors at the Pi Kappa Alpha 70th Anniversary Convention next August nearly every sport imaginable in one week of activity.

For those who love to hear the crash of wood against horsehide there is baseball every night, except Tuesday at Wrigley Field with both the Los Angeles Angels and Hollywood Stars using it as their home grounds.

Followers of the ring can go to the famous Hollywood American Legion stadium where the movie stars gather for wrestling on Monday night and fights on Friday night. At the Olympic stadium, "Carnation Lou" Daro's home of the mighty grapplers, there are swell wrestling matches on Wednesday night. Amateur fights also are staged in the Olympic on Monday night.

Sunday is a big day in Los Angeles for sports. In addition to the usual baseball doubleheaders at Wrigley Field and many semi-pro games, there is polo at both the Riviera Country Club and Will Rogers Memorial field at the Uplifters Ranch in Santa Monica in which many of the film stars participate. Among those who are likely to play are Spencer Tracy, "Big Boy" Guinn Williams, Frank Borzage, Walt Disney, and Paul Kelley with Jack Holt as a referee.

Auto racing is another of the Sunday weekly events at the Southern Ascot speedway.

Movie stars also are active in skeet shooting at the numerous clubs in the southland which hold weekly meets, while tennis and golf tournaments are being held around town nearly every week.

Yachting also has many devotees and Saturday and Sunday races are held in Santa Monica, Long Beach and Balboa, attracting thousands of onlookers.

And if that doesn't satisfy you, there is fishing every day from piers, barges and launches from any of the coast cities.

◆ "THE STRANGER, he is my honored guest."

This phrase, voiced in sonorous tones, echoed countless times through the adobe dwelling of the Spanish dons who once ruled Southern California. Whenever a stranger appeared, riding toward the hacienda, every member of the household knew what the master would say, and everyone recognized it as a signal to make preparations for lavish accommodations and entertainment of the wayfarer, whom-ever he might be.

The redskin boy who ran to relieve the stranger of his weary mount, knew he must look over the stables and make ready one of the best horses for the master's parting gift when the stranger should continue on his journey.

The fat squaw, kneeling over her matate, grinding corn for the morrow's tortilla, knew she'd soon be called to aid in the preparation of a feast.

The young Indian maiden who tended the bedchambers, hastened to prepare the best room.

The don, or his son, prepared a bag of gold to lay at the stranger's pillow, lest he be embarrassed for funds when he departed. And a fast-riding messenger was dispatched to the neighboring ranchos, summoning everyone for fiesta in the stranger's honor.

"The stranger, he is my honored guest. Let everyone make him welcome!"

This phrase, epitomizing the hospitality of Southern California, is a legacy of the early Spanish days, but it is fittingly perpetuated in the preparations which California IKA's are making for their Fraternity's greatest gathering—the 70th Anniversary Convention of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity in Los Angeles on Aug. 27 to 31.

Aside from the hours set apart for the conduct of necessary business, a grand array of entertainment features has been provided that would give even the blase New Yorker a thrill.

IKA delegates and visitors are expected to begin arriving several days in advance of the opening of Convention on Saturday morning, Aug. 27. The bulk of the crowd will reach Los Angeles Friday night or Saturday morning, when the IKA Special Train also arrives. The business of registration will be gotten out of the way as speedily as possible. Even here, careful study is being made to get this necessary formality finished without delay. Attractive young ladies will be on hand to see that the ordeal is made quite painless and at 11 o'clock National President Elbert P. Tuttle will grasp the trusty gavel in his sturdy right hand, and pound a welcome order of greeting to all and sundry. Following the invocation by National Chaplain U. S. Gordon, and an address of welcome by Dan Oertel, District President of No. 17, the convention will settle down to the roll call, filing of credentials and other preliminary necessities.

A round table luncheon will provide the first of many worthwhile sessions, especially for undergraduates. The Saturday topic of discussion will be rushing and pledging. Capable leaders will present suggestions, successful plans already tried, new ideas, outline methods of procedure and bring out the best thought of the representatives of IKA's 77 chapters on these two vital subjects.

Visiting ladies at the Convention will have their own separate luncheon and spend the afternoon in shopping and sightseeing. Los Angeles hostesses will provide cars and guides.

Reports of national and district officers will occupy part of the afternoon session but time is to be conserved by having these reports printed in advance so that delegates can not only study them in detail but can take them back to their chapters for the complete information of every undergraduate member.

The filing of recommendations for Convention action is always one of the most important procedures of any convention. Numerous suggestions already have been advanced by various chapters. One suggests standardization of the Fraternity badge and including a standard pin in the initiation fee. An uniform pledge examination prior to initiation is another suggestion.

A new IKA song book is urged by several chapters. Another suggests a house mother for every chapter. A recent district convention recommended action on a Fifty Year Club for IKA's with a membership of half a century or more.

An inter-chapter news bureau; plans for a chapter publication by every one of the 77 chapters; more national publicity for IKA; an active national rushing committee or bureau; publication of a new and revised pledge manual; creation of an office to be known as Expansion Secretary, to have charge of petitioning, charters, etc.; adoption of an individual style of architecture for IKA houses; plans for a new house financing system; revision of the Pi Kappa Alpha coat-of-arms to conform with the traditions of heraldry; payment of national dues in full for the college term of four years at the time of initiation; requirements that chapters keep pledge book, with complete record of men pledged with names of parents, high school standing and other vital information, together with record of initiation or release from pledge—these and many other recommendations already have been sent in by chapters to THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND. They will find their way to the Convention floor for discussion and action after filing with the proper committee.

One of the most important actions to be taken by Convention is the adoption of working plans for the IKA Endowment Fund campaign. This fund, created at the El Paso Convention 10 years ago, has lain dormant ever since, despite the activities of a few interested members in endeavoring to start the campaign rolling. Real action is anticipated at Los Angeles.

Saturday night will see the first big entertainment highlight of the Convention. The Los Angeles committee will entertain at an open house at the Mona Lisa Cafe, on famous Wilshire Boulevard, where Miss Florence George, Convention Dream Girl, will be introduced for the first time. With her will be a galaxy of Paramount movie stars. Paramount Studios will provide the entertainment for the entire evening—one long to be remembered in the vacation experiences of every delegate and visitor present.

Just memorize such names as Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour, Ben Blue, and Bob Hope, and then try not to be bewildered as they pass in review. There will be more, but their names can't be announced at this time. This isn't any stag affair. Visiting ladies are expected to attend and dates will be provided all visitors on application.

Sunday, Aug. 28, will be a great day for Inlanders. This is the day of the boat trip to Catalina, the Magic Isle, made famous by a stick of chewing gum, and Al Jolson's hit song, "Avalon." "In all the World No Place Like This" is the head line for this vacation spot out where the broad Pacific starts to roll. They claim it lives up to all advance publicity with its glass bottom boats, bathing in Avalon Bay midst the sun-kissed bathing beauties, the bird farm, the flying fish, dancing at the Casino, lunch at the St. Catherine Hotel, the Sky Line Drives, and just wandering over this garden spot of the West.

After dinner, a moonlit Sunday evening, the ocean trip back to port of Los Angeles, mayhap a beautiful girl, dancing on deck—a perfect end to a perfect day! Visiting ladies are included on this trip, of course!

Monday morning's session will be a crowded one, with many important reports but the Convention gathering will hesitate for a couple of hours at noon while the Ambassador stages an aquatic exhibition in the Lido, accompanied by a buffet luncheon.

Meantime the IKA ladies will hold a conference in the morning at 10 a. m. on Mothers Club and IKA ladies auxiliary projects.

The afternoon Convention session will be devoted to business while the visiting women go sight-seeing.

At 6:30 will be a repetition of the pleasing innovation begun at New Orleans, the model initiation using the revised Ritual.

That night at 8 o'clock, at least 1,000 IKA's are expected to gather in the Fiesta Room for 70th Anniversary Convention Banquet where every man will reaffirm his faith in the ideals of Pi Kappa Alpha. Brother William Alexander once again will voice the aims of the Fraternity in his historic movie. Old and new leaders of the Fraternity will be introduced and a program of short but snappy speeches by men who know how, when and what to say will conclude the occasion. The speakers will be notable names in Pi Kappa Alpha, although their final selection has not been made at this time.

Tuesday morning will be devoted to alumni affairs, plus conferences on publications and publicity. At noon lunch at Gamma-Eta's barn, IKA's famous grand opera tenor, Joseph Bentonelli, will be one of the highlights of the entertainment at the Coconut Grove Dinner Dance.

One of Florence George's pets is a parrot, which she has been trying to teach to sing "Dream Girl of IKA." And who's better qualified than this petite grand opera singer, now turned movie star?

a round table discussion on finances and a chance to meet the leading personalities of the campus, then return to labor at 2 o'clock. At 3:30 a motorcade will form to visit Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica, and the beaches. Or the studious minded can take in the Planitarium, or the Huntington Library. But be sure to get back to the hotel in time for this is the evening of the Dinner Dance in the far-famed Coconut Grove! This will be, if anything, even a bigger show than Paramount's curtain raiser at the Mona Lisa.

At any rate, IKA's and their visiting ladies and dates will dine and dance in the seductive atmosphere of the sheltering palms, tapping a hotcha rythm to the swing music of a well known band, such as Wayne King, Guy Lombardo, or Jimmy Dorsey.

Michael Raffetto, AΣ, radio star as "Paul Barbour" in "One Man's Family," will be master of ceremonies at the Dinner-Dance. Raffetto was recently tied with Tyrone Power for fourth place in a nationwide radio poll in which "One Man's Family" gained first program choice.

Joseph Bentonelli, BO, Metropolitan Opera tenor, will head the entertainment bill with Miss Florence George, former Chicago Civic Opera singer as well as movie star.

Marsha Hunt, Paramount movie player voted "Dream Girl of IKA" last year, Joan Crawford, Bob Burns, and others from the movie lots also are scheduled as part of the entertainment program.

Arrangements are being made to broadcast the IKA program if it can be fitted into network commitments, so that every IKA in America can hear a part of the program if possible.

From the Native Sons will come a lusty yell, when their own Dr. John C. Ruddock steps to the spotlight to receive the Achievement Award presented by Chicago Alumni as the outstanding IKA of the year. Other awards will be presented on this occasion also, when the Scholarship Cup, Alumnus Beta-Phi Trophy for the outstanding IKA undergraduate, and the Riculfi Athletic Trophy are placed in honored hands.

The final business session will be held on Wednesday morning, when last-minute actions will conclude the Convention. A special party will leave in special cars for the trip east via Grand Canyon, where a stopover will be made. Many others will remain for luncheon at the Gamma-Eta house and sight-seeing trips arranged by the local transportation committee for Wednesday afternoon.

With a maximum of three days required to reach the farthest distant point in the country, others will stay over till Thursday or Friday for an extra bit of vacation, still leaving ample time to arrive home by the day after Labor Day, Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The Supreme Council will hold its usual post-Convention executive session on Wednesday afternoon and an organization meeting of the IKA Endowment Fund committee is scheduled to whip its fund-raising campaign into shape at the same time.

Michael Raffetto, star of "One Man's Family," as he appears in the famous radio role. He'll be master of ceremonies at the Dinner Dance.

It will be a great Convention. The attendance probably will be the largest ever registered at a IKA conclave. Conservative estimates indicate that at least 300 undergraduate delegates, alternates and visitors will trek across country to visit the West Coast playground and take in the Convention. Alumni delegates and visitors are estimated at another 300 and at least 300 guests will be on hand.

General Chairman J. Brandon Bruner, District President Dan Oertel, and their alumni associates, together with members of Gamma-Eta all have been laboring hard to arrange IKA's greatest convention.

Perhaps of greatest importance to undergraduate delegates are the activities of Charles Brust, the chairman of the date committee, and Ronald Briggs and Bud Knoblauch, who are helping with these arrangements. Each of these men as well as several others have visited all sorority houses at U. S. C. and U. C. L. A. as well as the Paramount Studios to look over the available beauties.

While these fellows are introducing you to your prospective date, others will be decorating Coconut Grove with appropriate banners, insignia, and confetti to supplement the already beautiful decorations that have made that room so famous. And it is hoped that for an evening at least it will be in truth a IKA paradise.

The Gamma-Eta House will be open with a welcome at any time for those who care to stop in.

Although Gamma-Eta has the best fraternity chapter house on the University of Southern California campus, it is continually bettering the appearance and accommodation of house and grounds. Working with Walter Mason, Fred Webb and the project committee, the Mother's Club has fitted up the house with a number of improvements, including new furniture, lamps and curtains. The exterior is being done over too, and should present an inviting appearance by Convention time.

As a point of interest and information to the conventioners will be the display of the electrically lighted map which the pledges presented to the actives recently. This map is an outline of the United States with a lighted pearl button to designate the location of each chapter, a green one for the national headquarters and a red one for the convention site. In addition there will be placed by its side a scrap book containing pictures and a short description of each chapter. Thus it is hoped that an up to date, unified and complete picture may be presented for a visual evaluation of the Fraternity.

The Ambassador Hotel, with the finest accommodations on the West Coast, is really leaning over backwards in an endeavor to make the convention a huge success. Through the influence of some of the Los Angeles brothers, it has been possible to get concessions never before granted; deluxe rooms at ordinary prices, exclusive use of the Coconut Grove, meticulous service and excellent cuisine such as they only can give. This hotel with its wide reputation has won a selective clientele which keeps the accommodations at a near premium.

That is why it is possible to offer a vacation in California's great play lands for so little. The script book at $40 covers the whole expense of your stay in Southern California: hotel, all meals, trip to Catalina, Open House, Convention Banquet, and the Dinner Dance.

There will be a little sadness in the session on Wednesday, August 31, for in spite of time and tide all good things must come to an end, and it will be with a heart full of gratitude for the joy of your coming, and a throb in the throat, as we see the train go round the bend, and we say: "Hasta La Vista."

Take Your Choice of Routes and Plan Your Vacation in Los Angeles at the I I K A Convention.

would like to travel and this information will come to you by return mail.

It's time to plan your summer vacation right now. What greater opportunity has ever been given than this chance to see the great attractions of our country! You have always wanted to know how the Fraternity is governed. Make this trip to California a combination of pleasure and education. No matter how you wish to travel, the Transportation Committee has the information on the different modes of travel and here is how to get this information:

If you live in Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts,

Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia or Ohio, write Roy Smith, 101 Fairview Avenue, South Orange, N. J.

If you live in Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma or Texas, write Roy D. Hickman, c/o Alabama Engraving Co., P. O. Box No. 1072, Birmingham, Alabama.

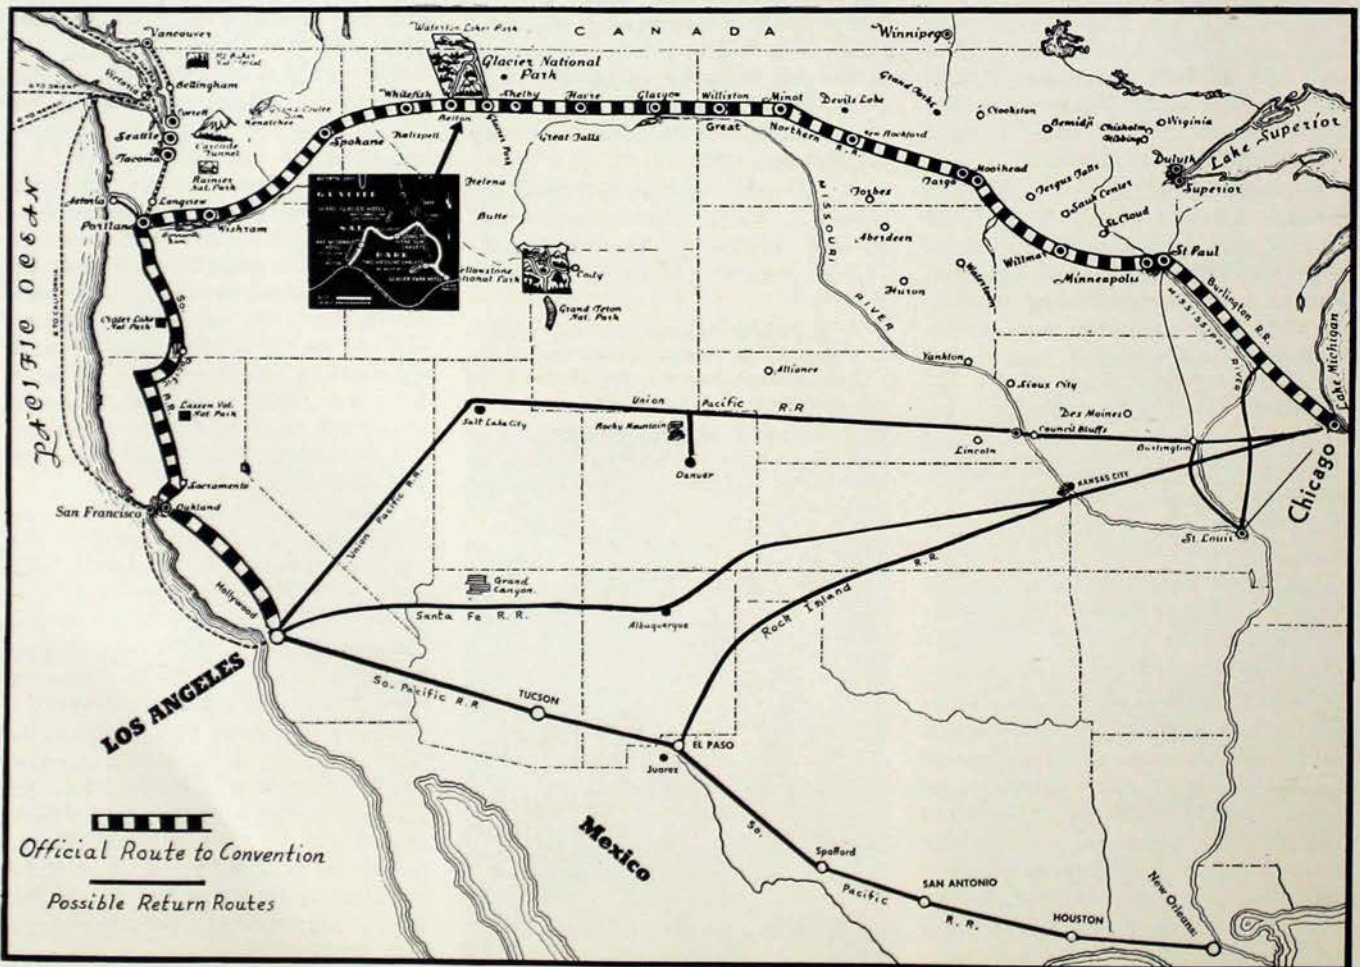

If you live in Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico or Arizona, write Jos. A.

◆ ALL ROADS LEAD TO Los Angeles next August!

Make your plans now to be present at the 70th Anniversary Convention of Pi Kappa Alpha and witness I I K A's greatest gathering. Your Transportation Committee has endeavored to do everything humanly possible to make your method of travel interesting and economical.

We are at your service. We only ask that you let us know how you

Sheehan, 1609 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.

If you live in Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming or California, write L. Brooks Regan, 425 South West 6th Avenue, Portland, Ore.

The committee member in charge of your state will be only too glad to furnish you with any information—write him!

You have already been advised, through THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND, that as a delegate or officer, you will receive first-class railroad transportation and standard Pullman by the most direct route from your chapter city to Los Angeles and return. This basis of travel payment will be used whether the delegate or officer travels by train, car or bus.

The Pi Kappa Alpha Special will consist of the new Air-Conditioned Tourist Pullmans (pictured in article) and diners, operating intact from Chicago to Los Angeles. By using the new Air-Conditioned Tourist Pullmans (which operate only west of the Mississippi) the railroad and Pullman rate from Chicago to Los Angeles via the Northwest is lower than the standard first-class railroad and Pullman rate from Chicago to Los Angeles direct and return.

Comparative railroad and Pullman rates in effect on Feb. 1, 1938, were:
 Standard Railroad fare, Philadelphia to Los Angeles and return, direct route $136.10
 Standard Pullman, round trip 42.00
 $178.10

Intermediate (Tourist) Railroad fare, Philadelphia to Los Angeles via Northwest, and return $123.10
 Intermediate Tourist Pullman, round trip 33.00
 $156.10

Thus the delegate is able to make a saving sufficient to take the extensive rail trip on the Pi Kappa Alpha Special at no extra expense.

If you go by train, you will receive from the committee member in charge of your state a requisition which you should fill out and return to him as instructed on the blank. For those traveling by train, the Transportation Committee will establish a one-day headquarters in Chicago, Sunday, Aug. 21, at the Palmer House (hotel) for the express purpose of assisting any person traveling by our train who might not have all particulars as to his ticket and reservation. Ask for Pi Kappa Alpha Headquarters at the Palmer House.

Arrangements have been made with the railroads handling the IKA Special to give assistance on that day in case it is needed. As you will note, the Special leaves Union Station over the Burlington Route at 11:15 p. m., central standard time. The Pullmans can be occupied from 10 p. m. on and you are urged to claim your reservation as soon after 10 o'clock as possible. This courtesy will be appreciated by the Transportation Committee in an effort to get everyone located.

The official route as approved by the Supreme Council is as follows:

Leave Chicago Union Station Sunday night, Aug. 21, at 11:15 p. m. over the Burlington Route to St. Paul and via the Great Northern R. R. from St. Paul to Glacier National Park, arriving Tuesday noon, Aug. 23 at 12:50 p. m. After lunch at the Glacier Park Hotel, the Pi Kappa Alpha party will take an afternoon trip to Two Medicine Lake and return by motor, lodging at Glacier Park Hotel for the night.

Making an early morning start (7:55 a. m.) on Wednesday, Aug. 24, the party travels by motor via Sun Camp and Lake McDonald to Belton, Mont., over Logan Pass with lunch at Lake McDonald. All of this for $17. While this trip is optional on the part of those traveling by train, it is recommended that every person take it because of the many attractions that will be seen on the trip. This charge of $17 is not included in the railroad fare. (Those that do not wish to take this side trip will travel by train from Glacier Park over to Belton and there, await the party which will take the motor tour.)

Leaving Belton Wednesday, Aug. 24, at 2:30 p. m. by train for Portland, Ore., and on to San Francisco, we arrive Friday morning at 7:52 a. m. Aug. 26. We leave our train at Oakland Pier and ferry to San Francisco for an all-day sightseeing.

A regular planned sightseeing trip can be taken by those who desire it for $2.00. If you do not wish to take this planned trip, then you are at your leisure to see the city as you wish. We board our train that evening at 6 p. m. in Oakland and reach Los Angeles Saturday morning at 8:35 a. m. Meals on diner are not included in the railroad fare.

We have been allotted just enough Tourist Pullmans to take care of our party—the first who sign their requisition for Pullman space will be given choice. First come, first served—so don't delay. Write today!

Those who wish to travel by their own car, write the committee member in charge of the state in which you reside (if you haven't done so already) stating that you wish to drive to the Convention in your car, suggesting a return route. You will be sent a Touraide which is pictured in this story (a complete set of road maps from your city to Los Angeles and return). This Touraide gives you the very latest information as to the best roads. This service is being furnished by the Conoco Travel Bureau, Continental Oil Co., Denver, Colo.

Those who select the bus should make their wants known in the same manner to the committee member in charge of their state and you will receive information about bus schedules and cost of traveling by bus, by return mail.

We want this to be a pleasure trip, whichever way you travel to the coast and don't delay making your choice so that you may have full particulars long before it is time to depart for the Convention.

Remember the dates of the Convention, August 27-31, and write your member of the Transportation Committee today.

Los Angeles Plans for IKA Conventioneers

◆ BUT A CENTURY and a half removed from its beginning as a Mexican pueblo, founded in the name of a Spanish King, Los Angeles today numbers nearly a million and a half people, its area spreading from mountain range to surfswept shore, an area more vast than that of any other American city, and uniquely varied in terrain and structure.

This is the site of Pi Kappa Alpha's 1938 convention, during the last week of August, when 2,000 IKA's, their families and friends will gather as guests of District No. 17 in the City of Los Angeles.

Aztec and Castilian traditions that influenced the southland during the mission era are kept alive, and one can still see the primitive Mexican dances and hear the plaintive songs of Montezuma's country—or the gayer steps and melodies that are heritage of its Spanish past.

The picturesque Mexican market place on Olvera Street, around which much of the city's early history centered, is but a stone's throw from the majestic City Hall and imposing new Civic Center expressing the spirit of the metropolis today.

Adobe missions, founded a century and a half ago by the Spanish padres who brought the white man's civilization to the southland shores, house relics of Indian art and music, while the Huntington Library and Art Gallery, the famed Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, California Institute of Technology, are outstanding monuments to the culture of today.

Within a few hours drive from Los Angeles movie producers find a natural counterpart of the scenic wonders of almost every country—from the Alps of Switzerland to the sand dunes of Sahara. Good roads have interlaced them, and you can bask the morning on a sun-tan beach, lunch in the whirl of Hollywood, and do a bit of skiing in the snow-clad mountains before the fall of night.

Golfers find virtually every type of course in this kaleidoscopic playground, and numerous tournaments of national importance take place here annually. Tennis and badminton rackets are never put away, for Southern California's climate fosters a year-round season of sun and fun in every sport.

By Margaret Dotson

Californians have been enthusiastic equestrians since the beginning of their history, and there are many bridle paths of scenic splendor.

By way of variety there's wild mountain goat hunting at Santa Catalina Island, or wild boar hunting on the Island of Santa Cruz. Deep-sea fishing off the Southern California shores, and in Catalina waters, is the sort that defies exaggeration, and attracts deep-sea fishermen from all corners of the globe.

Here are just a few suggestions to help 1938 Convention visitors have a good time in Los Angeles—at little or no cost.

Let the All-Year Club help you plan things to do and see next August when you go to the IKA Convention, especially if you plan to spend a few extra days, or weeks, in California.

Just write All-Year Club, 505 W. 6th St., Los Angeles, for information and help.

A journey to California in the early days was not to be undertaken lightly, for there was danger and hardship every mile of the way. Today, however, a trip to California is just a pleasant few days' drive in your motor car or even less by train—or a matter of hours by transport plane. Superb thoroughfares make cross country driving no task at all, and the endless caravan of pleasure-seekers who motor to the southland every year have caused a complete chain of accommodations to be built along the highways. Choose what you will—auto court, lodge, or the most luxurious of hotels.

To make certain IKA visitors to Southern California have a good time on their convention trip whether or not they spend a cent, more than 26 free services and things to do have been arranged for them at the All-Year Club's new Free Tourist Information Bureau in Los Angeles.

First of all the IKA traveler will be given the brand new sightseeing map prepared by the All-Year Club, the area's community tourist organization, showing all points of interest in Los Angeles city and county and even mapping out a tour of the homes of more than a hundred movie stars and other celebrities.

Whatever his particular interests and hobbies, one of the information girls at the bureau will outline for him, without charge, a complete vacation itinerary to meet his tastes, purse and time.

Other services include such things as arranging without cost, guest cards to beach and angling clubs, free tickets for polo games, appointments to visit the famed Huntington Library and Art Gallery, the International Loan Art Exhibit, visits to wineries and citrus packing plants, and even getting free tickets to national radio broadcasts emanating from the Hollywood studios.

The five specially trained Information Girls in charge of the bureau will obtain the answer to any legitimate, specific question about Southern California which is possible to obtain; they maintain a private post office at the bureau and any visitor may have his mail addressed in their care, at 505 West Sixth St., pending his arrival in Los Angeles or arrangements for other mailing address; they even find addresses of friends or relatives, without fee.

Program Complete for IKA's!

◆ THE PROGRAM is complete. The stage is set. All is now in readiness for the biggest and best convention in the history of Pi Kappa Alpha. The official Convention program appears in this issue of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND.

But let's look off the record a moment and get a birds-eye view of what will be at your disposal, if you have a few moments to spare from Convention activities.

A complete taxi service will be at your disposal, with the automobiles being chauffeured by the charming wives and sisters of IKA's in Los Angeles. You can go sightseeing in all directions; through the business district of Los Angeles, or the beautiful residential districts of West Los Angeles, Hollywood and Beverly Hills; over the mountains or down to the beach cities, through the parks, or along Hollywood Boulevard. You can play tennis or golf; attend auto races, or baseball games, or any one of several tea dansants at the various hotels, country clubs or cabarets.

Your evenings will all be occupied by Convention social functions. But there will be two or three evenings when Convention social functions will be over at an early hour. Will you retire to your bed? No indeed, not in Los Angeles! The Date Committee will be functioning at all times, and the brother who wishes to see the night life of Los Angeles and Hollywood can obtain a charming companion to help him see the town.

You can step out to any one of the many delightful and exclusive night spots such as the Trocadero, Clara Bow's "It" Cafe, or the Brown Derby, or you can go slumming to the Paris Inn, or to Jerry's Joint, or to any one of the many foreign night spots. At all of these places you never know when you may find yourself rubbing elbows with one of your favorite movie stars.

At the registration desk in the Ambassador Hotel you will always find tickets (free) to all the big radio broadcasts, such as Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny, Bing Crosby, Robert Taylor, Burns and Allen, and many others.

These are just a few of the many attractions provided for you, in addition to the official Convention program. The IKA's of Los Angeles have guaranteed to the fraternity at large the grandest time ever at this convention. Will you be our guest?

No Dull Moments for the Ladies

By Alese van Buskirk

◆ TRIPS THROUGH Hollywood, the orange groves, to desert ranches, to the foothills, canyons and mountains, through Los Angeles' colorful foreign sections—fresh flowers in your rooms daily—choice seats at the Cocoanut Grove Dinner Dance—a round of entertainment and enjoyment that no IKA wife, sister or mother will want to miss!

That's the program for the ladies at the Los Angeles Convention!

Arrangements are all complete. Committees have their various assignments well in hand. California's IKA women are ready for you!

The Women's Committee of the 70th Anniversary Convention General Arrangements Committee has only one purpose—service without limitations.

Visitors to the convention will find that their daily wants are not only already being anticipated, but actively prepared for. There are so many things to do in California—and so few days in which to do them. So few, that visiting IKA women will find that their problem will not be "what to do with that heretofore, inevitable dull moment," but how to find a dull moment in which to snatch a look at the next day's program.

The Woman's Committee will be holding the door of hospitality, the kind that the old West was famed for, wide open. The cool corridors of the Ambassador Hotel, the tree-lined Cocoanut Grove will hum with Miss Florence George, movieland hostess at IKA Convention.

Convention Plans Sightseeing, Gay Parties for Women

the activity of a functioning Women's organization.

The Reception Group will meet and greet incoming IKA women.

Registration Group will register visitors as they make their choice of attendance at alternate attractions.

Transportation Group will provide a well organized motor corps that will conduct sight-seeing in private cars instead of crowding into scheduled buses going on pattern tours. Each car will carry a well-informed local hostess.

One tour will take in Hollywood—and what is there to say about Hollywood that the whole world doesn't already know? This caravan will visit the many points of interest—fine shops, motion picture studios, homes of many dreams and architectures, theatres, famous night-spots and out through Bever-

What to Wear in California

◆ ALTHOUGH TO MANY, the twin names, Los Angeles and Hollywood, mean style centers, don't worry for one minute about your Convention wardrobe. You'll be so busy having a grand time that clothes won't bother you at all.

There is probably no place in the world where one is permitted the latitude for independent selection of clothes, and when you wear them, as you are in California. Summer dress in California is flexible, but informality everywhere is the rule.

For men: Town suits as usual. Sports clothes are in no sense a necessity, but very acceptable in point of utility. Patterned Norfolk jackets and plain trousers in slack styles; or reversed, plain jackets and patterned trousers. On warm evenings, double-breasted coats with white, or white and blue striped trousers; or reversed again, white coats with black trousers and cumberbund. Formal tails and conventional dinner clothes will be wholly in order, if desired, though not so cool.

For women: Any well-chosen day frock, one for cocktail hour and the restaurant dinner. A formal gown for the Convention Ball, and if you plan to get in some golf or tennis, then action clothes, and a utility sport suit. Bring a wrap of medium weight and a sweater, for while the days may be very warm, there is a great change of temperature after sunset.

On the Catalina trip, you will be much more comfortable with something with a little warmth; an ocean breeze and an ocean spray always carry a chill. Bring bathing suits for ocean dips or swimming in the Ambassador pool, unless you prefer to rent them here.

ly Hills, to show you where and how your favorite motion picture star lives. Luncheon on this tour is planned for one of the motion picture studio cafes or on the ocean front.

The next tour will take us through the foothill and orange grove section. It will stop at Forest Lawn, memorial park of rare beauty, with its many groups of great, original statuary, in many cases rivaling that of the famous Campo Santo in Italy. There stands the Wee Kirk of the Heather and the Little Church of the Flowers—a reproduction of Stokes Poges, where Grey wrote his "Elegy." There is the Sanctuary Garden, deeply religious in its natural simplicity. To stand there silent for a moment as a great organ floods the hillsides with melody is to walk hand in hand with God.

From Forest Lawn through Glendale and out to Pasadena and the Huntington Library, equally beautiful in an entirely different tempo. Henry Huntington spent a great fortune in the development of beauty, agricultural and cultural. There are acres of rare trees, shrubs and flowers, brought from the far corners of the world. There is a Japanese Tea Garden typical of the Celestial artist. A cacti garden of such rarity of specimen and size that it ranks second in importance to any such garden in the world, the Cacti exhibit in Munich covering three more acres. From the garden one wanders through the Huntington's former home, now a museum filled with treasure collected from the world. The library holds a fortune in ancient and rare manuscripts, volumes and bindings.

Mrs. Alese van Buskirk, in charge of entertainment for IKA ladies.

The Art Gallery is not large but its collection of paintings was gathered at an unbelievable cost. The "Blue Boy" alone, was purchased for a sum well over $1,000,000.

Then out the Foothill Boulevard to Riverside and Mission Inn. People come from all over the world to bask in its beauty, its warm Spanish atmosphere and to spend hours viewing its fine collection of arts and crafts.

The third tour will cover the shops and downtown districts. There will be time to visit the now world-famous little street known as Calle Olivera. Here you leave the United States and step across the borders of Mexico (at least in atmosphere). The amusing cries of Mexican vendors recount the superiorities of their wares. Booths are crowded with bits of arts and crafts.

Here big-hatted, sash-draped sons of Aztecs strum on guitars and sing songs in their high-pitched voices—songs that have come with them through the soft darkness, along the ancient ways of mountain and desert. Women in soft shawls cook over charcoal burners. Beautiful girls in Chino Poblano costumes do spirited and scornful dances. The costumes are vivid in color and heavy with embroidery bead and sequin.

Legend says a Chinese princess once found refuge in Mexico. The warm-hearted, laughing people made her welcome and gave her love. For them, at a great cost, she had these beautiful costumes made in China and presented her community with them. That was centuries ago—so long ago that it is now a national costume whose origin has been almost forgotten.

In the cars again, the motor corps will make a quick trip to the Planetarium, through Griffith Park and home in time for a rest before the next thrilling event on the program.

The Flower group will keep fresh flowers in the rooms of visiting women. Another committee will see that women guests have front row seats at the Cocoanut Grove Dinner Dance which will be attended by many motion picture stars.

The Woman's Committee has its plans ready for you. We want this to be the most thrilling IKA convention of all times.

IKA women visitors to Convention will be intrigued with the quaint scenes in Calle Olivera, Los Angeles' Mexican sector.

Plan Mother Club Conference

By Dorothy Hickman

Chairman, IKA Women's Clubs Committee

◆ AT THE New Orleans Convention, a temporary committee was appointed to investigate the different types of Mother and Wives Clubs and bring recommendations to the Los Angeles Convention on practical methods of operating IKA women's auxiliaries throughout the Fraternity.

During the interim between Conventions, we have collected information from different clubs, on their type of organization, what they are doing for the chapters and what they recommend as the most practical plan of operation from their point of view.

In Birmingham, we have used the Mother Club of Alpha-Pi Chapter at Howard College as an experimental ground in determining which plans work the best with this group with the idea of explaining these methods in the report to the Los Angeles Convention. All of this material has been assimilated and a report and recommendations will be made at our Los Angeles meeting.

A meeting for all women visitors will be held at the Ambassador Hotel on Monday, Aug. 29, at 10 a. m. to discuss this interesting topic and to explain to the mothers and interested persons, the report that will be handed to the Fraternity in session.

May I invite all of you to be present at this meeting and ask that you bring with you, your ideas and thoughts concerning the type of Mother Clubs that you think will develop the best results? This will be a round table discussion meeting, everyone being urged to make recommendations, out of which will develop a standard type club which we hope will be the beginning of more active Mother Clubs throughout the Fraternity.

At this meeting will be elected the officers, charged with the duty of cooperating with the different Mother Clubs throughout the country, and I urge you to give serious thought to this meeting so that we may give our best efforts to it.

Mrs. Van Buskirk, Women's Committee chairman of the Los Angeles Convention, has invited all visiting ladies to write her about just what they would like to see while visiting in Los Angeles. Please cooperate with her because I know that the Women's Committee has planned many things and it would be just as easy to plan those things which you would enjoy most.

I hope I may have the opportunity of making the acquaintance of each of you at the Convention and that we may revive and renew interest in the Mother Clubs which I believe can help the chapters to a great extent.

A peep into the Mona Lisa Cafe, where big IKA stag will be held night of Aug. 27. Paramount Movie stars will furnish the glamour.

Touring the HOLLYWOOD HOT SPOTS

By Kenneth Crist, So. Calif.
Staff Writer, Times Sunday Magazine

Rina Mosso's brown eyes were soft . . . half amused.

"Sure," she said reassuringly. "You IKA's are all part of the family now."

Red Timmerman grinned.

There was a wide smile on his face, though, when he finally swung his car into Twenty-Eighth street, the University of Southern California's fraternity row. Sue, he realized, was only two more blocks away and he wouldn't have to wait for her more than a couple of minutes—or fifteen.

So it was that within the hour Tim, his Sue beside him, handed over his car to the Chinese attendant in the parking lot where the lights from Jerry's Joynt threw a dull red shadow in the byway. It might have been blood.

Ferguson alley is like that. Even within recent years it has been the scene of some of Los Angeles' most hideous murders. It's only a block long, but it's a block full of romance, of laughter and tears . . . a spleen near the stomach of China Town, a burying ground for the dead corpuscles of history. Once a wholesale Oriental massacre was staged near by and the gutters ran crimson. It's probably the only spot in the United States where an ancient but elaborate Chinese temple hides in a bar's back yard!

That bar, of course, is Jerry's Joynt. Today it's no cheap saloon. Instead, it's one of the most celebrity-frequented and socially correct night clubs in the West. That's because of Jerry.

Jerry, they say, is the "mayor" of China Town, but Jerry just smiles and says "no." You see, in the first place Jerry isn't Chinese; in the second, he's a graduate of Montana School of Mines . . . an engineer who spent four and a half somebody's gotta check up on the village night life.

"Swell! It will take about twenty minutes to wheel the old jalope out to the campus. Be ready, will ya?"

From the telephone booth Timmerman hurried along the elaborate bar, said "hi" to the musician at the pipe organ console, paused to take a second glance at a startling blonde—moistened his lips, and went out into the exclusively appointed main dining room to find the manager.

"Mrs. Mosso," he explained, shifting his weight from one foot to the other, "Mrs. Mosso, I just got a check from my dad. I was wondering if you'd—ah, if you'd—"

Rina Mosso, Mona Lisa Club hostess, who will stage the big IKA stag.

◆ RED TIMMERMAN, committeeman, hurried quietly from the 1938 IKA convention headquarters at the Los Angeles Ambassador, did a bit of broken field running through Wilshire Boulevard's squirrel cage of traffic, and ducked quickly into the Mona Lisa's cocktail lounge just across the street. Immediately he stuffed his hulk into a phone booth and fished for a nickel.

"Hello, sweet . . . sure, I know what house this is. Is Sue there?"

He began slapping himself around the stomach for an elusive cigarette.

"Sue, hon, look—," he consulted his wrist watch, "it's a quarter of six. I just left Guy Van Buskirk and Dan Oertel over at the Ambassador. Those monkeys never get tired of working on this convention next August. How's about a cargo of spareribs at Jerry's Joynt and a hop-skip-and-jump through some Hollywood play yards?"

"Where? I don't know. Any place you want to go, I guess. What I'd like to do would be to just hit-and-run through a flock of 'em: Hawaiian Paradise, the Band Box, the Brown Derby, the Seven Seas, Ray Haller's, the Trocadero—"

"No, of course I'm not heavy with dough. This is almost necessary expense, you see. With the convention coming here in August years in China to go broke in the mining business. While there, though, he picked up priceless jade and Buddhas, the rarest pieces from outer Mongolia.

"Some day," he told himself, "I'll do something with these things."

He did.

He used them to create the most colorful bar in all the West. It's a hidden bar, too, and you have to know your way around to find it. There's nothing secret about it, however; it's just nice that way . . . Jerry thinks.

That's why, when Red Timmerman and Sue stepped past the doorman, they saw no saloonish atmosphere. Jerry's Joynt, to them, was a restaurant featuring the finest spareribs in Los Angeles. The pair ate quietly, studying the nearest of the thousands of personal cards from prominent erstwhile diners . . . cards that decorate Jerry's walls. You can find among them pasteboards from princes, governors, movie stars and other bigwigs; even one from the King of Hoboes!

"Dessert?" asked Red.

"Huh-uh," sipped Sue with a cup of coffee at her lips. "We gotta get moving if we're going to all those places you said. Let's skip the dessert course here and enjoy it somewhere else."

"Okeh, hon; s'pose we get it out of a hat."

"You mean the Brown Derby?"

"Correct-o, Sue girl. Ready?" He pushed back from the table.

Sue put her hand on his arm.

"Wait a minute, Red," she said, "the Brown Derby's all right but the one that's built in a hat is out on Wilshire Boulevard right near the Ambassador. I'd rather go to the one out in Hollywood or the other in Beverly Hills. From there we'll do our running around and end up at the Mona Lisa where we'll probably find some of your gang."

"You're sold on Pi Kaps, aren't you, honey?"

Sue smiled.

"Come," she urged.

The Hollywood Brown Derby on Vine street isn't such a startling place in appearance; it's rather who you see than what you see.

"Look," whispered Sue as they slipped past the doorman, "isn't that Doug Fairbanks, Jr. . . . and isn't that Fred Astaire? Oh, Red, there's Loretta Young and Joan Crawford.

Famed Coconut Grove, Ambassador Hotel night club where IKA's will find plenty of Hollywood atmosphere any night of the week.

I'll betcha Franchot Tone's here too—some place."

"Yeah, I know. Let's have dessert."

"You native sons are simply mean," Sue snapped. "There's no excitement in anything for you."

"Well, after all, hon, I did graduate from Hollywood High before I went to S. C."

"You mean you went to school with such people?"

"Not exactly that, Sue; but those people work. They work like hell."

"All right, I'm sorry, but, by golly, they do work . . . and the guys from Paducah try to put 'em in a monkey cage. Sue—over there—that's Irving S. Cobb!"

Later, at the Hawaiian Paradise, the scene was a little different. When Red and Sue stepped into the lanai room Sol Hoopii and his orchestra were doing a "Sweet Leilani."

"I love the lonnie room," Sue whispered.

"Don't call it that," Red snapped, dropping his voice. "L-a-n-a-i spells lan-eye . . . with the accent on the 'eye.' I know everybody says 'lonnie' around here but they're all crazy."

Lanai, of course, is Hawaiian for "porch," and the lanai room on the Hawaiian Paradise is exactly what its name implies. In August, summer time, the roof is pulled back and you really dance under the stars. You sit at tables canopied by colorful, striped beach umbrellas and get a little of the flavor of the real Waikiki some 2400 miles away.

Almost around the cement dance floor runs an illuminated stream of water. There's a little ramp that bisects it to accommodate the dancers. In that stream you see goldfish and tropical specimens of all sorts. There are little turtles there, too, each with the name of some movie celebrity emblazoned upon its shell.

The floor show is presumably Hawaiian. In it, though, you see hula dancers dancing to appease an American audience. There's beauty there . . . and glamour. Sol Hoopii is the "real McCoy" when it comes to Island atmosphere and Island music.

At the tables sit multitudes of beautiful girls, guests in for a cocktail or two, celebrities from the studios—private parties all. They lend a feeling and atmosphere, however, that make Hawaiian Paradise outstanding. This cafe is about as near "Honolulu" as you can get on this side of the Pacific.

"What's the Band Box?" asked Sue as she and Timmerman stepped into the warm, starry evening outside the Hawaiian Paradise.

"A perfectly swell little place up on Fairfax avenue; all finished in knotty pine and a bar that looks like a horseshoe. Want to go?"

"I'm getting—a bit weary."

"Well, gee, Sue; we gotta see some more places. The Seven Seas is a sweetheart . . . and then there's Ray Haller's and the Trocadero."

"Let's just take the last two. There are a thousand good night clubs in Hollywood and I do want to get back to the Mona Lisa. I like that best of all."

Red Timmerman lighted a cigarette.

Ray Haller's, 'way out on Sunset Boulevard, is one of the "quiet" places in the movie capital and, because it is you'll probably see more "honest Hollywood" there than at many of the brighter spots. It's tough going to hit it "red hot" all night and be on the set with the sun in the morning. Learn now that the flamboyant rah-rah people in cinema town are mostly extras or checkered-pants guys from the "press departments."

In Haller's you can see 'most anybody who's homeward bound. You get what you order at Ray Haller's but, brace yourself for the shock, you'll spot many a celebrity with a simple slug of lemonade—which you might misjudge for a Tom Collins.

It's the murals at Ray Haller's that catch your eye, the murals and the "live nude dancer" you see in the two fish bowls!

The murals, all Henry Clive originals, portray the mermaid theme. The "Birth of a Pearl" is a romantically designed job in carefully toned color, a "bubble" type of wall painting, compelling without being obtrusive. "Crocked in the Cradle of the Deep" is bound to give you a laugh. In it you see Davy Jones' flirtation with a mermaid—and the loss of Davy Jones' peg leg.

There are other murals, too; but the thrill at Ray Haller's comes with the little red headed dancer who really knows how to dance. All you see of her, though, is an eight inch miniature in two fish bowls—nudes reflected by a series of mirrors!

The Trocadero, the Ultima Thule of all Hollywood night clubs, is almost severe in its regal appointments. There is nothing of the bizarre, of the unreal or make-believe, about the "Troc." The prices

Three Win Honors at Cincinnati

By Ken Ziegel, Cincinnati

◆ CLIMAXING outstanding college careers, both in activities and in scholarship, Jack Seyffer and Harold Nieman, AΞ, '38, were elected to Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity, and William Restemeyer, AΞ, '38, to Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering scholastic fraternity at the University of Cincinnati.

As a freshman Seyffer was president of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity. Last spring he was awarded Beta Gamma Sigma membership and elected president. At the end of the year, he received an award from the university for the highest scholastic aver-there are "tops." The crowd—and there is one—is about the same.

There's an attractive blue party room "up stairs" which, on the Hollywood hills, is really the main floor level. Below is the bar and grill. Order what you please; pheasant, duck, sea food.

Expect no gaudy glamour at the "Troc"; what glamour you find there is sincere. From the Trocadero you look out through real windows over the lights of Los Angeles and Hollywood.

The downstairs bar is more like an old tavern than it is like a segment of flim-flam land.

"I love it," said Sue on the way back to the car. "There's just no substitute for it."

"It's the place," returned Red Timmerman, "where the movie colony really takes down its hair. However, no college guy can tackle much of it and still pay his bill at the house. Well, let's get back to the Mona Lisa."

As they pushed open the doors once more on Wilshire Boulevard they almost rushed into the arms of Guy Van Buskirk and District President Dan Oertel.

"Well!", said Guy, piloting them toward a booth. "What'll it be, you night owls?"

Oertel grinned broadly over a black cigar.

"I suppose you fellows are still planning," mused Red, spreading a white napkin across his knees. "Guy's ordering," he told Sue, laughing. "I'll betcha five hundred dollars—"

"Five hundred dollars what?" she asked.

"That we're going to have another round of fresh shrimps!"

age for the four years in his course of business administration.

Seyffer also was house manager of Mummies' Play Production Society for two years. He is a past SMC, IMC and ThC of Alpha-Xi, and is chairman of the university Social Board of Control, which supervises all campus social functions; president of Ulex, local upperclass honorary, and a member of the Men's Senate.

Nieman's scholastic record is also unimpeachable. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Beta Gamma Sigma. A former SMC of Alpha-Xi, his latest and greatest accomplishment was his recent election as president of the university Student Council. Besides, he is secretary of Ulex, a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and chairman of the annual Co-op Day Exhibition.

Restemeyer's primary achievements have been along scholastic lines. As a freshman, he made Phi Eta Sigma and was elected its secretary. He is now the president of Eta Kappa Nu, national electrical engineering professional fraternity, and president of the student chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. His high scholastic standing won him election to Tau Beta Pi. Likewise, it procured for him an assistantship in the mathematics department of the college of engineering.

U. S. Senator Initiated by IKA

◆ MANY INSTANCES have been known of a father helping to initiate a son into Pi Kappa Alpha, but Alpha-Eta, at the University of Florida, recently enjoyed the unique distinction of initiating a United States Senator, the father of an alumnus of the chapter.

This newest member is Charles Oscar Andrews, U. S. Senator from Florida, whose son, Charles, Jr., formerly was SMC of Alpha-Eta. The Senator was initiated March 15, having returned to his home state from Washington to attend the wedding of his son and namesake.

A smoker at the chapter house followed the ceremony. Among the guests were Dean Harry Trusler of the university law school and members of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity. Senator Andrews was

IKA's Still in China

◆ AT LEAST three IKA's are known to be remaining at their posts of duty in war-torn China—one as a missionary, another as a university professor and a third as an officer of the United States Marine Corps.

They are the Rev. Hendon Mason Harris, AI, '05, (formerly of Vicksburg, Miss.), with the Southern Baptist Mission at Kai-feng, Honan; Dr. James H. Wiley, O, '15, (formerly of the University of Chicago), on the faculty of the University of Shanghai, and Lt. Carey A. Randall, AI, with the Fourth Marines at Shanghai.

It is reported that another IKA, Loren J. Mead, BO, '16, who was with the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., in ruined Nanking, has returned to New York.

In response to inquiry by THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND, Nathaniel P. Davis, chief of the division of foreign service administration of the Department of State, Washington, wrote recently that his division had conducted an investigation through their offices in Hankow and Shanghai, which reported the Rev. Mr. Harris and Dr. Wiley "safe and well," and that they would continue in China. THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND was advised that Mr. Mead could be reached through the New York office of his company.

Lt. Randall was sent to Shanghai upon the augmentation of the Marine forces there last summer.

Charles O. Andrews of Florida Joins Chapter of Which His Son Was SMC

By Charlie H. Littlejohn, Florida

Senator Charles O. Andrews, recently initiated by Alpha-Eta Chapter of IKA at the University of Florida.

initiated the same day as an honorary member of Phi Delta Phi.

In obtaining authority to initiate the Senator, Alpha-Eta said he was desired as a member because of "outstanding political achievements and for his fine character." He was graduated in 1901, six years before the chapter was chartered.

The other Senator from Florida, Claude Pepper, is a member of Kappa Alpha, Omicron Delta Kappa and Phi Beta Kappa.

Senator Andrews was born 61 years ago on a Florida farm and educated at South Florida Military Institute, Florida State Normal School and the University of Florida. A volunteer in both the Spanish-American and World Wars, he was a Captain in the National Guard in 1903-05 and served on the World War civilian draft board at Tallahassee.

He was a secretary of the Florida Senate in 1905-11. Admitted to the bar in 1907, he became Judge of the Walton County Criminal Court of Record in 1910. Later he was an Assistant Attorney-General of the state, a Circuit Judge, counsel for the State Real Estate Commission, a State Representative, City Attorney of Orlando and a commissioner of the Supreme Court of Florida. He was president of the State Bar Association in 1921-22. Working with a Department of Agriculture bureau, he drafted the legal set-up of the Florida Citrus Growers' Clearing House Association, of which he was vice president and general counsel for two years. For the last five years he has been a director of the Orange County Farm Loan Association.

Elected to the United States Senate in November, 1936, for a term expiring Jan. 3, 1941, he fills the vacancy caused by the death of Park Trammell. He is the senior member of the law firm of C. O. Andrews & Son at Orlando, where he has practiced since 1932. Mrs. Andrews formerly was Miss Margaret Spears of Tallahassee. They have three sons and reside at 1210 Lancaster Drive, Orlando.

Riggs Now a Phi Beta

By Paul Sniderson, Oklahoma

◆ LYNN RIGGS, BO, noted American playwright and University of Oklahoma alumnus, recently was elected to membership in the Oklahoma chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, 14 years after he left the university.

Riggs is recognized by drama critics as one of the six best playwrights in the nation. He divides his time between writing for the theater and the screen.

He was born on a farm near Claremore, Okla., in 1899 and attended school at Oklahoma Military Academy and the University of Oklahoma. Soon after he entered the university in 1921, he wrote his first play, "Cuckoo."

By 1926 he was on Broadway trying to crash his way into the theatrical world. Since that time he has written about 20 plays and a volume of poems.

Among Riggs' plays are "The Domino Parlor," "Roadside," "A Lantern to See By," "Sump'n Like Wins," "Russett Mantle," and "Green Grow the Lilacs." The latter, produced in 1931, was his first real success.

Riggs became a member of Beta-Omicron soon after the chapter was chartered in 1920, entering the university in the following year. He was at one time a roommate of Joe Benton, BO, the Joseph Bentonelli of the Metropolitan Opera Co.

IKA March of Time Adds Notables to '37-38 Events

William Alexander, IKA Founder, whose death came, as it must to all men, during the past year's march of time down IKA's corridors. Below is E. F. Swinney, Kansas City banker, who assumed an active role in IKA affairs as Shield and Diamond Endowment Fund Board Member.

◆ MEMBERS OF IKA have continued, in the last year, to distinguish themselves in a broad field of human endeavor and accomplishment. Some rose to fame; some figured in the news of the day; some died after successful careers or in the course of duty.

They made their mark across the world. Daily they have exemplified the meaning of "Pi Kappa Alpha." Every member takes vicarious pride in these men.

A study of what IKA's have done, as told in the pages of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND for a decade and a half, was published in the issue of June, 1937. With the appended account, bringing the record up to date, SHIELD AND DIAMOND proposes to summarize the achievements of notable IKA's at this time annually.

The following list, for the last year, necessarily cannot be fully inclusive, as it comprises only a selection from articles published in this magazine:

William Alexander, A, last of the Founders of IKA, dies, March 25. He was secretary of the Equitable Life Assurance Society and an authority on life insurance.

Edward F. Swinney, E, '75, at the peak of his notable banking career in Kansas City, becomes a member of the SHIELD AND DIAMOND Endowment Fund Board.

Lynn O. Waldorf, AX, receives the plaque of Alumnus Alpha-Theta, Chicago, as the country's outstanding alumnus of the Fraternity for 1936. As coach of the Northwestern University football team, he guided the way to the Big Ten championship that year and finished near the top last year.

Wayne Wimberly Baker, ΓΔ, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent, is killed in a gunfight with two alleged bank robbers in the lobby of the Topeka (Kas.) Post-office.

Pi chapter initiates, in behalf of Gamma-Epsilon, Edgar B. Brosard, a member of the United States Tariff Commission since 1925. He had been a member of the local which preceded Gamma-Epsilon at Utah State Agricultural College.

After two years with the famous Fifteenth Infantry, U. S. A., at Tientsin, North China, Capt. Clyde Grady, Ω, returns to Fort McClellan, Ala. He was editor and business manager of The Sentinel, official weekly paper of the Army in China; general publicity man for the troops and secretary-treasurer of the North China Baseball League.

A six-letter man, Robert Fitzpatrick, K, graduates from Transylvania College, planning to be a teacher and athletic coach. He was chapter SMC.

Driven from the island of Majorca in the Spanish Balearics by civil war, L. Ray Ogden, ΑΣ, re-establishes his school for American and English children at Bordighera, on the Italian Riviera.

Veteran at Initiations Inducts Own Son

◆ FATHER AND SON became brothers in Pi Kappa Alpha on March 14 when Paul Tulane Atkinson, I, '07, initiated his son, Paul Tulane Atkinson, Jr., '41, in the same chapter.

The elder Atkinson was initiated in September, 1904, and the next year was elected SMC. He immediately began to take a prominent part in the chapter initiation ceremonies, a service he has continued ever since.

Not only has he initiated every member of Iota since 1907, but he also initiated 28 men for Alpha-Sigma, University of California; 15 for Alpha-Tau, University of Utah, and 26 for Alpha-Upsilon, New York University, the total being about 300.

He was Iota's representative at the Richmond convention in 1907, at the New Orleans convention in 1909 and at the Knoxville convention in 1911. It was at the Knoxville gathering that he originated the idea of the chapter calendar.

Atkinson served as Grand Secretary of the Fraternity from 1911 to 1917 and was Grand Editor of THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND from 1913 to 1920, thus holding two important national offices simultaneously for four years. While Grand Secretary he designed the standard form of application now used by petitioning local fraternities. This blank has been adopted, with slight modification, by at least one other national fraternity.

As a member of the Supreme Council, in 1915-20, Atkinson attended national conventions at San Francisco in 1915, Jacksonville in 1917 and New Orleans in 1920, and inspected petitioning groups at New York University, University of California, University of Utah, University of Illinois, Southern Methodist University and Beloit College.

After graduation from Hampden-Sydney College, he taught school for two years. At the age of 22 he was made division superintendent of schools in Prince Edward County, Va., which position he held until 1918, when he resigned to go into the Army in the World War. He enlisted in the Engineer Corps, serving until Jan. 30, 1919. A few weeks later he was elected financial secretary of Hampden-Sydney College, now being treasurer and business manager. Except for one brief period, he has been treasurer of the alumni association of the college since 1908.

The younger Atkinson, pledged last fall, was one of the first pledges to be initiated by Iota after mid-term examinations. He is much like his father, in that he loves the outdoors, particularly hunting and fishing. The ownership of several good dogs and a good gun is his assurance of happiness. He is a member of the 1938 college baseball squad. Furthermore, he gives a good account of himself scholastically.

Johnson Wins Editorial Post

By Bill Michaels, S. M. U.

◆ GAINING THE DISTINCTION of being the first candidate ever to be unopposed for the office of associate editor of The Campus, Southern Methodist University's semi-weekly student newspaper, goes to Jack Johnson, junior student, who has held several offices in the Beta-Zeta chapter of IKA on the campus.

Jack Johnson

Jack Johnson can well be remembered in the annals of Pi Kappa Alpha for the founding and editing of The Bulletin, District 14's official monthly newspaper. He produced the first issue in May, 1937, and the paper passed the first year mark last month in May. The circulation of the May '37 edition was only 125. It has now jumped to a circulation of 2,000, in its first year.

Johnson was commended for his work on The Bulletin during the recent District Convention in Dallas when a resolution was passed extending appreciation for his work and naming the paper the official publication of the District. Johnson was renamed editor.

With diversified newspaper experience, Johnson has been connected with the Cameron (Tex.) Daily Enterprise, Waxahachie Light, Ennis Daily News, Dallas Times-Herald, Mustang magazine, North Dallas Compass, and the University of Texas' Summer Texan. He has served in every capacity on the S. M. U. Campus and holds the all-time word record in the school.

IKA Hits Tax Drains and U. S. Policies

♦ AFTER THE NATION'S "little business" entered the limelight recently, as the result of the conference of merchants and manufacturers of limited size at Washington, the Baltimore Evening Sun asked the Association of Commerce to suggest a "small" businessman—not too large and not too small—to outline the views of his class on current economic and political problems.

William Hugh Bagby, O, '17, head of the William Hugh Bagby Co., manufacturers and jobbers of furniture at Baltimore, was the man suggested. The Sun's interview with him, published Feb. 5, follows:

William Hugh Bagby is not altogether sure that he is a "typical" small business man, but he is pretty sure that he agrees with the prevailing sentiments expressed at the small business men's conference in Washington—he wants more cooperation from Government and less hindrance.

Mr. Bagby runs the Bagby Co., jobbers and manufacturers of furniture. His plant employs between 35 and 40 persons. He is still youngish—he got out of college in 1917—but he has always been in the furniture business and knows all its troubles.

One of those troubles is taxes. Mr. Bagby figures that he has to pay no less than seven different Federal taxes alone, for the privilege of being in business, not to speak of a couple of additional taxes that are possible penalties. He also pays seven State taxes and at least three city taxes—a grand total of at least seventeen different imposts. Take the Federal taxes:

Mr. Bagby, who owns the great majority of the company stock, has to pay a capital stock evaluation tax, a corporation income tax and a personal income tax on his salary. He has to pay 1 per cent. of his pay roll for the old-age annuities program. Of his payroll taxes for unemployment insurance—now three per cent—one-tenth goes to Washington. He must also pay a license tax for the privilege of doing business in Washington—two-fifths of 1 per cent. of gross sales—and a stamp tax on stock issues or transfers.

In addition to all these, says Mr. Bagby, there is always the threat of the much-debated undistributed-profits tax and the capital gains tax. These, however, he has thus far escaped.

"Little Business" Man Cites Burden of Roosevelt Ills

Then, of course, there are the State taxes—on inventory, capital stock, recorded instruments, unemployment insurance, real estate and personal and corporation income. And the city taxes on jobbers' inventory, real estate and minor-privilege permits.

Mr. Bagby says the whole structure of multiple taxes is terribly complicated and troublesome, and that he "wouldn't think" of reporting some of them without calling in a high-priced tax expert for advice. The taxes are costly in any event—the social security taxes alone amounts to 4 per cent. of pay rolls this year.

And, in addition to the cost of the tax expert, Mr. Bagby estimates that the whole job of recording, reporting and figuring taxes, and handling governmental red tape, is approximately equal to the full time of one of his seven clerical assistants.

Mr. Bagby says he has no panaceas for governmental ills, but he has some pretty definite ideas on national political and economic problems. He believes, for example, that the unbalanced budget is a national debit in more senses than one.

Another hazard, Mr. Bagby believes, is the labor situation. He says: "Business is afraid of the National Labor Board. Take a situation where an employe comes into a plant under false pretenses, disorganizes the entire working force, spreads propaganda against the employer, dissatisfaction and distrust among employes. The management soon finds out what's going on but cannot discharge the organizer. It must pay him a salary to continue the lying, deceitful business—the purpose for which he entered the employ of the company. Sometimes he is not even an American citizen, sometimes not even from this city or this State. But if the manager discharges such a man, then he is subject to a fine and must take the man back and give him his back pay. Labor unions should be made just as responsible for their acts as business is."

Mr. Bagby says, however, that he believes in the idea of unionized labor. He says that some business men are obviously unscrupulous and oppressive. But he just thinks that the present setup needs revamping.

And as for the undistributed-profits tax, Mr. Bagby expressed his opinion of that like this:

"The undistributed-profits tax is taking the lifeblood out of business, small as well as large. If you make it impossible for small business to expand, tomorrow you have no large industry. The tax should be repealed, and there should be no exception in the case of family-held corporations unless it can be proved that these are so owned solely for the purpose of avoiding Federal taxes.

"If the President is going to go left or right or go right down the middle of the road," he says, "we ought to know about it. Then we could make our plans accordingly.

"I believe in the profit system, with reasonable and limited regulation. I believe in encouraging ambition, thrift, ingenuity, inventive genius and private endeavor. I believe that aliens should not be permitted to hold important places in large labor organizations. I believe that unnaturalized men and women should not be treated with the full recognition and given the same privileges and benefits that native-born Americans receive. I believe that habitual relief clients—not the real unfortunates, of course, but the habituals—should be disfranchised and not allowed to vote."

And, finally, Mr. Bagby wants the President to "relax."

"If he would just relax a little," he says, "just a little bit, then I think business would be right for several years to come."

Mr. Bagby, who is married and has a 3-year-old son, is a native of Virginia. He was graduated from Richmond College in 1917, enlisted for war service, was mustered out in 1918, worked for the Bagby Furniture Co., later went into business for himself and then in 1931 bought a controlling interest in the Bagby firm.

See Boulder Dam With Jim Purvis

◆ VISITORS TO THE Los Angeles 70th Anniversary Convention this summer may find an interesting sidetrip in viewing Grand Canyon, Boulder Dam and other scenic sights along the Colorado River with Jim Purvis, BΦ, '32, Purdue all-American football star, who is in charge of sales promotion for Grand Canyon - Boulder Dam Tours, Inc. They may even see Purvis at Convention, as he is now making plans to bring his horse and riding costume, which he formerly used in the movies, to Los Angeles for the big ΠΚΑ celebration in August. Until recently he was in charge of the Tourist concession at Pierce's Ferry, Ariz.

Pierce's Ferry, in a region of great scenic and historic interest, is at the mouth or lower end of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. It has a landing field which is the intermediate stop for the company's aerial circle tour between Boulder Dam and the Grand Canyon National Park.

Boat trips up the canyon and down into Lake Mead, the vast body of water created by the dam.

"The trip into the canyon," he says, "to me is the highlight of the entire Boulder Dam recreational area. We have gone 42 miles up in the canyon. Also from this point we can go the entire length of Lake Mead, which is 82 miles at present.

"I believe that Pierce's Ferry will become a new national playground, as we not only have the most scenic boat rides, but many other interesting side trips, including rides to cattle ranches, mines, ghost towns and Joshua forests."

The Joshua tree is a branched, tree-like yucca of the Southwest, often attaining a height of 25 feet, with short leaves and clustered greenish-white flowers.

"Above Pierce's Ferry," Purvis goes on, "an Indian friend of mine, Willis Evans of the Modoc tribe of Northern California, discovered some ancient sloth caves, which, according to archeologists, is one of the greatest finds in history. These caves are from 10,000 to 20,000 years old. In them are the remains of the bones of the sloths, which were about four feet high and 12 to 14 feet long.

"The sloth was virtually a vegetarian. Judging by indications of the amount of food he used to consume, he would not be able to live

Dozier Named to Phi Beta Kappa

◆ BILL DOZIER, FA, is one of the most outstanding ΠΚΑ's on the University of Alabama campus. He has added to his honors year-by-year since he entered 'Bama in '34.

Bill Dozier, outstanding man on the University of Alabama campus.

This year Dozier reached the peak in his scholastic career by being initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national honor scholarship fraternity. He also holds membership in Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic society for freshmen students; Y. M. C. A. Senior Cabinet, Blackfriars, to make it possible for tourists to go up the lake and see these caves and remains in their natural surroundings.

"This is certainly an interesting country and the work is equally interesting. I like it much better than coaching football."

The company maintains at Pierce's Ferry 16 tent cabins, together with speedboats, cruisers, aquaplanes and canoes. It is planning erection of a large lodge within the next year or two. The company also controls all the commercial boats on Lake Mead and offers an automobile service for tourists. Warm days and balmy nights are promised in winter.

Jim Purvis' brother, Duane, BΦ, another famed Purdue athlete, was with him at Pierce's Ferry for a time, but has married and moved to Los Angeles. He is connected with the M-G-M studios. Many ΠΚΑ's, Jim Purvis hopes, will call on him on the way to or from the Los Angeles convention next August. He can be reached at the Tours office or the Boulder Dam Hotel, Boulder City.

dramatic organization, and National Collegiate Players.

Also, Dozier has been student director of two Blackfriar productions this year, "More Sinned Agin Than Usual," and "The De Canterville Ghost." He is one of the few University students to be chosen for work in individual directing. In the first play named, Dozier tutored M. J. Bryan, another ΠΚΑ.

Gamma-Alpha's pledge group has Dozier for its adviser. He succeeded Frank Cade, former SMC, who left school at the end of the first semester.

Ohio Chapter Quints Meet

By Jimmie Bryan, Ohio U.

◆ FEB. 25 Gamma-Omicron, Ohio University, entertained Alpha-Rho, Ohio State. A basketball game was held early in the evening, Gamma-Omicron being the winner.

After the game there was a social period in the chapter house where all present realized that ΠΚΑ was a strong national body, not just a collection of weak chapters.

Many things of interest were encouraged, such as better rushing and the real meaning of "brothers in the bond."

Chapter Heads Set Grades Example

◆ TEAMWORK, long valued for its results on the athletic field, and the substitution of a good example by chapter leaders for the goading of members who might be inclined to slight their home work, are credited with bringing the national IKA Scholarship cup for 1936 to the mantle of the Alpha-Iota chapter house at Millsaps College.

Scholastically speaking, 1936-37 was a banner year for the chapter. Although in previous years it had made itself known for a distinct leadership at Millsaps in this field, 1936-37 showed a new high for a long, successful endeavor for scholastic superiority. In 1935-36 Alpha-Iota won its first plaque for campus leadership in grades, with a quality point index average of 1.57, which was well above the all-men average that year. As announced recently, the chapter won the IKA national scholarship award for its 1936-37 record.

The chapter reached a peak for scholarship in the first semester of 1936-37, with a 1.61 index average. To two factors may be attributed the success for this semester. The first is that every member passed every course in which he was enrolled; the second, that several members with excellent averages bolstered the general average.

The best record was made by the SMC, William Hardy Bizzell, who, as chapter head, set the scholarship example. He had an index of 3.00, which is equivalent to an A grade on all courses. Other members with grades of A in at least half of their courses and B in the remainder were Ellis Finger, Keller Breland, James Ferguson and William Kimbrell. These records are particularly significant since at Millsaps an A grade can be made only with excellent classroom record, plus creative work of some type: A B grade represents the highest possible classroom record without creative work.

The second semester record shows that members of Alpha-Iota fell from a 1.61 average to 1.57. This was largely because a number of the recent initiates did not pass all of their subjects and because some of the old members failed to maintain passing marks which they had made in the previous semester. Students who made a 2.00 average (all B grades or better) for the semester were William Hardy Bizzell, James Booth, Keller Breland, Blanton Doggett, James Ferguson, Ellis Finger, John Godbold, Wirt Turner Harvey, William Kimbrell, Albert May, Ralph McCool and Lawrence Painter.

SMC Bizzell Leads Millsaps Group in Scholarship as All Members of Alpha-Iota Set High Marks to Win Fraternity Trophy

The final tabulation for 1936-37 showed an average for Alpha-Iota of 1.59, giving this chapter a record substantially higher than the all-men average at Millsaps and higher than the average of any other fraternity on the campus. Thus Alpha-Iota won for the second time the "First in Scholarship" plaque.

Graduation brought still further evidence of the preeminent record this chapter made for that year. Of the four students who graduated from Millsaps in 1937 with high honors (a 2.75 average for four years), two were members of Pi Kappa Alpha—former SMC Ellis Finger and James Ferguson. At commencement also the coveted Tribbett Scholarship, which is awarded to the student who has made the highest average of the entire student body during the year, was awarded to Bizzell.

Of the two other major scholastic awards, the Travelli Scholarships, William Kimbrell, ThC, retained one for the second year after he and James Ferguson had held both for the 1935-36 session. Student assistantships, which are awarded at Millsaps to students for superior work in special departments, were awarded to the following: Fagan Scott in history, Albert May in chemistry, Blanton Doggett in religion, John Godbold in history, Aubrey Adams in biology and William Hardy Bizzell in English.

The reasons for Alpha-Iota's achievements are interesting. The most important reason was that all members individually kept their grades to a high average. In the first semester grades there was no grade for any one of the members in any subject which was not passing. The real credit for such an exceedingly high average must go to the individual members who kept their individual grades to the highest possible point.

It is well to note that there was not a concentrated effort on the part of the chapter leaders to force the members to work on their studies. The very fact that the SMC was also the highest ranking student on the campus would naturally be an unconscious stimulus to the chapter. Although the chapter policy has been and still is one that encourages members and pledges to work hardest on the thing for which they principally came to college—their studies—the chapter and its officers made no move to worry members continually about their grades.

This scholastic superiority was not attained at the sacrifice of other campus activities. As far as extracurriculars went during 1937-38 Pi Kappa Alpha might well be assumed to have been leader among the other fraternities on the Millsaps campus. Pi Kappa Alpha had 16 men out for athletics, one of whom was Fred Ezelle, captain of the varsity football team. The editor and the business manager of the Purple and White, campus weekly publication, were respectively, Victor Roby and James Dunn, with seven other IKA's on the staff. Fagan Scott was business manager of the yearbook, The Bobshela. Besides these were three men in dramatics, seven in debate, nine in the glee club and seven in the band.

For the first semester of 1937-38 Alpha-Iota had an index average of 1.49. This was .10 below last year. However, with this average, Pi Kappa Alpha at Millsaps again was ahead of the all-men average and all other national fraternities on the campus.

Three Miss. State IKA's in 'Who's Who'

By Martin R. Smith,
Mississippi State

Gamma-Theta presents U. K. Wagner, Jr., president of Tau Beta Pi; E. J. (Chick) Hosch and E. M. Stiles who are to be listed in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

◆ OF THE 18 students selected this year to represent Mississippi State College in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, three were members of Gamma-Theta chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha.

E. J. "Chick" Hosch, V. K. Wagner, Jr., and E. M. Stiles are the Pi Kap seniors whose biographies since their college entrance will be recorded.

Hosch is perhaps the most outstanding of the group. Hosch is editor of The Reflector, called the "best college news journal in the South," and incidentally the first married editor this newspaper has had in its 51 years of publication. He is president of Blue Key, national service organization, and Omicron Theta, journalistic society. He is also a member of the dance committee, executive council, associate editor of the Annual and the humor magazine, and Chi Lambda Rho, national business fraternity, and also holds other honors.

Wagner, three times SMC of Gamma-Theta, is also a power on the Mississippi State campus, covering all the fields of honor. He recently completed his job as chief engineer in charge of construction of new Humphrey Stadium. He has been elected committee chairman of Mississippi State's first Engineer's Day, and he is president of Tau Beta Pi. He is vice-president of Pi Kappa Delta and the college's leading debater.

Take a large breath and read the rest of his honors: Phi Eta Sigma, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Blue Key, A. S. C. E., Scabbard and Blade, Inter-frat Council, and Y-Cabinet.

The third member of Gamma-Theta's triumvirate, Stiles, is another who leans slightly to starboard from the weight of watch-chain keys, with more jobs than any man on the State campus for the past year. Holding six jobs in one semester, he has worked his own way through college at the same time. He is a past-president of Phi Eta Sigma and present vice-president of Tau Beta Pi. He is treasurer and charter member of O. D. K. and also belongs to Kappa Mu Epsilon, Scabbard and Blade, and A. S. C. E. He ran an intensive campaign for president of the Student Association last year, being defeated by a slight margin.

Found Gray Memorial Fund

◆ IN MEMORY of the late Russell T. Gray, BΦ, '15, the Russell T. Gray Memorial Loan Fund has been established at his alma mater, Purdue University. It will be used to assist needy students in their junior and senior years.

Contributions for the fund were made by Russell T. Gray, Inc., a Chicago industrial advertising agency, which he headed, by members of that organization, and by the Purdue Alumni Association, of which he was president.

Gray, who took an active and useful interest in the affairs of ΠΚΑ, Beta-Phi and the Purdue alumni, was District President in charge of the Illinois, Indiana and Michigan chapters at his death.

DON'T FORGET — 1938 CONVENTION — LOS ANGELES WELCOMES YOU!

Alpha Honors Founders

◆ ALPHA CHAPTER at the University of Virginia, held its annual Founders' Day Banquet at the Monticello Hotel in Charlottesville, Va., on April 21 with about 75 people present. The attendance was smaller than anticipated, the Easter holiday taking many undergraduates and faculty members away from the campus.

In an effort to know better the alumni in the city and to create more interest in IKA among them, a diligent effort was made to have each one attend the banquet. Two undergraduates called on each alumnus and invited him personally, in addition to sending each a formal invitation. This attempt proved most successful and approximately half of those present were local alumni.

The Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, A, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church of America, and Alpha Chapter's 1938 nominee for its most outstanding alumnus, was expected to be present as the honor guest but an engagement in Indianapolis prevented.

Among the alumni present were some of the most prominent men in the city of Charlottesville including President John Lloyd Newcomb, president of the University of Virginia; Dr. W. D. Haden, Mayor of Charlottesville and president, National Bank and Trust Co.; John S. White, Postmaster; Judge A. B. Dabney, Judge of the Corporation Court of Charlottesville; several local doctors, business men, and professors at the university.

After the banquet, which was totally lacking in speeches, many of the alumni visited the chapter house.

Adams Active in Dallas

◆ WILLIAM D. ADAMS, II, '96, is one of the most active and interested members of Alumnus Theta, Dallas, Tex. He was a charter member and first president of Alumnus Alpha-Nu, St. Louis, in 1920, but remained in that city only a short time thereafter. The April issue of The Bulletin, the newsy publication of the chapters of District No. 14, carried Adams' picture on the front page. For a time he was connected with a veterans' hospital in Arizona and also was an inspector of the rehabilitation of disabled veterans.

Virginia IKA Judge Succeeds Another

◆ ONE IKA, John Garland Jefferson, Jr., a descendant of Thomas Jefferson, succeeded another, Edwin P. Cox, as a Circuit Judge in Virginia recently, upon the death of Judge Cox.

They had been rather intimate with each other for a good many years and in their careers there was a striking parallel. Each was a scion of an old family of Virginia. Each received the degree of Bachelor of Arts at historic Hampden-Sydney College, where they were initiated by Iota, and each studied law at the University of Virginia, where they affiliated with Alpha. Each taught school for a short time before completing his legal education, and each hung out his shingle at Richmond to begin the practice of law.

Judge Cox, a former Speaker of the State House of Delegates, whose home was at "Harrowatocks," Chesterfield County, became ill March 2 and died at a Richmond hospital March 11. Judge Jefferson was appointed to the same bench, the Fourth Judicial Circuit, by Gov. Price April 2, for the balance of a term expiring in 1940. The circuit embraces the city of Petersburg and five counties immediately south of Richmond.

Born at Bland Courthouse, May 2, 1870, Judge Cox was one of the best-known jurists in the state. His grandfather had been the first judge in Chesterfield County. He was graduated from Hampden-Sydney in 1888, attended the University of Virginia for one session, then taught school for a year and engaged in civil engineering for a year. Returning to the university's law school, he completed his course in 1892.

He became a member of the House of Delegates in 1904 and Speaker a decade later. Afterwards he was one of the authors of an important tax code. During the World War he was a member of the Virginia Draft Appeals Board. In 1924 he was elected Judge.

He was buried in a family cemetery, Clover Hill, near Winterpock, Chesterfield County. Pallbearers were County Clerks and Sheriffs from the judicial circuit. Surviving are his wife, a son and three daughters.

Judge John Garland Jefferson, Jr., I and A, descendant of Thomas Jefferson, who takes bench vacated by IKA Judge Cox.

ment of the county's traditional best. He was a gentleman-jurist of the old school, a Confederate of the twentieth century. . . . A devoted man Edwin Cox was. Duty had a stern voice when she commanded him. Responsibility was not lightly discharged. Often his fine face seemed to show the marks of care when, in reality, it revealed only his determined purpose to meet the obligations of gentleman and of jurist."

Judge Jefferson, a lawyer and dairy farmer of Amelia, also was a Trial Justice for his home county since the Trial Justice system was instituted, and was chairman of the State Milk Commission.

"I feel," said Gov. Price in making the appointment, "that Virginia is very fortunate in having men of the character and attainment of Mr. Jefferson available for judicial service. I have known him for 25 years; he is one of the finest men of my acquaintance."

A bachelor, Judge Jefferson was born at Winterham Jan. 17, 1885. He was educated at Fredericksburg College and Hampden-Sydney, where he received his degree in 1905. For a time he taught school at Smithfield. At the university he obtained his law degree in 1908, a classmate of Stanley Reed, who recently was appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States. His practice at Richmond was brief, as he returned to Amelia in 1909.

He has been Democratic chairman of Amelia, chairman of the local school board, president of the Union Bank & Trust Co., president of the Amelia Farm Bureau Federation, legislative chairman of the State Trial Justice Association, an elder of the Presbyterian church and an officer of the Richmond Milk Producers' Association since its formation in 1930.

In an editorial in the Richmond Times-Dispatch, praising the appointment of Judge Jefferson, it was said that he was only the fourth Judge to serve in the circuit. His predecessors, the editorial continued, "all were regarded as able jurists and Mr. Jefferson may be expected to live up to that tradition. Farmer, banker, lawyer, cultivated gentleman, he has the mental and temperamental equipment which becomes a wise and just Judge."

Commands R. O. T. C. at Utah State

high school he also won the Rotary scholarship, an award to the outstanding student.

Selected as a Rhodes candidate as well as many other outstanding activities, Thomas also is affiliated with Alpha Sigma Nu, honorary fraternity; Scabbard and Blade, national military fraternity, and Blue Key, honorary juniors and seniors group. For three years he has been a member of the school executive council and was freshman class president in his first college year. Yet with all these activities and responsibilities he has maintained a remarkable scholarship throughout.

Twice he has been listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Last year he was a member of the Junior Prom Committee and has served as reporter on Student Life, college paper; president of the dramatic club; legislature reception chairman; and was high point winner in the winter carnival. He has also taken part in several Little Theatre roles.

In the R. O. T. C. Cadet Colonel Thomas was a first sergeant last year and a member of the Sophomore drill team. When at summer camp at Fort Wörden, Washington, he won sharpshooting medals with rifle and pistol and was range officer on the anti-aircraft firing squad. He is majoring in chemistry and had been on the honor roll three times.

Thomas was chapter president of Gamma-Epsilon last year and is on the senior council.

Receives Degree

◆ BELATED NEWS has reached THE SHIELD AND DIAMOND of the award of the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering by Missouri School of Mines last June to Enoch Ray Needles, AK, '14, bridge builder extraordinary. (SHIELD AND DIAMOND, February, 1938.)

Needles delivered the commencement address at that time and his portrait was added to the school's gallery of notables.

When Alpha-Kappa was raising the fund for its new house at Rolla, Mo., in 1929, Needles made one of the largest contributions. In college days he was president of the senior class, editor of the yearbook, SMC of the chapter for a year and a member of Tau Beta Pi and Phi Kappa Phi, honoraries.

A recent article in a civil engineering magazine said of Needles: "His life has not been confined merely to professional work, but also much of his activity has been to benefit his fellow engineers."

Check Up on Phone Calls

THE QUESTION of restricting long-distance telephone service from fraternity and sorority houses at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville was taken under advisement recently by the state utilities commission.

Greek letter houses asked that the phone company prohibit long-distance calls being placed from the regular house phones, and the completion of incoming calls only when prepaid. Robert Smith, house manager for Kappa Sigma, said his fraternity chapter suffered a $239 loss last year because of inability to check up on calls. "Some of the boys are financially irresponsible," he said.

I I K A 'Date' a Riot

◆ UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON Tolo night, when the girls pay the bills, is a long standing tradition. But it was nearly laughed out of existence recently by the practical joke of two I I K A's.

less brother, Fred Payne. On the fateful night every man in the house took turns pushing and pulling Payne into a lovely Paris creation. A gorgeous red wig added a striking note of contrast to the blue lace dress.

At the dance the couple immediately started to make life miserable for all their friends and acquaintances. Embarrassed men tried to explain to their dates who the saucy red head really was, but it is doubtful if the explanations were very successful. Some of the indignant girls even forced their male companions to dance with the pseudo female.

At the height of the festivities the staid committee in charge was shocked at the sight of a young lady dancing with a long black cigar hanging from the corner of her lip. Surrounded by a corps of bouncers, the two Pi Kaps were evicted. But theirs was the last laugh when the University Daily carried the story in full on the front page.

That there is a definite need for a clearing house to furnish chapters with resident advisers was emphasized by Undergraduate Delegate Lund of Minnesota at the National Interfraternity Conference. A proposal that the Conference should provide such service was made last year by Prof. R. H. Jordan, chairman of the Committee on Resident Advisers.

District 18 Draws Big Crowd to Convention

By Thomas Giboney, Washington State

◆ GAMMA-XI was host to the chapters of District No. 18 at a convention at Pullman, Wash., March 18 and 19. The three other chapters in the district all sent large delegations. Gamma-Kappa, Montana State College, had the largest group present—26 undergraduates. Gamma-Pi, University of Oregon; Beta-Beta, University of Washington; Alumnus Alpha-Omicron, Seattle, and Alumnus Alpha-Sigma, Portland, also were represented.

A banquet at the Washington Hotel, with over 100 guests present, was attended by several prominent fraternity leaders of the northwest and the nation, including Emmett B. Moore, District Archon of Beta Theta Pi; Otis C. McCreery, ATΩ, dean of men at Washington State; Everett Fenton, AΣ, who for 11 years was District Princeps of ΠKA; Al Sloth, national chapter supervisor of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Dr. E. O. Holland, president of the State College of Washington. District President Wilson B. Heller was toastmaster. Short talks were made by the visiting SMC's, the alumni counselors and Dean McCreery.

Following the banquet a Mardi Gras dance was held in the campus gymnasium with about 175 couples present, including guests from the 20 other national Fraternities at the college. The dance was broadcast throughout the Pacific Northwest by station KWSC.

An open session was held the next afternoon, at which an address was given by Dean McCreery, "How to Improve your Chapter."

A stag party was held for the delegates and guests that evening at a roadhouse near Pullman. A buffet supper was served. Each chapter furnished original entertainment. Guests were present from local fraternities at Willamette University, Linfield College and the University of Idaho.

Builds Short Wave Radio

◆ RADIO STATION W8EWP, Syracuse, N. Y., is owned and operated by Paul H. Lee, AX, who has been active in radio for the past seven years and is studying electrical engineering at Syracuse University. He is a member of the United States Naval Reserve, holding the rating of Chief Radioman and Executive Officer of Unit 4, Section 2, Third Naval District. He has served aboard two destroyers on summer cruises.

For those familiar with the language of radio men, Station W8EWP has a 250-watt phone transmitter on 14,206, 3960, and 3991 kilocycles and uses 500 watts on 7010 and 3530 kilocycle code. The tube lineup is 6L6 crystal oscillator, 211 buffer and 212E power amplifier. A beam antenna is being constructed for use on 14,206 kilocycle 'phone for communication with the West Coast and Europe.

A simple homemade receiver is used for code, while a Philco super brings in the 'phone stations very well. A 10-kilowatt tube on the wall is not used in the transmitter, being there merely as a decoration. There are times, however, when it could be used to advantage to get through heavy interference. The transmitter is mounted in conventional rack style, and all units are readily removable for repairs.

Lee is interested in communicating with other ΠKA's having short-wave stations.

Grades, Campuistry, Subjects at District 12 Meeting

By Leo A. Hoegh, District President

Attending the District 12 Convention were five from Beta-Xi: Clay Gibbs, Bob Remmel, C. C. Brechler, John McVay, and Geo. O. Hipskind; ten from Alpha-Phi, Jack Heap, William Tuttle, John Thompson, Lawrence Greene, Bob Fisher, Dean Gunerson, George Wickersham, Lyle Evans, Lewis Hallberg, and Clifford A. McKee; four from Beta-Rho Alumnus Chapter, Minneapolis, Walter W. Smith, Carl E. Swanson, Clarence N. Reiersen, and Robert Hahnen; Dick Clary, All, and the members of Gamma-Nu Chapter.

◆ THE THREE undergraduate chapters of District 12, Alpha-Phi, Beta-Xi, and Gamma-Nu, reported greatly improved scholarship, each chapter ranking in the upper twelve or better among the fraternities on their respective campi, at the District Convention at the University of Iowa, April 9-10. It was suggested that discipline of actives and pledges alike is often necessary to improve scholastic standing. The form of discipline suggested was that of revoking social privileges and notifying the parents concerning the members scholastic work.

The chapters went on record as recognizing activities to be of great importance in strengthening and maintaining strength in any chapter. The following slogan was adopted: "IKA in everything and every IKA in something."

It was determined that cooperation is the key word in successful rushing. Each chapter should select its most energetic, enthusiastic, and responsible member as rushing chairman. Pi Kappa Alpha will grow if the members of the Fraternity continue to develop the ideals of the Fraternity.

We were fortunate in having Brothers C. E. Swanson, president; Clarence Reiersen, secretary; Walter Smith, publicity chairman; and Robert Hahnen, all of the Beta-Rho Alumnus Chapter of Minneapolis, present. Their cooperation and advice meant much in making the convention a success. The large delegation from the various active chapters was also helpful in bringing about a keen discussion of Fraternity problems and in the formation of plans for the development and improvement of the respective chapters.

The convention recommended to the National Council that immediate steps be taken to expand Pi Kappa Alpha into Canada.

It was one of our most successful conventions. The 1938 convention will be held at Madison.

Win Basket Title at Alabama

◆ PACED BY its high scoring center, Bob Wahab, the IKA basketball quint swept to the University of Alabama Interfraternity championship in defeating Sigma Phi Epsilon, 35 to 26.

The Gamma-Alpha boys played four games in their bracket and were victorious by decisive margins.

In the opening tilts, Capt. Bo Williams, Buddy Teague, Wahab and Jim Cunningham proved effective with their sparkling offensive play. Teague set the pace for individual scoring with 12 points in the second contest of the season.

Results for the play-off follow:

IKA 20	Sigma Alpha Mu	9
IKA 45	Lambda Chi Alpha	4
IKA 32	Alpha Sigma Phi	12
IKA 30	Kappa Nu	14
IKA 22	Delta Tau Delta	18
IKA 35	Sigma Phi Epsilon	26

Running a close second for scoring honors was Ralph Ford, Gamma-Alpha's free shot ace, who tallied a total of 42 points.

At the end of the season, Gamma-Alpha was presented with a solid gold loving cup with name inscribed and names of squad members. Forwards Jim Cunningham, ace floorman of intramural basketball at the Capstone, and Ralph Ford were named on the all-interfraternity team.

◆ A SPRING Mothers' Day celebration and a fall Dads' Day celebration are regular annual social functions on the Alpha-Iota chapter calendar at Millsaps, when members, actives and pledges act as hosts to their parents.

Twenty-four mothers visited the chapter at Jackson last spring and 16 fathers were present for last fall's Dads' Day.

On Saturday Mothers' Day weekend, May 8-9, the mothers met at the chapter house informally to get acquainted and that evening enjoyed a buffet supper. Sunday morning a breakfast was given by the IKA's in honor of the mothers at a downtown restaurant and then attended church in a body.

Robert McFarland, Jr., Executive Secretary, was a visitor on Mothers' Day and made a sincere talk on a mother's sacrifices for her son and the consequent obligation and responsibility on the part of a son to his mother. Kirby P. Walker, president of the local alumnus chapter Alpha-Psi, and superintendent of the Jackson Public School system, stressed the similarity between the ideals of Pi Kappa Alpha and the relationship of a son and his mother.

Plans for a mothers' club were discussed that night and officers were selected. Various projects were proposed by the mothers which were intended to provide their sons with a more comfortable chapter house and more pleasant life at college.

Alpha-Iota held its second annual Dads' day celebration Nov. 20 and 21. Realizing the great benefits of Mothers' day, the chapter decided the previous year that just as much could be gained from a social affair at which the fathers of the members were present. The program consisted of group attendance at the annual football game of Millsaps and its arch rival, Mississippi College; an informal gathering in the evening, and a stag banquet at a downtown hotel.

For the banquet William Hardy Bizzell, SMC, was toastmaster. He welcomed the dads, expressing the appreciation in general of the sons of their fathers. This was answered by A. G. Gainey, Sr., of Meridian, Miss., who emphasized the constantly increasing respect a son should have for his father.

Harvey T. Newell, Jr., alumnus adviser of Alpha-Iota, introduced Dist. Pres. Roy D. Hickman, who appealed to the fathers to cooperate with the Fraternity in dealing with men in college.

Alpha-Iota places more emphasis on its Mothers' and Dad's days than any other event of the chapter year, with the exception of Founders' day celebration.

Chandler vs. Barkley

Gov. A. B. CHANDLER of Kentucky, [K and Ω] who is more generally known as "Happy" Chandler, has had the temerity to aspire to the seat in the United States Senate held by Alben W. Barkley. Although the primary election, at which the nominee will be chosen, is still far off—Aug. 6—the Bluegrass, the Beargrass, the Pennyrite and the Purchase are already astir with excitement at what promises to be, as Arthur Evans in the Chicago Tribune puts it, "a ring-tailed, rip-snorting humdinger."

Gov. Chandler's temerity consists in laying down the gage of battle to a man whose seat, by all ordinary political standards, is secure. Barkley served in the lower house from 1913 to 1927 and now is completing his second term in the Senate. He was keynote speaker at the Democratic national conventions of 1932 and 1936, and last summer was President Roosevelt's personal choice as majority leader to succeed the late Senator Robinson of Arkansas.

Chandler is a comparative newcomer in politics. In contrast with Barkley's plodding dependability, Chandler has color, ambition and, as is demonstrated by his entrance into the senatorial race, plenty of political courage.

It is certain that Barkley will have the full support of the New Deal machine, because his defeat would be construed as a rebuke to the administration. Yet, Chandler, with a strong state organization, seems destined to make a close race of it. Chandler, disavowing opposition to the President, nevertheless has made it clearly understood that he disapproves some of the administration's major policies.

The verdict on Aug. 6 will be a highly significant one.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Payne Returns From Orient

JAPANESE WAR LORDS are being treated by the Chinese exactly as Russia dealt with Napoleon, with the added jeopardy of a restive population back home. Charles K. Payne, [E, '80], retired Charleston financier, said March 12 after his return from his latest bit of globe-trotting.

His trip to Hongkong included a trans-Pacific stretch on the China Clipper, giant flying boat, and visits in Manila, Honolulu and San Francisco. This was his fourth globe-trotting journey since 1908.

"It was hard for fellow passengers to understand that I had no special mission; that I was just going back over old ground for the fun of it," he laughed. "Outside of the closely-herded 'cruises' which whisk around in large parties such tourists as are still going, there is practically no individual traveling. Each seemed to have a mission of some sort. I was fortunate enough to be thrown with two Chinese gentlemen on my way back and they were able to throw considerable light on questions. China, I understand, is not to risk any more pitched battles but maintain guerilla tactics. They are united for the first time since the revolution that made them a republic."

Back at home some eight pounds heavier than when he left, feeling fine and sitting back at his desk in the Payne Building where he keeps a light touch on the pulse of his affairs here, Payne offers this recipe for travelers:

"Do not worry about schedules; form acquaintances with other nationals; partake of the native dishes and fruits of the regions visited, and relax in the wonderful accommodations offered in this age to the traveler."—Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette.

Dumas Works for the Kids

THOUSANDS OF SAD-FACED refugees straggled into Memphis in 1937 as the great flood swept through the Mississippi Valley. Among the throng seeking succor was tiny Betsy Louise, just a year old. Her mother had just died from exposure after high water drove the family from its home. The father had died in flood waters.

A Memphian, who plays "daddy" to thousands of Memphis children throughout each year, spreading happiness and health among them, took her into his home. Today she is Betsy Louise Dumas, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley D. Dumas [Z].

To Dumas Memphis children have looked for their part of the fun each year in the Cotton Carnival. Seven of the eight years of the life of the carnival, Dumas has served as general chairman of children's activities. But one of his chief interests, has again been crowned with success—his one-man "snake drive" for the Press-Scimitar's Cynthia Milk Fund. In the five years he has conducted the drive the money raised has purchased more than 60,000 quarts of milk for undernourished children. Every drive he starts with his own donation. All the work he does himself—most of it on Sunday.

His many duties do not take him away from his home. He's the typical "family man." There's always time for him to play with Betsy Louise, and spend the evenings at home, 1938 Peabody, with Mrs. Dumas.

Dumas is now serving as a vice president of the carnival. He is a director for Memphis Chamber of Commerce, president of Southern Cotton Shippers' Association, a director of Memphis Cotton Exchange. He serves in advisory capacity for Y. M. C. A. For the past three years he was a Community Fund director and he is a member of the Thousand Club. He was associated with Memphis College of Music, but was forced to give it up.

Born at Paris, Tenn., he took a business administration course in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and concluded his education at University of Tennessee.

His business is cotton, a business that keeps him on the jump, especially during the harvest and winter months while it is moving, but this rushing business never finds him so busy that he doesn't have the time and energy to do something for others.

A remark he made at a recent social agency meeting, when a drive for funds was being planned, probably best describes him. A goal had just been set and Dumas, who considered it much too small for the great work the agency was doing, declared: "If we're going to do the job, let's do a big job." A higher goal was fixed and reached. Dudley Dumas is like that.—"Flowers for the Living," in Memphis Press-Scimitar.

Turner Heads St. Pat's Board

THIS WEEK takes us to the Pi Kappa Alpha house to throw the spotlight upon one of the more prominent fraternal members, Burr Van Turner, senior mechanical.

Turner is a product of Gideon, in Southeast Missouri, where he graduated from high school in 1933. He entered Southeast Missouri Teachers' College, at Cape Girardeau, the following fall for one school year of instruction at that institution. He was then out of school until January, 1935, when he entered M. S. M. During his first semester here he pledged and was given membership in the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. During his next year he became a member of the student chapter of the A. S. M. E. This year finds Turner serving as treasurer of his fraternity, president of the St. Pat's Board, a member of the Blue Key Fraternity, a member of the Rollamo Board, and a member of the A. S. M. E.

Though his scholastic standing is above the average, it is not his greatest merit. The attitude, together with the sincerity of purpose and dutiful sense of responsibility, taken by Turner, in regard to the activity or work with which he is connected, makes him the type of man with whom anyone might intrust their responsibilities. This is proven by his good work in the St. Pat's Board where he has willingly accepted additional responsibilities.

Turner shows marked ability and promise of attaining more than ordinary success in his profession in an executive or sales position.—Rolla (Mo.) Miner.

Gamma-O Holds Calendar Dance

BRIDE AND GROOM for June, swimmers for August, and a little red school house for the month of September, carried out the theme of decorations for the Pi Kappa Alpha Calendar formal held Friday night from 9 till 1 at the Hotel Berry. The red and black cardboard figures, symbolic of the different months of the year, were arranged around the walls of the ballroom low enough to be carried off by the dancers at the conclusion of the dance.

Various colored crepe paper streamers served as a backdrop for Rex Koons' Orchestra which played a group of college numbers while Tim Kennedy and Jane Kimball led the dancers in the grand march. Russell Grayson and Marjorie Emrick distributed the attractive red and white silhouette programs.

The dance was in charge of a committee composed of Tim Kennedy, Russell

Sparkman Talks on Religion

"THERE IS a great challenge confronting us Christian laymen in carrying out the program laid down by Jesus Christ," Representative John J. Sparkman, [TA] Democrat, of Alabama, told 200 diners the night of April 26 at the annual banquet of the men's Bible class of Hamline Methodist Church. "I think we have allowed ourselves to grow indifferent to crime and to the things that breed crime, particularly among youth. There is a serious problem confronting the Christian church in providing youth with the opportunities it so greatly and naturally craves."

Immediately after the banquet Sparkman hurried to a train for the South. He was a lay delegate from the North Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to a general conference of the church at Birmingham, Ala., which decided on a national Methodist union.—Washington Post.

Coxe Provides Ice Drama

HOT SPRINGS, ARK. (UP)—To conduct a successful convention, take most of the speakers off the program and put in some actors. It works like a charm, say officials of the Delta States Ice Association, who tried the scheme at a convention here.

Delegates had wearied of hearing addresses on such subjects as industrial cooperation year after year and wanted something more entertaining.

So the association turned to amateur theatricals. Every one from ice carrier to executive was invited to take a part. Members wrote the lines, designed the costumes, built the scenery. Themes like industrial research, sales training and competitive problems were dramatized. It turned out to be a big hit, says Walter Coxe, [AA] secretary of the association.

"Little training is needed," he explained, "because the character does his everyday work in the plays. Two or three practices generally suffice before the curtain rolls up."—New York Times.

IIKA Wins Cash for Scholarship

SCHOLARSHIP has long been a problem to the fraternities. In order to better their scholastic averages, the fraternities last year proposed and installed certain scholastic requirements that had to be met before a fraternity could participate in any form of social activity. These requirements are based on the fraternity average in comparison with the student body average. Since the possibility of having dances and houseparties rests solely on their averages, the boys are now really working toward better grades and higher averages.

The fraternities also voted to award cash prizes of $15, $10, and $5 respectively to the fraternities with the first, second, and third highest averages. Last year the Kappa Sigma won first prize; Pi Kappa Alpha was second, and Sigma Nu placed third.—N. C. State Alumni News.

"Barbour" Family Gossip

By CARLTON E. MORSE
Author Producer of "One Man's Family"

At the moment, if you own an old barn in the vicinity of Hollywood you're in the money. That's how badly they're needing studios out here. . . . Every producer needs a high-speed car. It's nothing for a producer to sign off one show and drive like mad to his next show in a studio 10 miles away. . . . And speaking of long-distance commuting, right in our own "One Man's Family" we're setting some kind of record every week. Bernice Berwin, who plays "Hazel," has a home, a husband, and a baby in San Francisco. So every week she blithely commutes from San Francisco to Hollywood, a mere matter of 600 miles. Michael Raffetto, [AS] "Paul" of the Barbour clan, likewise makes the trip, as he is producing a weekly dramatic show in the northern city. . . . Walter Patterson, "Nicky" the light-hearted Englishman, had an auto wreck the other P. M. That's nothing exceptional, its a common affliction down here, but with him was a two months' old puppy, who should have had his supper and been abed hours ago. So "Nicky" invaded a hot-dog stand at midnight, ordered hot milk for the infant canine, wrapped him up in a laprobe where he enjoyed puppy dreams uninterrupted.

Hyde Discusses the Law

COLUMBIA, MO., April 30.—A plea for modernization of court procedure was made tonight by Laurence M. Hyde, [AN], commissioner of the Missouri Supreme Court, as he addressed a banquet which concluded Law day at the University of Missouri. Pointing to the blame placed on lawyers by laymen for "slow-motion legal procedure," Hyde said that rules of procedure are the working tools of lawyers and "our rules of practice are still frozen at the 1848 model." He explained that procedure in the United States is based on old English law, which for a time was more efficient than that of the mother country but that in 1873 England followed our example by abolishing codes but went even farther by permitting its high court to alter rules of practice. As a result the new modern English code eliminates all common law procedural technicalities, marking a great advance, while Missouri is still tied to and hampered by medieval methods, he said. Hyde said it would not be necessary to abolish the entire present code, adding "A very few changes could make a harmonious flexible system, both trial and appellate, suited to prompt dispatch of increasing judicial business."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Gen. Waller Urges Peace

BRIGADIER-GENERAL S. GARDNER WALLER, [A] '02, presided over the opening sessions of the annual convention of the National Guard Association of the United States held in Birmingham, Ala.

General Waller was one of several high ranking officers in the National Guard who spoke out in the cause of peace during this convention. "We want peace, just as every true American wants peace," he said. "While we continually prepare for war we wouldn't like the job of putting our preparations to an actual test."—U. of Virginia Alumni News.

Good Crop of Athletes at Rutgers

By Walt Holmquest, Alpha-Psi

RUTGERS — Considerable planning has been done for prep school weekend, and forces have been organized for rushing under direction of SMC Morton and Pledge Franklin Burke.

Eight men will be graduated this year. "Bill" Tranavitch, Pledge Wilfred Dorn and Pledge Frank Burke are out for spring football training and track. Tranavitch is holder of the school record for the sixteen-pound shot put, while Dorn's specialty is the sixteen-pound hammer.

Tony Savarese again "cox'es" the Rutgers varsity boat, while Morton is junior manager of varsity lacrosse.

Pledges Clarence MacNelly and Peter Lowry are on the varsity lacrosse team. MacNelly earned class numerals for freshman swimming.

Alpha-Psi's bridge team rated second place in the intramural tournament. It was managed by Tony Fama.

Koch, Evans, and Finnie and Pledge Carl Schmidt represent Alpha-Psi in intramural bowling.

Saverese soon will complete a session as commodore of the rowing club, while Holmquest will retire as president of the journalism club. Byron J. Prugh is first president of the recently organized Rutgers chapter of the American Society of Military Engineers.

Honor societies: Frank Updyke, Philo-sophian; Holmquest, Kappa Tau Alpha; Pledge Franklin Burke, Scarlet Key.

Carnegie Track Attracts 8 IIs

By Richard Olson, Beta-Sigma

CARNEGIE INSTITUTE—Track, which has been just started at Carnegie, finds many IKA's on the varsity squad: Gilroy Armour, Wayne Atwell, Don Havelish, Richard Olson, William McGuire, Roy Smith, William Statler and James Wolff.

We have won the interfraternity bowling tournament, under tutelage of William Redden. Members of the team were Wayne Atwell, Bud Dickey, Harry Brine, Jack Gilson, Richard MacQuown, Ray Loughner, Lamoine Guilfoos, Dan Beech and Redden.

The annual second district convention was held at the Beta-Sigma house in April. Those attending were: Norbert A. Boes and William E. Wilgus, Jr., of Beta-Alfa; Donald D. Saxton and Roy Light, Gamma-Sigma; Gustavus H. Crumpecker and Nicholas Gezzer, Alpha-Theta; Edson G. Armour and Ralph Ives, Beta-Sigma; Bart F. Carley, advisor of Beta-Sigma; John Lloyd, district president; John L. Packer, National Counsel.

willies and George DeCroes, track; Norman Gross, track manager.

The chapter has held several house parties, one of which was under management of the freshmen.

Visitors: Dr. F. H. Hart, Charles Campbell, Frank Andrews, Harry Grascchel, all of Alpha-Rho.

Eighth Among 52 as Scholars

Beta-Alfa

PENN STATE—In competition with the 52 fraternities, Beta-Alfa attained eighth place in scholastic rating.

Three freshmen were recently pledged but none of them will move into the house until next September. With only sixteen brothers returning in the fall we have pledged 13, above the fraternity average, giving us the largest pledge group in five years.

Norbert Boes is sports editor of La Vie, the annual, which rated last year as second best collegiate year book in the country. Dobbis is in Penn State players. Mallory is co-chairman of the senior gift committee.

Honorary societies: Phi Eta Sigma, Dixon and Goldthwait; Eta Kappa Nu, Hartely; Sigma Tau, Hartely; Phi Mu Alpha, Wilgus; Skull and Bones, Robert Smith; Blue Key, Brown, Smith, John Mallory. Wilgus and Bortz are members of the college symphony orchestra; Kline is in the Blue Band; Bortz, college choir; Boes, Glee Club.

It is probable our ambition to win a championship in intramural sports will be realized this spring after having been runners-up for the past five years.

Arrange New Social Plan

By Edward Miller, Beta-Lambda

WASHINGTON U.—In order to avoid conflicts between social functions, activities and meetings of the various campus organizations, the Student Council has adopted a plan whereby dates will be allotted for all campus functions, including fraternity and sorority affairs.

Beginning next September, students entering the school of law, must have, in order to obtain the LL. B. degree in three years of law courses, at least three years of college work. The combined A. B.

and LL. B. degree will be given. If a student wishes to enter the law school after taking but two years of college work, he will be required to complete four years in the law school for the LL. B. degree.

Samuel Evans is one of the stalwarts of the university tennis team.

Pledge Charles Ziervogel is a member of the university rifle team, which won 56 of its 67 matches. He won the Missouri State Junior Championship in 1933, scoring 395 times out of a possible 400 shots.

John Poulos, rush captain, has been elected to represent Beta-Lambda at the Los Angeles convention. Alternate delegate is William Goessling.

Leading for Sports Championship

By David L. Hill, Alpha-Iota

MILLSAPS—The chapter has added the trophy for speed ball to its collection. Having already won the cup in basketball, the chapter now leads in total points for the grand championship intramurals cup.

Tabulation of first semester grades showed Alpha-Iota to be leader of the four national fraternities. Another evidence of scholastic ability is the six student assistants, Aubrey Adams, biology; Albert L. May, Jr., chemistry; William H. Bizzell, English; Fagan Scott and John Godbold, history; and Blanton Doggett, religion.

Godbold attended three debate tournaments. Of the eight debaters attending the Louisiana State Tournament in March, four were Pi Kaps: Godbold, Richard Lord, Clyde McKee, and Albert L. May. The varsity debate coach, Paul Ramsey; the freshman debate coach, Richard Lord, and the president of the freshman debating club, David L. Hill, are members or alumni. Freshmen who have done intercollegiate debating are Roy Clark, Kenneth Holyfield and Hill.

William H. Bizzell was chosen vice-president of the Y. M. C. A. in the March elections. He attended the national "Y" conference at Oxford, O., this year and has done work at Blue Ridge, N. C.

The Chapter Eternal

E. L. McGivaren, Theta

ONLY FAIRLY launched in the task of modernizing the public library system of New Orleans, Edmund L. McGivaren, Θ, died of uremic poisoning in a hospital at Vicksburg, Miss., his family home, April 24. He was buried at Vicksburg.

He took charge of the New Orleans library in December, 1936, and at the time of his death, although only 29 years old, had become a recognized civic leader. His pay was only $4,000 a year, compared with $7,500 for his predecessor under a political system of operation, but under his direction the general pay of the staff was increased, circulation of books went up, facilities were increased, more books obtained, hours were extended and other improvements made.

Overwork contributed to his final illness. He frequently put in 16 hours a day. Last February he was stricken with pneumonia. When it appeared that he was recovering, after he had returned to his office for a time, National Treasurer Walter F. Coxie made arrangements for his trip to Vicksburg.

Born at Baton Rouge, La., McGivaren went to Vicksburg as a child. At Southwestern University, Memphis, he worked his way as a student library assistant, graduating in 1930. Fellow students in Theta knew him as "Little Mac." With a Rosenwald scholarship, he went to Emory University, Atlanta, for library training, obtaining a degree of B. S. in library science. Then he was employed for three years at Cossitt Library, a Memphis public institution, becoming head of the circulation department. His next work was as head of libraries for the southern division of the Tennessee Valley Authority, with headquarters at Sheffield, Ala. From there he went to New Orleans, after a civic movement demanded improvement of the library system there.

An editorial in the New Orleans Item, mourning his loss, said: "Despite youth, his sobriety of judgment and high competence made him a welcomed associate and adviser in many civic undertakings, while character and charm won him staunch friendships among his fellow workers and outside their circle. To set foot in the library today is immediately to realize the change that has been made there by a man who knew his job."

McGivaren was married in 1935 to Miss Nina Stamps, who had been a colleague in the Memphis library. He is survived also by a brother, Crawford McGivaren, Θ, principal of the Clarksdale (Miss.) high school; his mother and a sister.

O. P. Parker, Zeta

OLIVER PERRY PARKER, Z, '03, playwright whose works entertained many thousands of persons throughout the country, particularly at school performances, died April 24, after a long illness, at his home, 929 Roland, Memphis. He was 58 years old and had been confined to his bed for a year and a half, following an operation. Burial was in Forest Hill Cemetery, Memphis.

He was president of his class when graduated from the University of Tennessee. For some time he was in business, but in 1914 he wrote a play, The Winning of Latane. It was produced at Gibson, Tenn., his old home. He sent copies of the play to organizations and schools in nearby towns, requesting royalties if they used it. There was a good response, launching him on a career. By 1918 he was firmly established with Claim Allowed. Usually he wrote a play a year and sent it to thousands of schools and other amateur groups. Among the most popular were The Average Man, Borrowed Money, The Wren and Out of Court. His last play was Honor Wins. Up to the time of his death orders were still being received for his first play and others.

Parker started his son, James C. Parker, in the same field. He is survived also by his wife, a brother and a sister.

NEW IKA DIRECTORY

NOW READY

"I wonder who are some IKA's here?"

Hundreds of times that question has been in the minds of Pi Kappa Alphas when moving to a new home, touring the country or visiting a strange city on business! Heretofore there was no adequate answer without writing to the General Office.

But there is an answer now—the first in ten years. The 70th Anniversary Edition of "The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity Directory" gives geographically the names, chapters, colleges, degrees, class years, occupations, employers, civic and political honors and home addresses of the nearly 22,000 thousand brothers in $\phi \phi \kappa \alpha$. The membership is indexed alphabetically.

Pi Kappa Alpha's are living in every state and territory of the United States and in 41 foreign countries.

The book contains 1,424 pages, on Bible paper, durably and handsomely bound, convenient for coat-pocket. The cost is held to a minimum, $2.10 delivered.

FOR GRADUATION GIFTS

or for undergraduate use—a beautiful ring enhances the appearance of the hand—and is a pleasing way of displaying your coat of arms.

In the summer a ring is worn continually while the badge is covered or often left on other clothing.
