National Interfraternity Conference Bestows Silver Medal Upon Edward A. Pease

Edward A. Pease

Past National President Edward A. Pease (Delta Xi - Indiana '71) was presented the National Interfraternity Conference's Silver Medal in recognition of his dedication and service to the national interfraternal movement. The presentation took place at the final banquet of the NIC meeting in New Orleans on December 2, 1990.

Pease served Pi Kappa Alpha as its national president from 1988 to 1990. He currently serves on the Fraternity's Supreme Council as immediate past president. Prior to being elected national president at the Fraternity's national convention in Memphis in 1988, he had served in several national and local offices. His previous work for the Fraternity includes two terms as a national vice president; Midwest regional president; national alumni commissioner; chapter advisor at Indiana State University; and director of alumni affairs for the Fraternity's professional staff.

He has received several honors by other national fraternities and is a frequent keynote speaker at fraternity and sorority conventions, and campus and regional IFC conferences. Pease is best known for his sessions on ethics and legal liabilities. He is considered one of the most effective spokesmen on these subjects in the interfraternal community.

Professionally, Pease is the Assistant to the President at Indiana State University in Terra Haute, IN. He is also an Indiana state senator. Pease is also very active in the Boy Scouts of America where he serves in both local and national positions.

1991 SMC Conference Successful: Presents Five-Point Plan For The 90s

The 147 SMCs and twenty-nine chapter advisors present at the 1991 SMC Conference represented the most important group of leaders in Pi Kappa Alpha, the men who conduct the business of our Fraternity on college campuses across the country. It was the eighteenth consecutive year that PiKA SMCs have met in Memphis, and was the second year that chapter advisors took part in the conference.

The three-day Conference got off to a running start with a two-hour opening session on the practical responsibilities of an SMC. During the next two days conference participants took part in over fourteen hours of educational programs.

Popular campus speaker Dr. Will Keim addressed issues such as date rape and sexual responsibility, and the responsibility of leadership in the future. Dr. Keim also conducted a session for chapter advisors covering chapter advisor burn-out.

Supreme Council Vice President Dan McGehee addressed legal liabilities, National Historian Dr. Jerome V. Reel discussed the Ritual and its history, and National President Jerry Askew led an open forum with SMCs and other national officers.

Several new, important programs were introduced during the 1991 SMC Conference. Past National President Ed Pease lead a workshop dealing with the issues and obstacles facing our top chapter members as they strive to lead positive and ethical lives. This program, developed by the National Interfraternity Conference and called Challenges and Choices, promises to be an effective educational tool. Also, the Fraternity's new membership development program was presented.

In addition to attending several sessions with SMCs, chapter advisors took part in new, specialized training sessions. Topics covered during these sessions ranged from computerization, fundraising, and working with the university administration to developing and utilizing house corporations and alumni advisory boards.

The Conference concluded with a banquet and keynote address by National President Jerry Askew. Brother Askew outlined a fivepoint plan for facing today's hot issues, pointing out that:

- We must develop an appreciation for good citizenship and involve ourselves in public affairs to the betterment of society.
- We must inculcate in ourselves and our members an appreciation for cultural diversity.
- The Fraternity chapter needs to foster a sense of social responsibility.
- We must improve our academic performance.
- We need to develop the fundamental principle that one joins Pi Kappa Alpha for life.

Following the banquet, Executive Vice President Ray Orians handed Jerry Askew a check from the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation covering ninety percent of the cost of the 1991 SMC/Chapter Advisor Conference. National President Askew thanked the generous alumni whose support made this underwriting possible.

In the Service of Our Country. . .

Almost as soon as American troops began their deployment to the Persian Gulf in August 1990, Pi Kappa Alpha began receiving notice of brothers called to active duty.

Membership rosters showed man after man marked "Left School" — in the "Comment" column, many contained the cryptic, yet all explanatory remark, "Saudi".

Alumni and undergraduates alike left their occupations and studies to join their Reserve units. When the war was engaged in January, National Chaplain Simon A. Simon issued the following memorandum:

"A MEMORANDUM TO ACTIVE CHAPTERS, ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS, AGENCIES OF THE FRATERNITY, AND ALL BROTHERS OF PI KAPPA ALPHA FROM NATIONAL CHAPLAIN SIMON A. SIMON:

"While our Fraternity shares the national concern regarding the war in the Persian Gulf, we share a specific concern for our Brothers who are a part of Operation Desert Storm. To assist our National Office in gathering the names of Brothers who are serving in the war, please send the names of any Pike servicemen to the National Headquarters as soon as possible. These

"Gracious God, in the midst of the war that is raging in the Persian Gulf, we remember our Brother(s) of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and ask your blessing on them and all our service personnel. May our Brothers know that we are remembering them; and may they be sustained and encouraged by the bonds of our beloved Fraternity. We pray for their safety; and we pray for peace. In Thy Great Name. Amen."

Names of Pi Kappa Alphas in active service continued to come in to the National Headquarters daily.

On February 28, 1991, victory was declared by the Allied forces. With great relief and thanksgiving, we pray for the speedy return of all Pi Kappa Alpha's brothers, and thank them for their patriotic service.

Garnet & Gold Returns To The Nation's Capital

Above: The five members of the original recolonization interest group celebrate at the Installation Banquet. From left: Scott Behrens, David Chesnick, Greg Riddle, Rich Jones, and Howard Opinsky. elta Alpha Colony at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. became a chapter once again on December 8, 1990, after going silent twenty-five years previously in 1965.

Sixty-five of the finest scholars, leaders, athletes and gentlemen at GW were initiated by brothers from Iota Zeta Chapter (Randolph-Macon), Delta Psi Chapter (University of Maryland), Omicron Chapter (University of Richmond), Delta Iota Chapter (Marshall University), and Theta Chapter (Rhodes College).

Following initiations and the Installation ceremony, a banquet was held at the Vista Hotel in Washington, where National President Jerry W. Askew gave the keynote address. Other honored guests included Past National President William N. LaForge, National Vice President F. Anderson Morse, Founders Regional President Russell Alexander, Washington D.C. Area Alumni Association President Joe Pavelka, Director of Expansion

Rick Stonerook, Chapter Consultant Kip Coombs, and Delta Alpha Colony Advisor Woody Bentley.

This banquet culminated nineteen months of hard work that molded Delta Alpha Colony into the strongest fraternity at George Washington.

THE UNIVERSITY

George Washington University began in 1821 as The Columbian College in the District of Columbia. The name of the institution was changed in 1873 to Columbian University, and in 1904 to The George Washington University. George Washington, as President and as a private citizen, had urgently insisted upon the establishment of a national university in the federal city. There, he hoped, students from all parts of the nation would acquire the habits of good citizenship.

Located in the heart of Washington, D.C., George Washington University is only blocks away from the White House.

RECOLONIZATION

With the early help of National staff members Todd Allard and Rick Strub, Delta Alpha Colony gained strength quickly on the GW campus. The group claimed some of the university's best athletes, the highest GPA, the most gentlemanly conduct, and the most student leaders, including the Student Government president. When Allard and Strub left the campus in March 1989, the colony had grown from five to twenty-five men, and now stands at sixty-five.

On October 19-21, 1990, Delta Alpha hosted the Founders Regional Leadership Conference, thus becoming the first colony to host such a conference. Now installed, the chapter has its eye on the Interfraternity Cup for intramural athletics.

DELTA ALPHA REVISITED

The new Delta Alpha is the legacy of a once-vibrant chapter that existed at George Washington from 1941 to 1965. Although the chapter went silent, many of its members are still very involved with Delta Alpha. The new brothers would like to voice their gratitude to William W. Lynch ('47), William C. Lynch ('47), James R. Reisch ('47), Ed Rutsch ('56), Jack Dwyer ('47), Fred Stevenson ('41), Harry Andrews ('46), Jay Fitzgerald ('45), Reis Pond ('47), Francis J. Trainor ('41), and Dr. Allan Hall ('47). These gentlemen were very helpful to the recolonization effort.

On February 22, 1991, Delta Alpha will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the chapter's original chartering, a fitting occasion for celebration as the brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha look forward to another fifty years in the nation's capital.

CHAPTER NOTES

Chapters Move Forward in Scholarship, Alumni Relations

BETA CHAPTER Davidson College

Beta Chapter received a Chapter excellence award last Spring. The Chapter also won Spring 1990 Greek Week by pulling together and beating Sigma Phi Epsilon in the final event, ultimate frisbee. In a more serious mood, Beta introduced a monitoring policy to the fraternity court parties which continues to be successful. The system requires two brothers to make the choice not to drink, and to remain watchful in event of any emergencies. Monitors are at every party, and other fraternities on the Davidson campus have adopted the practice.

Beta's leadership on campus includes SMC Derick Willard, battalion commander of R.O.T.C.; ThC John Nix, president of the Patterson Court Council; and John Wheelis, IMAC president.

A haunted house held last October raised money for the local YMCA.

EPSILON CHAPTER Virginia Tech

Virginia Tech is a large university, with a Greek population estimated at 15% of the student body. At the moment, there are thirty-four fraternities and fourteen sororities. It's easy for any one organization to get lost in the shuffle, but Epsilon Chapter has managed to stand head and shoulders above the crowd.

The Chapter lead the campus and the Virginia Tech Greek system into a new era of alcohol-free partying with Pikefest 1990, an all day cook-out. A local radio station broadcast live from the Chapter house, and volleyball and horseshoe tournaments highlighted the festivities.

On October 7, 1990, Pikes teamed up with Zeta Tau Alpha sorority to compete in Delta Delta Delta's fifth annual Greek Decathlon. They defeated all comers, earning $100 for charity.

Also during October, the John N. Crute pledge class placed third out of twenty-five fraternities in Delta Zeta's fourth annual Fratman's Classic.

Chapter MS Beau Yarbrough is carrying on a family tradition begun when his father was MS for Alpha Delta Chapter at Georgia Tech in the early 60s. He is a broadcast communications major, minoring in creative writing, who helped found the first Greek newspaper at Virginia Tech last year.

П

PI CHAPTER Washington & Lee

Pi Chapter is proud to announce that through the diligent efforts of its scholarship committee and members, the Chapter has achieved the academic rank of first place on the Washington & Lee campus. The Chapter also had a strong showing in intramural competition, particularly in soccer and tennis, where the brothers reached the championship. The members of Pi Chapter have also been active in community service projects, including the popular Adopt-A-Highway; Witch Hunt, in which the brothers helped the children of Lexington at trick or treating; and Project Noel, in which the Chapter provided homeless families with food and clothing for Christmas.

UPSILON CHAPTER Auburn University

Pikes are well represented on the Interfraternity Council at Auburn by SMC Scott Hutchison, who was elected to chair the Risk Management Committee, as well as Brothers Rob Vann and Tommy Arthur, who hold key positions on the committees for scholarship and sports, respectively.

The Phi Eta Sigma Freshman Honor Society initiated John Garlinghouse, Joe Jowers, and Aaron Rissler into its ranks. Brother Bradley Burns was selected as a member of the Auburn University Freshman Forum, and Brother Mark Moore was elected president of Eta Mu Sigma Aerospace Honorary. Brothers Nicky Little and David Pritchett are in Order of Omega, and David is also in Scabbard and Blade national military honorary.

Chapter SC Dwight Witherspoon holds a position as a staff writer and photographer on The Auburn Plainsman, and Brother Marc Buffington pilots his own radio show on WEGL, Auburn's student operated radio station. Fall 1990 also found Upsilon Pikes in various other campus activities, including Auburn's nationally respected football team. Pike Brother Matt Land is a junior defensive back and wears number 38 for the Tigers.

At Auburn, fraternities are required to provide designated drivers at all parties. Brother Russell Dudley showed innovation with the idea of using beepers, so the drivers can be reached anytime and anywhere. This has greatly improved the designated driver program.

O

OMEGA CHAPTER University of Kentucky

The brothers of Omega Chapter experienced one of their most successful years in 1990. The brothers won the intramural championship in athletics, and placed first in softball, track and frisbee; second in volleyball and basketball, and in the top four in all other sports.

In community service, the Pikes offered a Halloween Haunted House in conjunction with the Jaycees. The project logged 800 man-hours and earned $600 for charity. This effort, along with other projects, gave the Omega brothers a total of 1500 man-hours and $4,000 donated to various philanthropies over the course of the year.

Thirty new brothers were initiated in January, bringing membership to a campus high of 113. The Chapter's overall GPA increased to 2.7 on a 4.0 scale.

Finally, the brothers of Omega Chapter invite their alumnus brothers to keep in touch. The address is 459 Huguelet Drive, Lexington, KY 40508.

AΓ

ALPHA GAMMA CHAPTER Louisiana State University

The brothers of Alpha Gamma Chapter are working to make Spring 1991 as rewarding as last semester. The Fall marked a series of successes for the Chapter that helped it attain strong recognition on campus. For the third consecutive year, the brothers claimed first place in the Homecoming decorations competition. They followed the victory with a reception for alumni and their families which included a meal prepared by the Alpha Gamma Parents' Club, and music provided by a band.

During Substance Abuse Awareness Week, the Chapter won the banner contest in the fraternity division. The brothers also did very well in interfraternity athletic competition, winning first place in swimming and volleyball, and second place in soccer.

Fall 1990 saw Alpha Gamma maintaining its Adopt-A-Highway program, and participating in the Big Buddy basketball program. One of the teams, coached by SMC Tommy Smith, won first place in its division.

Plans for the addition of a deck to the Chapter house were made last Fall, with construction following in Spring 1991. The deck was made possible through alumni and parent contributions.

AO

ALPHA OMICRON CHAPTER

Southwestern University

The brothers of Alpha Omicron are proud of their Smythe Award winning Chapter, which also brought home Pi Kappa Alpha's National Scholarship Award last year. Not surprisingly, six of the University's finest upperclassmen chose to pledge Pi Kappa Alpha last Fall.

The Second Annual Cerebral Palsy Kickball Tournament was a success for the Chapter; $500 was donated to the cause. The brothers also helped a local charity, The Caring Place, relocate its offices.

Once again, Homecoming was a time of joy and celebration. Alpha Omicron took first place in the parade for the eighth straight year, and retained victory in the Sing competition for the seventh year. The Chapter is also proud of Southwestern basketball team member, Brother Shannon Taylor.

Finally, Alpha Omicron would like to send happy birthday wishes to charter member Robert Hardaway, who was 100 year old on September 1, 1990.

$A\Omega$

ALPHA OMEGA CHAPTER Kansas State University

Community service was a top priority for the men of Alpha Omega Chapter last Fall. The brothers compiled over 2,500 man hours and won such philanthropical events as the Gamma Phi Beta Spiketacular Volleyball tournament, the Chi Omega Pledge Games, and Alpha Chi Omega Greek Playboy.

A strong rush netted the second largest pledge class on campus last Fall, and intramurals continued victorious. The house flag football teams compiled a combined record of 18-3, and the 1990 Intramural Wrestling Meet found four Pikes claiming gold and taking second place all-around. The 1990 Men's Tennis Title remained in Pike hands for the second consecutive year.

BK

BETA KAPPA CHAPTER

Emory University

Beta Kappa Chapter closed out the Fall semester of 1990 with mixed emotions. The chapter had an excellent semester which saw the addition of a new sun deck. a successful semi-formal, and the championship title in intramural softball. However, the brothers were saddened by the death of Brother Richard Davis, a 1988 initiate, on November 10, 1990. Brother Davis withdrew from the University after being diagnosed with leukemia. He would have been a senior this year. On November 19, a memorial service was held by the Chapter for this outstanding Pike who battled his illness for ten months. In his honor, Beta Kappa began the Rich Davis Memorial Award, to be given annually to the brother who contributes the most to the Chapter's community service efforts. Senior Ken Smondrowski summed up all the brothers' feelings by saying, "Rich was a great person and I feel very privileged to have known him. He had an impact on everyone he knew."

BZ

BETA ZETA CHAPTER Southern Methodist University

Beta Zeta Chapter had a very successful fall rush, followed by the ribbon cutting ceremony for its magnificent new house. The Chapter would like to thank all of those brothers, both active and alumni, who dedicated time, money, services and effort toward helping to realize a seven-year dream. The ribbon cutting ceremony coincided with Homecoming celebrations on November 3, 1990.

The chapter house officially opened its doors in January 1991. Built at a cost of $1.6 million, the facility is the result of the combined efforts of Beta Zeta Chapter and the University. The 16,000 square foot, Georgian style home sleeps 34 men in 17 suites with connecting baths. Each bedroom is equipped with built-in cabinets, walk-in closets, and is pre-wired for access to the University's computer system. The downstairs common area consists of a formal entry hall and gallery, formal living room, formal dining room, commercial kitchen, recreation room and a housemother's apartment. The upstairs area consists of sleeping quarters, a chapter room, a chapter office, and a fully equipped utility room.

As the exterior of the home is traditional in style, so is the interior. The architect emphasized the traditional theme throughout the downstairs area by using picture frame paneling, heavy custom moldings and arched doorways to connect the formal rooms. Accordingly, the interior designer selected traditional furnishings and gave special attention to incorporating the "Pike" theme in each room. The focal point of the living room is an 8x8 foot, custom hand-made tapestry of the Fraternity coat-of-arms. In addition, a 42-inch black granite disk with a gold leaf crest hangs over the front entrance. Although most design plans have been completed, a few additions remain for the near future, including a grand piano for the living room and a shuffleboard table for the recreation room.

Prior to opening the new home this past January, Beta Zeta had been in its old chapter house for over forty years. The condition of the old home was beginning to have serious negative effects on the chapter's rush efforts. The new facility has been a long awaited and deserved upgrade for the chapter and has already proven its invaluable worth - formal rush produced one of the largest pledge classes on campus. The brothers of Beta Zeta extend an open invitation to all Pikes to stop by and visit their new home.

In other activities, Beta Zeta's annual Shrimpfest raised in excess of $500 for the Bethlehem Children's Medical Center.

BΘ

BETA THETA CHAPTER Cornell University

Beta Theta Chapter salutes Brother Mark Seneker on being named co-captain of the 1991 Cornell baseball team. Mark is a senior government major and plays third base for the Big Red.

Brothers volunteered their time last November to raise over $100,000 for the Cornell University Fund Phone-a-thon, the highest amount raised by any Greek organization on campus.

The Chapter would like to recognize Cornell Fund Chairpersons and Pike Brothers Dan Rothberg and Doug Kaiden, who have helped raise over $1 million since September 1990.

BO

BETA OMICRON CHAPTER University of Oklahoma

Beta Omicron Chapter takes scholastic success seriously. Microbiology major Robert Murphy achieved the highest grades in the house with a steady 4.0 GPA. The Chapter also seeks out scholars: new initiate Mike Kerr was recognized as placing in the top 10% of high school seniors in the state of Oklahoma, and Timothy Sayon, another new initiate, received an award of excellence scholarship for his outstanding performance in high school.

The Chapter is also active in community service. During October 1990, Beta Omicron teamed up with Gamma Chi and Kappa Kappa Gamma sororities in pushing a wheelchair seventeen miles for the benefit of the United Cerebral Palsy Foundation.

ГМ

GAMMA MU CHAPTER University of New Hampshire

During the Fall 1990 semester, Gamma Mu Chapter reopened its house, which had been closed during the previous year. $100,000 worth of work had been done to the structure, including a state-ofthe-art sprinkler system.

Fall also saw Gamma Mu take the largest pledge class on the UNH campus, nearly doubling the chapter's size. The Chapter also earned titles in men's major football and soccer leagues, and won the men/women football title with Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. Gamma Mu also organized its first "Annual Pike Fat Tire Classic": a mountain bike race for the benefit of SHARPP, a drug and alcohol awareness program at the University.

Pi Kappa Alpha is the first fraternity at UNH to successfully implement a live-in advisor at the chapter house. All houses at UNH must have such an advisor. The brothers are also pleased with the reorganization of the Gamma Mu Alumni Association. Alumni President William Zimmerman ('53) worked closely with the chapter to hold the most successful Homecoming event in years.

GAMMA OMEGA CHAPTER University of Miami

Gamma Omega Chapter pledged three of Miami's top athletes last Fall: divers Dean Panaro and Brian Ramos, and tennis player Hugh Quinn. All three were initiated in January. The brotherhood also claims Chris Anderson, the Hurricane's starting shortstop.

Over the holiday break, major renovations were completed on the Gamma Omega Chapter house in preparation for the 1991 Sunshine Regional Leadership Conference, held in Miami in February. Improvements included the installation of a kitchen and a barbecue pit, and the repainting of the house and pool.

Scholastically, Gamma Omega made strides last Fall as the brothers moved up five places in rank amongst UM fraternities.

DELTA ALPHA CHAPTER George Washington University

Delta Alphas proudly boast the election of one of their own to the highest office in the student association: president of the University. Brother Frank Petramale, recently elected to that office, previously served Delta Alpha as campus activities chairman. Pikes also hold the offices of chief of staff, vice president of academic affairs, director of athletics, director of student advocate service, and director of funding. Additionally, Brother Gary Frank was elected senator of the School of Government and Business Administration. (See page 5 for the story of Delta Alpha's rechartering.)

DELTA IOTA CHAPTER Marshall University

The brothers of Delta Iota extended twenty-four formal bids in Fall Rush 1990, gaining the largest pledge class on campus.

The Chapter held a Memorial Service on November 14, 1990 to honor and remember brothers who lost their lives in a plane crash on November 14, 1970. They were Lionel Theodore Shoebridge, James Michael Adams, Pat Jay Norrell, and Michael Francis Blake. James Robert Patterson, a pledge of Delta Iota, also died in that crash. They were all part of the Marshall University football team. This year, Brother Shoebridge was inducted into Marshall University's Football Hall of Fame.

DELTA NU CHAPTER

Wayne State University

The brothers of Delta Nu Chapter had a terrific Fall semester. Not only did they win the intramural championship in flag football, soccer and basketball, but they also claimed the largest pledge class on the Wayne State campus. Delta Nu is also justifiably proud of its philanthropic work. The brothers have participated in the Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon, The Detroit Free Press Marathon, and are the sole sponsors of the Wayne State University Saudi Relief Program.

DELTA XI CHAPTER

Indiana University

The brothers of Delta Xi Chapter finished the 1990 Fall semester in fourth place for most philanthropy man-hours, out of a field of thirty-three fraternities. The Chapter is also working hard to revise and further develop strong pledge education and alumni programs. The brothers held a leadership/planning retreat for the committee chairmen, made strategic plans and set goals for the coming semester.

The Chapter would also like to offer its prayers for Brother Todd E. Schultheis, and all others serving in the Persian Gulf.

EPSILON PSI CHAPTER Western Michigan University

Epsilon Psi Chapter continues to dominate the IFC on the Western Michigan campus, with Beta Zeta Chapter opened it's new $1.6 million chapter house in January 1991.

Brothers Chuck Rudnick, Chris Cahill and Kevin Thompson elected vice president, treasurer. and recording secretary.

Elsewhere on campus, SMC Steve Bishop was initiated into the Order of Omega. The Pike soccer team continued to excel, winning its second consecutive outdoor championship. The brothers have also made strides in community service; under the direction of Brother John Bartelt, the chapter was able to raise $3,173 and contribute 1,369 man-hours to local charities.

Epsilon Psi alumni have formed an alumni association, and anyone interested in joining is invited to contact Steve Miller at 1510 West Main, Apt. 1, Kalamazoo, MI 49007, or phone (616) 342-2503.

Zeta Alpha "B" Chapter had an outstanding fall semester. The brothers took third place in Greek Week, and held an alumni weekend in October which featured an alumni-actives hockey game. On Halloween, they hosted children on the waiting list with Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Flint to a Pumpkin Fun Day at the Pike

Sixteen young men were pledged this fall, and the pledge education program is building another strong class of brothers. This year the chapter instituted an academic big brother program for the pledges.

Pike intramural teams placed first and second in intramural floor hockey, and the basketball team made the semi-finals.

Zeta Alpha "B" congratulates all of their Senior IIIs on their graduation, and hopes that alumni will attend this Spring's Formal Alumni Weekend on May 11-12, 1991. More details will appear in the chapter's Pike Line. Anyone not receiving Pike Line is invited to call the house when Zeta Alpha "B" returns to school in April at (313) 732-4830.

ZETA TAU CHAPTER Eastern Kentucky University

Zeta Tau Chapter raced ahead academically during the past year: in Spring 1990 the chapter ranked twelfth out of fourteen fraternities on campus, but Spring 1991 finds them in second place. The Fall 1990 pledge class took first place honors with a total GPA of 2.72.

The Chapter is also proud of having achieved a zero balance with the Fraternity's General Fund; the brothers have also gained sufficient chapter membership to be dropped from probation for existing below minimum chapter

With such improvements under their belts, the brothers have turned their attention to improving alumni relations. Their first annual Zeta Tau Founding Fathers/ Alumni Barbecue will be held on Saturday, April 13, 1991 at Ft. Boonesboro State Park. Alumni interested in attending are invited to contact the chapter alumni chairman at (606) 622-4091, or the SMC at (606) 622-4088. The chapter is also soliciting information on "lost" alumni.

Finally, Zeta Tau congratulates Brothers Dave Hawes, Kevin Hattery, and Kent Hattery on their success as part of Eastern Kentucky University's Ohio Valley

ETA NU CHAPTER Northern Illinois University

The brothers of Eta Nu Chapter are enthusiastic about their alumni association. Thanks to the combined efforts last Spring of Brother David Montee, and Alumni Association President Dave Hochberg ('85), Founders Day 1990 and Alumni Tugs were both very successful. Also on Founders Day, awards were given to Rob Martin, Brother of the Year; Dave Hochberg, Alumnus of the Year; and Sean Tracey ('85), Senior of the Year. Dr. Elliott Lessen was presented with an award for Outstanding Service and Dedication to the Chapter.

Alumni Tugs, held April 7, 1990, included a golf outing at River Heights. Alumni made a strong showing as the day continued with a barbecue and the traditional Alumni Tug.

Another highlight of Spring 1990 was the April 11th visit by (then) National President Edward A. Pease, who spoke to over 1,000 students on litigation and legal liabilities as part of the IFC's Greek lecture series, which was organized by Eta Nu SMC and IFC President Rob Martin.

THETA BETA CHAPTER University of Montevallo

Theta Beta Chapter began the Spring 1991 semester by initiating twelve men. Sixteen more were pledged through an excellent rush coordinated by Rush Chairman Todd Romanowski.

The brothers have been very involved on campus. This semester, the IFC offices of president, vice president, and secretary were held by Pikes. Twelve brothers also hold office in the Student Government Association, including three in the Executive Cabinet.

ΘФ

THETA PHI CHAPTER Wichita State University

Theta Phi Chapter has come alive this year. Fifteen quality men were pledged this Fall as the Chapter implemented an updated and improved pledge education program.

Community service is a constant: several actives spent the summer coaching little league Tball. Theta Phi sponsored the "Little Pikes" team and supplied them with T-shirts. The fifth annual July 4th bash was also a big success last summer, raising $500 for Big Brothers and Sisters.

The Chapter took third place overall in Homecoming this Fall, and the brothers are working on the improvement of their financial affairs with a strict 30/60/90 payment plan, implemented for the first time this year.

Little Leaguers wore T-shirts provided by their coaches from Theta Phi Chapter last summer.

IOTA DELTA CHAPTER

Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology

Iota Delta Chapter is very proud to announce that Chapter Advisor Bill Carls was named Chapter Advisor of the Year at the Midwest Regional Leadership Conference. Brother Carls is a Special Dispensation Initiate of Theta Omicron Chapter, and is in his fourth year of advising Iota Delta Chapter.

Iota Delta is also proud to be the first recipient of the Edward A.

Pease Award, named for Pi Kappa Alpha's past national president, which was awarded at the Conference. The award is presented to the chapter showing the strongest campus involvement in the region. Also, Iota Delta is the only fraternity on the Rose-Hulman campus to maintain a cumulative GPA above the allmen's average.

On January 19, 1991, Iota Delta initiated its Lambda pledge class, and also Special Dispensation Initiate Dr. Mark D. Ball. Brother Ball is in his first year as an associate professor of chemistry at Rose-Hulman.

Elections were held on December 4, 1990 for the Chapter's officers: Ryan Hawk, SMC; Greg Hall, External IMC; Ned Zimmer, Internal IMC; Sean Chambers, SC; Mike Liemohn, ThC; and James Purciful, Assistant ThC. The Associate Educator is Andrew Tanner, and Rush Chairmen are Gray Robbins and Chris Kilander.

To benefit United Cerebral Palsy, Iota Delta is raffling off food prizes donated by local restaurants. Also as a community service, the PiKA brass ensemble played at local malls and several retirement homes in the Terre Haute, Indiana area.

For even more good news about PiKA's chapters, see Community Service Accolades on page 16.

G.M.I. Engineering & Management Institute

A Unique School for Specialized Studies

It would be safe to assume that many brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha are not familiar with the two Zeta Alpha Chapters at G.M.I., or with the school itself.

G.M.I. Engineering & Management Institute has gone through many changes since its beginning in 1919. The early trade school was started by the Industrial Fellowship League and the Flint, Michigan YMCA. As the curriculum became more advanced, industrial engineering courses were added. These courses developed into a four-year cooperative engineering program where periods of school instruction and full-time work alternated.

The successful program drew a closer look from the already involved General Motors Corporation. In 1926, G.M. announced it would manage the school and extend its services where needed. The school's name formally became General Motors Institute of Technology. What was once a single building grew into today's 45-acre campus.

After 56 years of operating as a General Motors subsidiary, the school went solo when G.M. cut the ownership ties. On July 1, 1982, the newly independent college became G.M.I. Engineering & Management Institute.

Today, the Institute offers a five-year cooperative plan that alternates 12-week semesters of academic study on campus with 12-week semesters of work experience at sponsoring companies. These sponsors include a variety of corporations, such as General Motors, United Parcel Service, Rockwell, Mazda, NASA, Dow Chemical and many others.

The alternating semesters create two student bodies: one is on campus while the other is at work. The result is two independent Pi Kappa Alpha Chapters. The same course is followed by nineteen other fraternities and sororities on campus. Both Pi Kappa Alpha Chapter, Zeta Alpha "A" and Zeta Alpha "B", started in 1963. Both share the chapter house three miles off campus. and both are very involved in the school and community.

Zeta Alpha "A" is proud to announce the induction of sixteen young men following 1990 rush.

Dr. William L. Sims: This Guy's No Square Tomato.

by William N. LaForge (Zeta Beta '69)

Anticipation! The classic Carly Simon tune by the same name whines from the TV speaker as the commercial portrays a brand of tomato catsup flowing slowly from a bottle. Without a clue, the consumer of this product may be benefiting from a clever development in plant genetics that, in large measure, can be chalked up to the research efforts of Dr. William L. Sims of Davis, California.

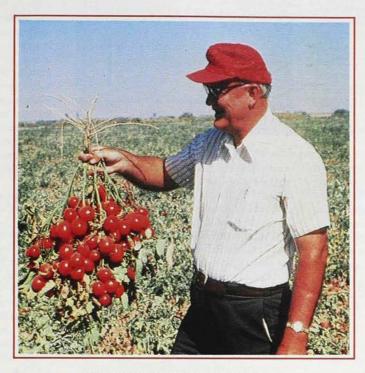

If you want to stump your friends in your next trivia exchange, ask them who invented the "square tomato". You're now equipped with the answer to that question, and if you read on, you'll be treated to some insights into a fascinating life.

Anticipation is also the watchword in a conversation with Bill Sims, for the stories that emanate from his professional career and his service to Pi Kappa Alpha only serve to make one more curious about this outstanding brother.

In the world of horticulture, higher education and scientific research, Bill Sims is highly regarded for his expertise in vegetable crops, a field in which he engaged in research and development that led to his "invention" of the "square tomato". The majority of his career has been spent at the University of California at Davis, where he has served as Vegetable Crops Specialist in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Extension Service and as a lecturer in the University's Department of Vegetable Crops. Now emeritus at the university, he is an international agricultural consultant.

A native of Arkansas, Brother Sims attended Arkansas State Teachers College (now Arkansas State University) and the University of Arkansas before transferring to the University of Wisconsin, where he earned his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees. He is a fellow of both the American Society for Horticultural Science and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and he was a Senior Fulbright Research Scholar to New Zealand in 1974-75. This past September, he was awarded the prestigious Honor Award by the 23rd International Horticulture Congress at its meeting in Florence, Italy. As one of only two recipients worldwide, Bill was saluted for his personal scientific contributions and his "untiring and devoted efforts" to international horticulture.

Bill is very active in church and civic affairs. He is past president of the Davis Rotary Club, past chairman of the Yolo District Scouting, and an Elder in the Presbyterian Church. He was honored by Rotary International by being selected as a Paul Harris Rotary Fellow. Bill and his wife, Jewel, have two sons, William and John, a daughter, Julie, and five grandchildren.

In the world of Pi Kappa Alpha, Brother Sims has made an art of having the Fraternity's best job: chapter advisor. We often brag about our unsung heroes who do so much to assist our chapters. Bill Sims is a case study for the books. He has been an exemplary advisor for Theta Omega Chapter at the University of California at Davis, and has drawn from a rich undergraduate experience at two different chapters. His calm, effective approach to mentoring his chapter and his principled leadership have made him a favorite with all those who have been fortunate to be associated with him. As a tribute to their advisor, the men of Theta Omega Chapter named their highest scholastic achievement award for him.

When the Fraternity decided to expand to Davis in 1984, Brother Sims was there to help guide the local colony through its developmental stages. It was my good fortune as National President to install that chapter in 1985, and by the time I met Bill Sims, he was already a well-established legend. The anticipation of our meeting was well worth the wait, for his record of career accomplishments and service to Pi Kappa Alpha can only serve as an example for the rest of us. He is "congeniality" based upon character".

Recently, I was able to track Brother Sims down between his world travels to ask his impressions about his career and his service to his Fraternity.

Q. Bill, what do you remember most about your PiKA undergraduate experience?

A. It was the end of World War II, and I was entering the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville after almost three years in radar counter measure with the Army Air Corps. The close friendships established during that time on a B-29 bomber were very meaningful to me, and I felt a real need to establish similar relationships upon entering a university environment. During rush at several fraternities, I sensed a closer friendship at the Pike house, and I felt their values were more in line with my own. Consequently, I pledged Pi Kappa Alpha during the Fall of 1946, and was initiated in the Spring of 1947.

Truly strong friendship bonds were established during my pledgeship. However, I did feel strongly that the harrassment (you might even call it hazing) we received as pledges from some, but not all, of the members was a bit harsh and uncalled for. Perhaps being a war veteran made it more difficult to understand the necessity of this behavior coming from much younger men. As a result of this experience, I vowed that when I became a member, I would work within the Fraternity to eliminate hazing in any chapter with which

I became involved. In 1948, my career goals led me to transfer to the University of Wisconsin in Madison. The Pike chapter there went silent during the War and had not been reorganized. Our National office asked me to work with several Beta Xi alumni there to bring the chapter back on campus. We were successful that year, and I became SMC of the reorganized chapter. This was a wonderful experience for me to bring into focus some of my own ideas to a group of thirty-one new pledges and several older members who were transfers. Several of these former pledges are today very active alumni of Beta Xi Chapter.

Q. Were there any special lessons you learned from your undergraduate years?

- A. The benefits gained from being a member of the Fraternity are directly proportional to what you are willing to contribute to the Fraternity in leadership and activity. Undergraduate friendships and loyalties are long lasting within our fraternal bonds. Pledgeship training is important in the teaching of values and ethics in our chapters, and reminders are necessary throughout membership. Brothers should be gentlemen and should treat others with respect. Scholarship should be a major goal of the Fraternity.
- Q. You have had the unique opportunity to view the Fraternity at very different times and from very different perspectives and locations. How has it changed in your view? What direction would you like to see it take in the years ahead as we attempt to meet new challenges?
- A. True, I have had the opportunity to view the Fraternity at different times and locations. I was initiated into Alpha Zeta Chapter at the University of Arkansas in 1947. I assisted in reorganizing Beta Xi Chapter at the University of Wisconsin and served there from 1948-51 as an officer and chapter advisor during undergraduate and graduate school. Then in 1984, while on the faculty at the University of California at Davis, I was privileged to assist in the colonization of Theta Omega Chapter. Thus, I have been involved in three chapters in three different regions of the nation over a period covering 43 years.

Indeed, I feel myself most fortunate to have had this opportunity and privilege. I continue to gain from these experiences. I must admit that I have had to make some adjustments in the process. But, I feel I have never sacrificed principles, ethics or goals of the Fraternity or myself. These cannot and must not be compromised if our glorious Fraternity is to survive in the future.

It is obvious that certain values do seem to change with time and over the various regions in our country. Some changes I have been able to accept and others I cannot. For example, I feel that the behavior toward women has degenerated, and I feel that more respect and consideration of their feelings are appropriate. We should continue to act as gentlemen. Drinking can be a problem, and we must learn to handle it properly in social conditions. We need to take risk management more seriously and be responsible for our own actions as well as those of others.

We should also be on guard against alcohol abuse, drugs, and hazing. Party experiences must be controlled and as former National President, Ed Pease, said, "Let's focus more on principles of friendship, academics and athletics." Pi Kappa Alpha is number one. Let's keep it that way.

- Q. To what do you attribute your success and respect as a chapter advisor?
- A. I try to act as a good role model, set high ethical standards as a gentleman and a brother in the bonds, and show friendship, loyalty and sincerity in dealing with the interests and needs of all members and pledges. Understanding and sympathy are essential.
- Q If you could direct some "pearls of wisdom" to all undergraduate members of PiKA, what would they be?
- A. Show good judgment and be responsible for all your actions. Be faithful and loyal in attending meetings and other activities. Volunteer for committee assignments and officer positions according to your ability and potential. Do things when asked by your officers. You will get out of the Fraternity no more than what you put into the Fraternity. Follow the golden rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."
- Q Of what career accomplishment or achievement are you most proud?
- A. I would have to say it has been the leadership roles that I have played in university, community, professional society, and international affairs. I have had the honor and privilege to serve as president of the American Society for Horticultural Science, president of the Western Region of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, and, more recently, president of the International Horticultural Congress which met in 1986, with 5,000 scientists from seventy-seven countries presenting 1,700 research papers and participating in thirty-four symposia over a ten-day period. This was quite an organizational feat. I am also proud of having been elected a Fellow in my professional societies and a Paul Harris Rotary Fellow.

I have been fortunate in that my achievements have been recognized by the scientific and professional organizations in identifying and assisting with the solving of cultural problems with major vegetable crops in California during a period of rapid transition to mechanization. I personally conducted research in cultivar evaluation of the "square" tomato, as well as early pioneer work with the growth regulator, ethephon, for ripening tomatoes - processes which played a major role in moving the tomato processing industry in California from hand harvest to complete mechanization in a relatively short period of time. Tomato production in California now constitutes some 90 percent of the U.S. supply and 50 percent of world production.

- Q What are your reflections on your experience with university life?
- A. University life has been good for me with a great deal of enjoyment and satisfaction. It has given me freedom to do my work and make decisions, and it has provided me the opportunity to raise my family in a wholesome and cultural environment. These opportunities continue in my retirement.
- Q As a consultant doing work in the Third World, what do you see as the world's most pressing problems and most difficult "hot spots".
- A. Poverty, hunger and lack of human rights certainly are the most pressing problems in the Third World countries today. Inflation is a real problem in several South American countries such as Brazil and Argentina. In many countries, the inability to secure hard currency for trade is troublesome. And now in the Eastern European socialist countries, there is a struggle for freedom and survival. These countries are in desperate need of assistance in solving problems of unemployment, housing and bankruptcy. On a recent trip to Russia, I saw many elderly people and children rummaging through garbage cans at local markets and on the streets, searching for food to survive. Many persons in Egypt and other African countries are also in need of basic necessities, such as food, clothing and shelter.
- Q. After such a distinguished career, what advice would you have for those aspiring to a career as a researcher or a scientist?
- A. My advice is to get the best education you can in the particular discipline you choose, be motivated and work hard to achieve your goals, and be willing to make sacrifices along the way. At the same time, enjoy your work and be considerate and helpful to your associates.

100 Years of Shield & Diamond

his issue of the Shield & Diamond represents the first issue of the magazine's second one

Twenty-three years after PiKA's founding, Fraternity leaders saw the need for a regular national publication to help communicate with members and chapters. Thus, the Shield & Diamond was born.

It started out as the Pi Kappa Alpha Journal in 1890, and after a few issues the name was changed to the Shield & Diamond.

The name utilizes two of the Fraternity's most prominent symbols.

THE BEGINNING

In the early years of the Fraternity's history the need for communications grew as the Fraternity grew. In his history of Pi Kappa Alpha, The Oak, National Historian Dr. Jerome V. Reel Jr. (Tulane) indicates that next to a consistent schedule for national conventions, the development of a comprehensive communications system between the chapters, active members and alumni members was considered by the Fraternity's leadership as vital to PiKA's aggressive outreach.

Other national fraternities had already realized the necessity to formally communicate with members. Delta Upsilon and Theta Delta Chi were two of the earliest national fraternities to publish magazines. Both national fraternities began doing so in the 1860s, prior to Pi Kappa Alpha's founding. In 1872, Beta Theta Pi's general secretary began publishing The Beta Theta Pi to cut down on his work of corresponding to the increasing number of chapters and members. Smythe used the Beta magazine as a model for his first edition of the The Pi Kappa Alpha Journal.

EDITORIAL.

It is with pleasure we hand you this, our first number of the JOURNAL, and also with pride, for it is what we have been working to do for years. We are indebted to the Chapters for their promptness in sending the letters asked for. Our Alumni were also very obliging, and we herewith give them our hearty thanks. We ask all those who have not yet done so, to send the 25 cents promised, by postal note. and not by stamps. You will please notice this. In our next number we hope to have letters from more of the Alumni, and would be glad if more of them would write for us. Cannot you give us a letter for the next number?

Without a Magazine we cannot expect to accomplish anything, and without support we cannot have a Magazine. Not only do we want money, but we want letters from our Alumni to publish. Red-hot Fraternity letters. Surely our Alumni will do this. We only ask a little amount for our Magazine, and cannot but expect all our Alumni to subscribe. All letters will be welcomed for No. 2. Let us have them by January 20th, 1891. Will our Alumni who cannot write a letter anwer the four following ques tions, so that our personal news and records may be com-from the chapters entitled the Pi Kappa Alpha Bulletin. All four of the Fraternity's chapters had contributed news, an alumnus from Kansas City reported on PiKA alumni in the area, and there was a call for the Hampden-Sydney Convention. At the Convention the Bulletin was adopted as the official publication of the Fraternity.

Rice was appointed the editor and McAllister was asked to serve as business manager. The Bulletin was to sell for fifty cents a copy which would help to cover the printing costs. The Convention mandated that if individual subscriptions did not cover the costs the chapters would be assessed. Unfortunately, shortly after the 1889 Convention both Rice and McAllister left the University of Virginia the Bulletin never appeared again.

In November of 1890, almost a year after the Hampden-Sydney Convention, Smythe sent out a newsletter telling of his intentions to "edit a magazine in the interests of Pi Kappa Alpha". The magazine, The Pi Kappa Alpha Journal, was to be published six times a year and would cost twenty-five cents an issue.

The first issue of the Journal was a twenty-four page magazine and contained chapter reports, the minutes from the Hampden-Sydney Convention, a financial statement on the Fraternity, literary and historical articles, and an editorial from Editor Smythe (reprinted on page 13) which addressed the need for more subscriptions.

FINANCIAL WOES

Although the Journal appeared five more time after the initial issue, and despite Smythe's continuing pleas for support, it shows no honoraria paid out or collected by Smythe. This evidence supports the idea that Smythe, a cotton broker clerk in Charleston, South Carolina, published the Journal with his personal salary.

In 1891 the Journal became the Shield & Diamond. Smythe maintained his position as editor and received help from Daniel Johnson Brimm (Theta) and McAllister. The format remained simple, yet vital to the Fraternity's growth. It contained chapter reports, information from and about alumni, and national information about conventions, chapters and finances.

Several attempts were made by Conventions to increase the underwriting of the magazine. In 1893, with fewer than one-fourth of the members subscribing at a two dollar annual rate, it was proposed that an endowment be established to cover the annual printing costs. The proposal called for forty alumni to contribute ten dollars a year for five years, or twenty alumni to give twenty dollars a year for five years. Unfortunately, only a handful of alumni responded, so the Shield & Diamond continued on Smythe's salary and with support from a few subscribers.

Because of the United States's economic concerns late in 1893, the Shield & Diamond was forced to cease publication in the spring of 1894. For eighteen months the Shield & Diamond remained silent. Then, the Fraternity's Executive Council requested that the chapters send an annual two dollar subscription fee from each active member. This proved to be enough to start publishing the Shield & Diamond again.

At the 1926 National Convention in Atlanta the delegates approved the creation of an endowment fund to help finance the Shield & Diamond. The Shield & Diamond Endowment Fund, as it was called, received ten dollars from each new initiate. In 1933 the Shield & Diamond Fund ended because of the Depression, but not before it had accumulated $65,000.

This was able to provide for sixty-five percent of the magazine's annual costs. Throughout the years to follow this Fund continue to grow without any substantial contributions from the Fraternity, but because of wise investments by the Trustees selected to manage the Fund. By 1960 the fund totaled $433,693 and was able to fund over eighty-five percent of the magazine's operating budget. This was a 550% increase since 1933. In the late 1960s the Shield & Diamond Fund had nearly $700,000 but the Internal revenue had ruled that the magazine did not qualify as an educational journal and therefore the Fund's income was subject to taxation. To qualify for tax exemption the purpose of the Fund was changed to support leadership development, thus leaving the magazine costs to be paid for once again through the Fraternity's General Fund.

SHIELD & DIAMOND EDITORS

The Shield & Diamond has had thirteen editors during its one hundred year history. Each editor has provided his own perspective on providing news and information about the Fraternity to PiKA members.

Junior Founder Robert A. Smythe is considered the magazine's founder and first editor. It was Smythe's determination and personal resources that helped the magazine through its very early years. Smythe's tenure as editor lasted from 1890 to 1909. Smythe's early objectives for the magazine were to provide information about the Fraternity's chapters and its members, and address issues which affected PiKA's growth and operations.

J. Blanford Taylor

In 1909 Smythe relinquished the editor's position and for the next forty years the job of editing the magazine was delegated to volunteer alumni of the Fraternity.

In the 1930s the Shield & Diamond, under the editorship of Keeler Dewitt Pulcipher (Illinois) took on a different personality as it became a lively forum for chapter plans and a spotlight on prominent alumni. K.D., as he was better known, was also PiKA's first editor to serve as president of the College Fraternity Editors Association, an association founded in 1923 to promote the concept of interfraternal cooperation.

K.D. served until 1940, then returned for the 1941-42 year. Richard G. Baumhoff (Washington State) was editor for 1940-41. When Pulcipher resigned as editor to become the Fraternity's national secretary in 1942, the editorship passed to J. Blanford Taylor (Georgetown College). In 1949 Robert D. Lynn (Presbyterian) became editor.

Lynn, who also served as Pi Kappa

Alpha's executive director, served as editor for twenty-one years, the longest tenure of any editor to date. When he became editor he brought the magazine back into the national headquarters for editing. When Lynn resigned as executive director in 1959, he continued to edit the magazine until 1971. He was succeeded by Stanley Love (Marshall and Ohio State). Love is credited with moving the Shield & Diamond more toward a series of feature stories, and the chapter reports, except for an occasional feature, were reduced to short notes.

When Love resigned in 1972 he was replaced by R. John Kaegi (Oregon), who was a member of the Memorial Headquarter's staff at the time. Under Kaegi the magazine continued to change. Rarely since the magazine began did it ever touch on controversial issues or articles which were not positively related to Pi Kappa Alpha. However, Kaegi is credited with moving the magazine toward reflecting the concerns and issues being experienced on college campuses during the changing seventies. Short stories dealing with social issues, articles needed for pending Convention legislation and historical articles not always favorable to the Fraternity became regular content.

Kaegi stepped down as editor in 1984 and Louis B. Quinto (Purdue University) was appointed editor by Raymond L. Orians (Memphis State) Pi Kappa Alpha's newest Executive Vice President. Shortly after Quinto's appointment as editor the Fraternity's Supreme Council formed an ad-hoc committee to study the magazine and its function as PiKA's main communication organ.

The committee, headed by then Supreme Council Vice President E. J. "Ted" Grofer (Cincinnati), reviewed a series of previous issues and looked at other national fraternity magazines. In its final report the committee recommended that the Shield & Diamond should return to a format which; (1) reports on chapter activities; (2) concentrates on issues which directly affect the Fraternity; (3) assists in disseminating news from the national headquarters; and (4) reports more alumni news and highlights prominent alumni.

The Supreme Council endorsed the committee's final recommendations and for the last six years the Shield & Diamond has been prepared using those guidelines.

THE FUTURE

What new changes could be in store for Shield & Diamond as it embarks on its next one hundred years? Currently, there aren't any major changes planned in the magazine's format or content. However, with all of the modern modes of communication anything is possible — from a "Prodigy"-type computer network to teleconference-type news programs available through cable TV networks. Perhaps when Brother Ted Koppel gets tired of "Nightline" he can anchor a Shield & Diamond version entitled "Pikeline". . .

GAMMA OMICRON CHAPTER Ohio University

January 9, 1991

To: The Executive Director Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity

On behalf of the Central Ohio Chapter of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, I am writing to commend the Ohio University Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha in Athens, Ohio for their volunteer work during a recent fund raising event.

In November of 1990, I contacted Ed DeAngelo of the OU Pike Chapter to find volunteers for the First Annual March of Dimes Jail and Bail, a three-day fund raising event. With relatively little time and during a busy finals schedule, Ed was able to find members of the house to fill the first day, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., with volunteers. Having been a student not long ago, I can appreciate how hectic finals can be. Yet, at least fifteen Pi Kappa Alpha members were able to make the time to help out the March of Dimes. They served in many capacities during that busy day and helped us to run an extremely successful event to help in our fight for healthy babies.

. . . I have heard many good things about the OU Pike Chapter among the many non-profit agencies in Athens. I look forward to working with this Chapter again.

Sincerely, Audra Wilson Community Director

What an awesome idea! The concept of a safe, self-contained Halloween area for the community elementary children certainly promoted good will between the Greeks and the Oxford (Ohio) residents. I understand the kids had a ball and I hope the Halloween spirit was felt by all the fraternities. Due to the success of the event, I have the feeling the Oxford com-

There is a disease plaguing our community - called apathy!

The following list of people and organizations have not been touched by this disease...they get involved:

- Dobson Ranch Homeowners Association
- · Dobson High School
- Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity ASU
- Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity (Delta Tau Chapter) - ASU
- Woodmen of the World Lodge 117
- ABCO Supermarket Guadalupe and

The above are supporters of our fellow Americans, young men and women serving in Operation Desert Shield.

Desert Shield Support Committee was established to give support to our young servicemen and servicewomen serving in the Mideast crisis.

This committee is comprised of "moms and dads" of servicemen and servicewomen, as well as concerned citizens offering their services.

We would like to have your support in letting our troops know that we Americans do care and want to help keep their spirits high...

EPSILON GAMMA CHAPTER Texas Tech

January 7, 1991

To: Pi Kappa Alpha National Office

This letter is to express our sincere appreciation of the Texas Tech Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha's participation in the 1990 U-Can-Share Food Drive benefiting the South Plains Food Bank.

The Fraternity collected canned food throughout the community, at chapter meetings and at the entrance of social functions. In addition, many of the members unselfishly loaded the 12,067 total pounds into the collection truck.

Due to their support, coupled with other fraternities and sororities, the event was a tremendous success. The Greek system established a new record of total poundage as well as increasing total participation. Since a local television station sponsored the event, the media attention given to the Greeks promoted a very positive community image.

Again, we would like to express our appreciation for their time, effort and support. We know we can count on Pi Kappa Alpha to aid in philanthropy projects like this in the future.

To: The Kalamazoo Gazette Kalamazoo, Michigan

Members of the Portage Ambucs publicly thank members of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at Western Michigan University for their continued support of our fund raising activities. We would also like to especially thank Mr. John Bartelt, community services chairman of Pi Kappa Alpha. For the past two years, he has repeatedly called us to find ways that they could help us with our fund raisers.

At our last Las Vegas Night, he arranged for twelve of his fraternity brothers to help us. They showed up on time, very neatly attired. These polite, well-spoken young men worked tirelessly from 7 p.m. to midnight without complaint. We would not have been successful without them and we feel that the rest of the community should be aware that there is much more to Western than the Lafayette Street parties.

October 30, 1990

To: Raymond L. Orians Executive Vice President Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity

As Coordinator for the "Rob's Coats for Kids" project, I would like to bring to your attention the fine work done on this project by the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. "Rob's Coats for Kids" takes winter coats that are donated by the community and then cleaned by a local cleaners, and distributes them to low income, needy children (and adults) referred by Human Services agencies.

Sixteen gentlemen from Pi Kappa Alpha at the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, put in 88.5 hours in the distribution of the coats. These gentlemen came in twice a week and manned the reception table and helped with forms and also assisted individuals in the selection of coats. Without these gentlemen assisting our project it would have been extremely difficult to carry this project to its successful

I would like to have Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity recognized for its outstanding service with the "Rob's Coats for Kids" project . . .

Cordially, Susan Lund, Coordinator Rob's Coats for Kids United Way Community Services

Is Your Chapter Represented in Shield & Diamond?

Chapter news has been a regular feature of the Shield & Diamond since its beginning in 1891.

Far too many chapters, though, miss out on the recognition they deserve, and could receive, through the Fraternity's magazine.

What are the criteria for publication of chapter news in the CHAPTER NOTES section of Shield & Diamond?

- · Chapters must be current in their payments to the Fraternity's General Fund, and they must have paid their Insurance Assessments.
- · Chapters which are experiencing financial difficulties, but which have made arrangements with the Fraternity's Executive Director to pay their past due balances, may, at his discretion, receive permission to have their news published.
- · There are three annual deadlines. News received at the Memorial Headquarters on or before the deadline dates will be considered for publication. The deadlines are:

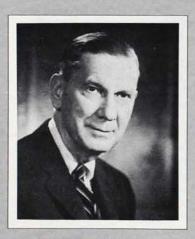

March issue January 15 December issue October 15

The September issue features the Fraternity's annual report, and does not carry chapter news.

- · News should consist of factual reporting of events which have already occurred. Photos should be of good quality, with good contrast, preferably black & white.
- · Shield & Diamond reserves the right to edit any news published.

Dr. Robert D. Lynn Memorial Receives $10,000 Gift

The Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation is pleased to announce that it has received a gift in the amount of $10,000 from Stanley F. Love (Delta Iota '51) designated for the Dr. Robert D. Lynn Memorial Scholarship. Brother Love is a former member of the Fraternity's staff and is a past national officer. He owns Love Publishing Company in Denver, Colorado.

Dr. Lynn (Mu '32) served the Fraternity for many years as its chief executive officer, Supreme Council member, Shield & Diamond editor and National Interfraternity Conference president. He passed on to the Chapter Eternal in 1987.

The Lynn Memorial was established in 1989 with an initial gift from Dr. Lynn's son Sandy. Additional gifts to the fund have been received from Lynn family members and friends as well as from several Pi Kappa Alpha alumni.

Earnings from the fund are designated to providing an annual scholarship to a student member of Pi Kappa Alpha who has displayed extraordinary interfraternal leadership on his campus.

If you wish to honor Dr. Lynn by contributing to this fund, please send your check, made payable to Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation and indicating Lynn Memorial in the memo space on the check, to the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation.

Past National President Roy D. Hickman Establishes Charitable Remainder Trust

Past National President Roy D. Hickman (Beta Delta '22) recently donated $14,910 to the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation. The funds were used to establish the Roy D. Hickman Charitable Remainder Annuity Trust. A fixed amount of the annual earnings of the Trust will be returned to Brother Hickman for the remainder of his life under the terms of the Trust agreement.

At the time of his death, the Trust will be dissolved and the corpus and excess earned income will be transferred to an endowment previously established by Hickman to support the Fraternity's annual SMC Conference.

Donations to the Harvey T. Newell Library

Alumnus authors have donated many of their works to the Fraternity's library over the past months. The library, named in memory of Past National President Harvey T. Newell (Alpha Iota '30), occupies a prominent space in the Memorial Headquarters building, and contains a collection of books by or about members of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Three new additions were recently added to the library's collection:

Early Peoples
The Fur Trade of North Dakota
C. L. Dill (Zeta Rho '68), Donor.

Highpoints of the United States Don W. Holmes (Gamma Eta '56), Donor.

Those wishing to donate a book or books may mail them to the Educational Foundation, directed to the attention of Executive Officer Jeff Abraham.

Foundation Trustee Hoenshell To Provide Scholarships For Omicron Delta Kappa

Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation Treasurer R. Craig Hoenshell (Delta Chi '63) has generously volunteered to provide a $50 scholarship to any undergraduate of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity who is selected for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa honor society at any college or university in the 1990-1991 academic year. Brother Hoenshell has previously endowed a scholarship program which awards $100 to each Pi Kappa Alpha brother inducted into the Phi Beta Kappa honor society.

Omicron Delta Kappa, of which Brother Hoenshell is a member, was founded in 1914 to recognize leadership of exceptional quality and versatility in college, to promote the ideas that representatives in all phases of college life should cooperate in a worthwhile endeavor and that outstanding students, faculty and administration members should meet on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness. Today there are over 190 Omicron Delta Kappa circles across the country. Pi Kappa Alpha alumnus Dr. Eldridge E. Roark (Alpha Pi '52) is currently serving a two-year term as national president, after having served six years as a vice president of the organization.

Those who have been selected as a member of Omicron Delta Kappa this year, and wish to receive a $50 award, should submit proof of induction (i.e., copy of certificate, letter of invitation, etc.) to the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation at the Memorial Headquarters.

Questions regarding or donations to the Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation should be directed to:

Foundation Receives $56,000 Gift

The Educational Foundation has received a gift in the amount of $56,000 from Lewis E. Magee (Beta Zeta '30) of Jacksonville, Florida. The unrestricted gift represents 20% of a trust that had been established during Brother Magee's lifetime. He died on April 12, 1989.

An equal amount was left to Beta Zeta's Chapter House Fund.

An additional gift (20% of the remaining trust balance) will be distributed from the trust when all estate expenses have been paid.

Gifts to the Freeman H. Hart Museum

The Freeman H. Hart Museum houses a unique collection of Fraternity memorabilia, such as original charters and minutes, items that were or are presently owned by Pi Kappa Alpha's highest achievers (e.g. Distinguished Achievement Award winners, Order of West Range Inductees, etc.) and items used by members who served the country's military branches during our various wars.

The Museum provides substantial space for display of Fraternity artifacts and is visited by thousands of undergraduates and alumni annually. Chapters and alumni are encouraged to donate such memorabilia to the Foundation. If you have questions regarding such a donation, please contact Foundation Executive Officer Jeff Abraham at the Memorial Headquarters.

In the past few months, gifts to the museum have been received from:

he 1990 college football season proved to be a great one for both Pike players and coaches. Helping lead Colorado to a 10-1-1 season and number one ranking was the nation's leading punt returner, Dave McCloughan (Beta Upsilon '88), who ran back 32 punts for 524 yards (including a 90-yarder) and a 16.4 average. As a cornerback, he intercepted 4 passes, returning them 75 yards, and posted 47 tackles. Dave was named to the NIC All-Fraternity All-American first team, the Academic All-Big Eight first team and the All-Big Eight second team.

The third-leading scorer in NCAA Division 1-A was Houston kicker Roman Anderson (Epsilon Eta '90), who totaled 115 points. He booted 19 field goals in 25 attempts and hit 58 straight extra points to push his consecutive streak to 113, a Southwest Conference record. With one season left to play, Roman is now the SWC's alltime career scoring leader with 354 points and career field goal leader with 60. He was named to the All-Fraternity All-American first team and the All-SWC first team.

Oregon State co-captain Esera Tuaolo (Beta Nu '89) was one of 12 pre-season Lombard Award nominees and one of 22 Outland Trophy finalists at mid-season. He missed the first three games with a knee injury but was so dominating at defensive tackle over the last eight games that he gained All-Fraternity All-American first team and All-Pacific-10 first team selection. Esera ranked fourth in tackles with 42, including six for losses and four sacks. He went to the East-West Shrine Game and Senior Bowl and was chosen as OSU's Outstanding Defensive Player and Most Inspirational Player.

One of the country's top quarterbacks, T.J. Rubley (Gamma Upsilon '90) of Tulsa, saw his senior year ended by a knee injury in the third game. Prior to the injury, he completed 38 of 81 for 423 yards and four touchdowns. T.J. now holds school career records for pass attempts (1,076), completions (534), passing yards (7,270) and total offense yardage (7,082). He has been granted an additional year of eligibility and may return this fall.

Taking over the reins as Tulsa's quarterback after T.J.'s injury was Gus Frerotte (Gamma Upsilon '90), who completed 97 of 216 for 1,066 yards and five TDs. His top game was 25 of 46 for 239 yards versus Memphis State. Other Tulsa standouts included punter Danny Phelps (Gamma Upsilon '90), who had 60 boots for a 38.4 average with a longest punt of 71 yards; plus linebackers Clint Dishman (Gamma

Quarterback T.J. Rubley (Tulsa - Gamma Upsilon '90)

Upsilon '90), who had 14 tackles; Joe Dan McAdams (Gamma Upsilon '90), also with 14 tackles; and Todd Hays (Gamma Upsilon '90), with 11 stops.

Named to the GTE Academic All-American University Division first team was Cincinnati co-captain and defensive tackle Kyle Stroh (Alpha Xi '88), a finance-marketing major with a 3.40 GPA. He ranked fourth on the squad with 46 tackles, including six for losses. Offensive guard John Arena (Alpha Xi '89) started for the third year and was Cincinnati's other co-captain.

Having another fine season for the 8-3 Illinois Hall of Fame Bowl squad was defensive back Mike Hopkins (Beta Eta '88), who was in on 51 tackles. He was named to the Academic All-Big Ten team for the second straight year.

Defensive end Jeff Higgins (Beta Mu '89) was key player for the University of Texas, posting 26 tackles and playing the Cotton Bowl.

Scott Baehren (Theta Nu '89) took over as Baylor's center the last six games of the season and gained All-Southwest Conference second team honors. Jeff Ireland (Theta Nu '89) handled Baylor's kicking chores and was the leading scorer for the second straight year (55 points on 10 field goals and 25 extra points).

Linebacker Daniel Boyd (Gamma Theta '90) was one of Mississippi State's most improved players, starting every game and ranking second in tackles with 99.

Pikes made good contributions to the improved Kansas State football program. Safety Danny Needham (Alpha Omega '89) gained All-Big Eight honorable mention, was third in tackles with 83 and picked off two passes. Chris Cobb (Alpha Omega '88) handled the punting duties again with 65 for a 40% average, including a longest punt of 54 yards versus Oklahoma. Quarterback Paul Watson (Alpha Omega '88) completed 27 of 53 for 328 yards and had a 40-yard TD scamper against New Mexico.

Wide receiver Jon Reed (Zeta Xi '88) concluded a great career at Western Carolina by again leading the team in receiving (40 catches for 421 yards and three scores). He earned All-Southern Conference second team selection and now ranks fourth in WCU career receiving (161 for 2,271 yards and 14 TDs). Andy Schultz (Zeta Xi '87) started at wide receiver again and led the team in all-purpose vardage. He caught 17 passes for 214 yards, returned 27 kickoffs 496 yards and ran back five punts for 58 yards.

Brian Fox (Alpha Eta '90) was second-team quarterback for the 9-2 University of Florida team.

Playing well on special teams for Iowa State was defensive back Lant Doran (Alpha Phi '90). Linebacker Nick Pantuso (Iota Epsilon '88) was a co-captain for Long Beach State and was in on 33 tackles.

Defensive end John Hillis (Gamma Lambda '88) was a key regular for the 7-4 Lehigh squad, posting 32 tackles, including six for losses.

Several Pikes saw action for Arkansas State. Linebacker John Moellers (Delta Theta '89) started every game, was second in tackles with 83 and led with three fumble recoveries. Quarterback Jack Dollarhide (Delta Theta '90) started three games, hitting 19 of 61 for 326 yards and two touchdowns.

Mississippi State's Lee Hunt (Gamma Theta '90) saw a lot of duty at offensive guard, and Jimbo Griffin (Gamma Theta '90) was a good special teams player.

Seeing action on defense for Indiana State were back Brian Bridgewater (Theta Omicron '88), who was in on 34 tackles, and linebacker Bruce Bridgewater (Theta Omicron '88), who had 20 tackles.

Named to the All-Western Football Conference second team for California-Northridge's 7-4 Division II playoff team was safety Eric Treibatch (Zeta Omicron '88). He was third on the squad with 70 tackles, returned two interceptions 33 yards and was the Matadors' Most Improved Player.

Shane Adkins (Eta Epsilon '88) was again the starting center for Angelo State's 7-3 squad.

A number of Pike standouts led Drake to a 6-4 season. Wide receiver Jeff Creel (Delta Omicron '89) led with 36 receptions for 426 yards and three TDs. Versatile Andy Cook (Delta Omicron '88) set several records, including field goals in a season (12), career field goals (30) and career points by kicking (153). He averaged 35.3 for 16 punts, caught eight passes for 102 yards and rushed for 74 yards (on just three carries). Fullback Dan Cahill (Delta Omicron '89) was second in rushing (342 yards on 72 carries) and receiving (21 for 180 yards). Steve Sliwinski (Delta Omicron '89) started at offensive guard for the third year while Brad Besch (Delta Omicron '90) started at center for the second year. Defensive backs Greg Ahern (Delta Omicron '88) and Greg Gerlach (Delta Omicron '90) tied for seventh in tackles with 44 apiece. Other Drake players seeing a lot of action included defensive back Jim Snyder (Delta Omicron '90), who had 15 tackles, offensive guard Mark Snyder (Delta Omicron '90) and second-team quarterback Blake Pilgrim (Delta Omicron '90), who completed 13 of 25 for 121 yards.

Pikes continued to dominate the Case Western Reserve squad again. The defense was led by co-captain and defensive back Mike Bissler (Epsilon Xi '88), who was named to the GTE Academic All-American College Division first team as a 3.9 GPA student in accounting. He was also named to the All-University Athletic Association second team and ranked third in tackles with 73. Linebacker Ed Trebets (Epsilon Xi '90) led in tackles with 89, made the All-UAA second team and was named underclass MVP. Linebacker Steve Marincic (Epsilon Xi '89) gained All-UAA second-team selection and was in on 48 stops. Other tough defenders for CWRU included linebacker Greg Turk (Epsilon Xi '89), second with 80 tackles, linebacker Frank Loncar (Epsilon Xi '90), who had 47 tackles, back Scott Dover (Epsilon Xi '90), with 30 tackles, back Matt Havens (Epsilon Xi '89), with 30 tackles, linebacker Jonathan Hykes (Epsilon Xi '90), with 23 tackles, linebacker Mike Sonnett (Epsilon Xi '90), with 21 tackles, and tackle Mark Ditsious (Epsilon Xi '89), with

A leader on offense for Case Western Reserve was tight end Ken Holloway (Epsilon Xi '89), who was named team MVP and All-UAA first team. He led the squad with 25 receptions for 410 yards and four TDs. Versatile Ken Mazzei (Epsilon Xi '89) gained All-UAA second team selection and rang up a lot of all-purpose yardage: 22 receptions for 384 yards, nine carries for 112 yards, six punt returns for 91 yards and 11 kickoff returns for 240 yards. Chad Blunt (Epsilon Xi '90) was the top ground gainer with 710 yards on 188 carries and caught 20 passes for 207 yards. Wingback Scott Bellack (Epsilon Xi '89) returned 13 kickoffs for 211 yards.

A number of Pikes contributed to Hampden-Sydney's 6-4 season. Offensive guard W.R.

Jones (lota '89) a 3.87 GPA student in chemistry, was named to the GTE Academic All-American College Division first team. Back David Ingram (Iota '88) gained All-Old Dominion Athletic Conference second team honors after making 63 tackles and intercepting three passes. Defensive end David Stewart (lota '88) ranked second with 71 tackles. Back James White (lota '88) was in on 21 stops while lineman Tripp Butler (Iota '89) added 14 tackles. On offense, fullback Paul Amos (lota '89) ran for 324 yards on 70 attempts, caught seven passes for 126 yards and scored four touchdowns. Dale Matusevich (Iota '88) was the punter again, averaging 35.6 yards on 26 punts.

Four Pikes were leading players for Linfield College. Tight end Jeff Earhart (Delta Rho '88) led in receiving with 28 catches for 399 yards and was named to the All-Mount Ranier League first team. Defensive end Eric Bergquam (Delta Rho '89) was on the All-Mount Ranier League second team while defensive end Chris Jackson (Delta Rho '89) and offensive tackle Shepley Nelson (Delta Rho '86) gained honorable mention.

Offensive tackle Ken Godwin (Iota Delta '88) was named to the All-College Athletic Conference first team for Rose-Hulman Institute.

At the University of Chicago, quite a few Pikes made good contributions. Quarterback Greg Schein (Iota Xi '90) completed 30 of 72 passes for 397 yards, kicked seven extra points and made 15 tackles on defense. Wide receiver Kui Nakamura (Iota Xi '90) was second with eight catches. Defensive back Steve Chudik (Iota Xi '90) posted 45 tackles and two interceptions. Lineman Jeff Roach (Iota Xi '90) was in on 38 stops, while linebacker J.P. Albrecht (Iota Xi '90) contributed 13 stops.

Pikes made good contributions at Preshyterian. Linebacker Ed Healy (Mu '86) posted 36 tackles, including a team-high five sacks. Wide receiver John Gentry (Mu '89) was cocaptain and Tim Davis (Mu '89) saw a lot of action at quarterback, completing 29 of 75 for 400 yards and four scores. Other good defenders included nose tackle Pat Shearer (Mu '89), with 17 tackles; linebacker-safety David Wahn (Mu '90), in on 17 tackles; and linebacker Jason Sullivan (Mu '90), with 12 tackles.

Shane Summers (Theta Xi '88) punted again for East Texas State's 10-3 Division II quarterfinals team and was named to the All-Lone Star Conference Academic first team. He had 50 punts for a 37.7 average, including a 78-yarder. Teammate Paul Berry (Theta Xi '89) started several games and posted 25 tackles. Defensive lineman Scott Adams (Alpha Kappa '89) saw a lot of action for Missouri-Rolla and was in on 31 tackles.

Injuries caused several Pike players to miss most of the season at California State-Sacramento. Special teams performer Mark Massari (Theta Tau '89) was unable to play and linebacker Matt Love (Theta Tau '90) was hurt early in the season. Angus McClure (Theta Tau '87) saw some playing time in the offensive line for the Hornets.

Many Pikes were on the 8-4 Central Arkansas squad which went as far as the NAIA Division II semi-finals. All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference first team safety Chris Smith (Epsilon Phi '89) led the team with five interceptions, 11 passes broken up and 11 punt returns for a 9.8 average. He ranked second on the squad with 97 tackles. Nose guard David Henson (Epsilon Phi '89) gained All-AIC first team honors again and was fifth with 77 tackles, including seven for losses. Defensive end Ricky Sawyer (Epsilon Phi '88) gained All-AIC honorable mention and had 71 tackles, including six sacks. Two-year starting offensive guard Bob Mohr (Epsilon Phi '89) also gained All-AIC honorable mention. Other starters included kicker Steve Strange (Epsilon Phi '90), the scoring leader with 43 points (25 extra points, six field goals); linebacker Jody Lensing (Epsilon Phi '89), second with three interceptions and fourth with 86 tackles; and offensive tackle Nathan Miller (Epsilon Phi '89). Defensive back Craig Lincoln (Epsilon Phi '90) added 17 tackles while back David Healea (Epsilon Phi '89) came through with two interceptions and 11 tackles.

For three of the Fraternity's most illustrious head football coaches, 1990 proved to be a banner season, as all three won their bowl games and finished in the top twenty. Colorado's Bill McCartney (Alpha Nu '61) beat Notre Dame 10-9 in the Orange Bowl to follow up a 10-1-1 regular season record. The Buffaloes finished first in the Associated Press Poll and second in the United Press International poll.

Florida State's Bobby Bowden (Alpha Pi '53) led the Seminoles to a 9-2 season, then beat Penn State 24-17 in the first Blockbuster Bowl. FSU placed fourth in the final rankings of both AP and UPI. Bobby captured his 200th career win midway through the 1990 season and now ranks eighth on the all-time winningest coaches list with a 204-74-3 record.

Howard Schnellenberger (Gamma Omega '80) had his most successful season (9-1-1) at Louisville since moving from Miami six seasons ago. The Cardinals beat Alabama 34-7 in the Fiesta Bowl to attain a number twelve ranking in the UPI Poll and fourteenth position with AP. After II seasons as a head coach, Howard's record is now 72-49-3. (See related story on page 22).

In pro football, kicker Mike Lansford (Beta Beta '79) scored 87 points (15 field goals, 42 extra points) to extend his Los Angeles Rams career scoring record to 789 points. Jeff Feagles (Gamma Omega '86) joined the Philadelphia Eagles and had his best pro year, averaging 42.0 on 72 punts to rank sixth in the National Football Conference standings.

Linebacker Garth Jax (Delta Lambda '84) was again with the Phoenix Cardinals and became a starter in his fifth pro year. Rookie defensive lineman Craig Veasey (Epsilon Eta '87) saw action with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

PiKA Coaches Bowl Over Opponents

The 1990 postseason bowl games highlighted three successful PiKA alumni coaches, including the National Champion Colorado Buffalo's head coach Bill McCartney (Alpha Nu - Missouri '61). Bobby Bowden (Alpha Pi - Samford '53) at

Bill McCartney

Florida State and Howard Schnellenberger (Gamma Omega - Miami '80) of the Louisville Cardinals also lead their teams to bowl game victories.

After falling short of capturing their first national championship last year, Coach Bill McCartney and his Colorado Buffalos defeated Notre Dame 10-9 in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day and were crowned 1990 National Champions by the Associated Press Poll. The Buffalos ended the season with a 10-1-1 regular season record.

For McCartney, this was his ninth season with Colorado. During this time he has compiled a 56-46-2 record. Prior to accepting the head coaching job for the "Buffs" in 1982, he had spent eight years as an assistant coach at the University of Michigan under Bo Schembachler.

During his first three years, the Buffalos had a miserable 6-25-1 cumulative win-loss record. However, in 1985 things started to turn around for McCartney and his program as he switched from a passing game to a running game. The Buffalos went 7-5 on the season, and earned the NCAA's Most-Improved-Team honor, and netted McCartney the Big Eight's Coach-of-the-Year award. Colorado also received a bid to face the University of Washington in the Freedom Bowl that year. It was their first appearance in a bowl game in almost a decade. Unfortunately, Washington defeated McCart-ney's improved squad 20-17.

The 1986 season started off looking like the team had slipped backwards as it lost its first four games. But, McCartney's team bounced back to win six of their last seven games to finish second in the Big-Eight and appeared in the

Bobby Bowden

Bluebonnet Bowl against Baylor. Baylor defeated the Buffalos 21-9.

Despite a 7-4 record in 1987 the Buffalo's were overlooked by all bowl game committees. However, the next year the Buffalo's posted their best record since 1976 by going 8-4 and also returned to the Top 20 poll for the first time in over a decade. The Buffalos also returned to the post season bowl picture again, only to fall short to 20 - 17 in the Freedom Bowl.

Up until this past year, the 1989 season was considered the best ever for Colorado in the University's one hundred year football history. The season's highlights included going 11-0 in regular season play; receiving their first-ever number one ranking during the regular season; and earning their second outright Big Eight Conference title. The team's success earned McCartney unanimous National Coach-of-the-Year honors and a unanimous Big Eight Coachof-the-Year recognition. The team's only loss of the 1989 season was to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl 21-6. The loss kept the Buffalos from being crowned National Champions, but the number four ranking in the final polls was Colorado's second best ever.

Coach Bobby Bowden of the Florida State Seminoles led his squad to a 9-2 season which ended with a 24-17 win over Penn State in the first-ever Blockbuster Bowl. FSU placed fourth in the final rankings of both AP and UPI polls. It's the seventh time Florida State has finished in the nation's top ten during Bowden's fifteen years at FSU.

This past season also had some personal highlights for Bowden. Midway through the season a win by the Seminoles chalked up Bowden's

Howard Schnellenberger

200th as a college football coach. The win ranks him eighth on the list of all-time winningest coaches. The only other active coach on the list ahead of Bowden is Joe Paterno at Penn State. Bowden marks his twenty-fifth year as a coach with a 204-74-3 record.

Other Bowden coaching accomplishments and honors which mark his successful career include national Coach-of-the-Year honors in 1979 (ABC-Chevrolet) and 1980 (Bobby Dodd); FSU's all-time winningest coach; winningest active bowl coach 10-3-1; and twelve bowl appearances in fifteen seasons including nine straight.

Coach Howard Schnellenberger returned to the post season bowl scene this year for the first time since 1983 when he coached the University of Miami Hurricanes to a National Championship. This time Schnellenberger was calling the plays for the University of Louisville. His Cardinals defeated Alabama in the Fiesta Bowl 34-7. The win capped a 9-1-1 season which earned a number twelve UPI ranking and a number fourteen AP ranking.

This was Schnellenberger's sixth season with Louisville. He accepted the head coaching job on December 1, 1984, after leaving the University of Miami. His college coaching record is now 72-49-3, and includes a National Championship and National Coach-of-the-Year honors (1983).

Making Mississippi A Star

Ward Emling (Alpha Iota '73) has come home to Mississippi. The former actor and film location director returned from Los Angeles to direct the Mississippi Film Office in Jackson, a post he held earlier from 1980 to 1983.

Now, instead of making magic in front of cameras or scouting and setting up films on location, Emling is wooing his former peers to Mississippi — where they, ideally, will spend millions of dollars making movies.

"Last time I had this beard, I didn't have any gray in it," Emling said. "It was a pretty good living, but it was relentless," he said of the six years he lived in Los Angeles.

In December, he took the helm of the film office, which is in the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development's Division of Tourism Development.

Emling earned a bachelor's degree in English from Millsaps in 1976, then studied three years at London's Guildhall School of Music and Drama. He acted in the TV miniseries Beulah Land, which was filmed in Mississippi, before becoming film office director in 1980.

During his first tenure, such movies as Don't Look Back: The Satchel Paige Story and The Beast Within and the CBS-TV series The Mississippi were filmed in the state. When CBS renewed that series, Emling left the film office and became the series' location manager. He continued to act between jobs.

Now, he is reorganizing the film office and attempting to woo movie projects. He not only hopes to convince producers and directors that Mississippi has dramatic and scenic sites; they must be sure that movies can be made there easily, efficiently and economically, he said.

He also is coordinatng the state's ten independent local film commissions and working with local businesses and out-of-state suppliers to make movie rental equipment more available.

Emling's acting credits include spots on TV's Matlock, St. Elsewhere, and Knots Landing, as well as in the 1989 movie Problem Child. He served as location director for the feature films Problem Child, Bonanza: The Next Generation, D.A.R.Y.L., K-9, In A Shallow Grave, Vietnam War Stories, and Promises To Keep.

"I wanted to come back," he volunteered, "... and do something for Mississippi."

Reunion Awakens "Old Gang's" Memories

In 1960, four brothers of the Gamma Iota Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha at the University of Mississippi gathered on the porch of their white-columned house for a special photograph they called the "Golden Days".

Three decades later, the white socks and smiles are still the same, but the ties are wider and the waistlines are a little bit thicker.

The four visited the "Golden Days" again on Saturday, October 20, 1990. They are Robert C. Wilkerson ('57), an insurance salesman in Vicksburg; Jim Speed ('57), a banker in Meridian; Billy Haney ('57), executive director of the South Delta Planning and Development District in Greenville; and Frank Freeman ('57), a Waffle House franchisee in Greensboro, North Carolina.

This marked the third time in thirty years the old college buddies and 1961 Ole Miss graduates have assembled on the porch of the Pike house on South Row to have their picture taken. Their last reunion was in 1980.

The four, who returned to Oxford just to have their photograph taken again, pledged Pi Kappa Alpha in 1957 and were in the first class to be initiated in the "new" house when it was completed in the spring of 1958.

During their stay at Ole Miss, the four fraternity brothers lived in two corner rooms of the house. This is where the long-lasting close bonds were formed, Speed said.

"It revolved around PiKA then, and it still does today," Speed said. "We were in the largest fraternity house in the state then and felt especially close to those in our pledge class. We lived together, and without sounding too corny, we shared a lot of special times."

All the "Old Age Lunatics", as Wilkerson calls the group, married their college sweethearts - and all four couples are still together.

"I think that's something else that keeps us close," Haney said.

Haney said the get togethers with his friends offer him the opportunity to recall a simpler time.

"When I see us all here, it just brings back so many memories," Haney said. "Memories of all our great days and of a time when we had a few less problems, when we didn't have so many difficult things to worry about."

As close as the group is, there is one area of debate - the occasion of the initial photograph.

Freeman contends that the picture was taken during Ole Miss' 1960 Homecoming. The formal attire is proof of his claim, he said.

"We were all dressed up, wearing ties, so it must have been at Homecoming," Freeman said. "Now Speed has designated himself historian for the group and he disagrees."

Speed, with the reluctant support of the remaining two members, said the picture was taken in the spring of 1960, right before Haney was to be married.

"It was one of those situations where one of us was getting married, kind of like in that song 'breaking up that old gang of mine'," Speed said. "Freeman doesn't know what he's talking about."

Freeman stands alone in his contention, maybe because he is isolated geographically. That doesn't mean he is facing a strong alliance, though.

"I believe what Speed says, but I hate to agree with a banker on anything," Wilkerson said. "I'd much rather agree with a reputable, real businessman."

The friends had only a couple of hours to talk and catch up with old times, but they were able to plan another reunion.

"We're doing this in 10-year increments instead of 20 now that we're getting older," Speed said. "I think it's safe to say you can go ahead and book us for the year 2000."

Pikes Meet in Mid-Air

Steven G. Wilson (University of Florida - Alpha Eta '80), a second officer with Delta airlines, found himself in an interesting situation while in the midst of a flight from Miami to Washington, D.C. After talking with the captain and first officer, he realized he was a part of a unique crew.

Captain Bob Royall had attended the University of Miami, and First Officer Harry Sargeant III was a Florida State grad. Wilson, the "Gator", rounded out the crew.

It was enough of a coincidence that the three men had all attended college in the state of Florida, but what amazed the three flight officers was the fact that they were all Pikes! Royall is a 1965 initiate of Gamma Omega Chapter, and Sargeant was initiated at Delta Lambda Chapter in 1978.

With over 7,800 pilots employed by Delta Airlines, the odds of such a coincidence are pretty slim!

Super Group Enjoys Knoxville Reunion

Homecoming weekend at the University of Tennessee found Knoxville teeming with alumnus members of Pi Kappa Alpha as Zeta Chapter's Super Group Reunion took place. The Reunion was spearheaded by Foundation Trustee Tom Wade (Zeta '53) and a committee of energetic brothers.

Zeta initiates from the 1950s were the primary focus of the Reunion Committee's efforts, but a good number of brothers from the 1940s and 1960s also attended. Due to the committee's efforts and particularly those of Brother Wade, 115 brothers attended the events of the weekend. Spouses and guests brought the total attendance to over 300. Additionally, eight Dream Girls of the era joined the festivities.

The weekend included a breakfast, lunch at the Zeta Chapter house with the undergraduate members, a dinner, a formal banquet, a Volunteer victory over the Florida Gators on the gridiron, and four special dispensation initiations. Special guests included National President Jerry Askew, Vice Presidents Dan McGehee and Larry Lunsford, and Foundation Executive Officer Jeff Abraham.

Tulane Alumnus Wicker Heads Sugar Bowl Committee

For Thomas C. Wicker, Jr. (Eta. '41), the Sugar Bowl meant more than just a football game on New Year's Day. Brother Wicker served as chairman of the executive committee for this year's USF&G Sugar Bowl.

The executive committee is the policy-making body of the Sugar Bowl, and its 20 members prepare for the smooth operation of all activities for a successful Super Bowl. The task, a year-round one, means weekly meetings, trouble-shooting sessions, and a lot of headaches. The executive committee selects the teams that will compete, and handles all contracts and financial matters. Such policy decisions as the athletic conferences to be represented, which network will broadcast the game, and which corporation will sponsor the event are also undertaken by the committee, as well as reviewing the entertainment program for various parts of the Sugar Bowl and assigning a full-time staff to ensure that the teams have the best possible facilities.

Thomas C. Wicker

Wicker was nominated to the committee in 1973 because of his past involvement with Tulane and its athletic program. He served as president of the Tulane Alumni Association and the Green Wave Club, and was a member of the Tulane Board of Visitors. After fulfilling a two-year apprenticeship as an associate member, Wicker received the favorable vote of his colleagues to become a full member of the Sugar Bowl committee. In 1978, he served on the selection committee, which recommends the teams to the executive committee, and was elected president of the Sugar Bowl for 1986-87.

Wicker is also a judge of the Louisiana 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, a post he has held since his election in December 1985. He is a former district judge for Jefferson Parish and was a senior partner in the law firm of Simon, Wicker & Wiedermann.

A 1944 graduate of the Tulane University College of Commerce and Business Administration, Wicker served in eight campaigns in the Pacific theater with the Navy during World War II and, afterward, graduated from law school at Tulane.

He pledged Eta Chapter in 1940 and was initiated the following year. At Eta, he served as SC and Panhellenic representative. His involvement with Pi Kappa Alpha continued on a national level, with service as a member of the Alumni Advisory Committee and the Alumni Foundation Board.

Wicker is married to the former Veronica DiCarlo, a federal district court judge for the Eastern District of Louisiana. Tom and Veronica compose the only husband-wife, federal-state judge team in the nation. Law seems to run in the family, as their son, Tom III, is a practicing attorney in New Orleans, and his wife is also a lawyer. Perhaps grandchildren Freddi and Tom IV (T.C.) will continue the tradition. Tom and Veronica Wicker also have a daughter, Cathy, who is manager of sales conventions at the Fairmont Hotel in New Orleans.

Sharing The Fruits of Freedom

My work as a pilot for Pan Am Express presented me with the opportunity to live and work in West Berlin, Germany. I was stationed there for two years before the Berlin Wall fell, and for one year afterwards.

Like most people, I didn't realize what the Berlin Wall really meant until I experienced both the east and west sides during the Iron Curtain era.

Having an American passport removed many of the restrictions on passing through Check Point Charlie into East Berlin. Most East Germans, however, were not allowed to travel to the West.

In November of 1989, the month the Berlin Wall fell, I took a train ride from Nuremberg, West Germany, through East Germany and into Berlin. I was the only American on the train. It was here that I met Mike and Annette Mönnig of East Berlin. I was the first American they had ever met, and during the eleven hour trip, I answered as many questions about the U.S. and Western ways as I could.

After the wall came down, we visited each other frequently and experienced each other's way of life. It was then that I began to think about bringing them to America for a holiday, and to see first hand what had taken place in the world since the erection of the wall in 1963. Mike and Annette were both too young to remember anything other than restriction behind that wall.

After five months of red tape and fund raising, and with the help of Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation Executive Officer Jeff Abraham and Pan Am Express European General Manager Julius Suchi, the Mönnings' journey was underway. A lot of support for the trip was also generated at the International Travel Show 90, held at the Stouffer Hotel in Nashville, Tennessee. I had a booth set up with WZEZ radio station which featured the couple's wedding photo and a large piece of the Berlin Wall. I traded small pieces of the wall for favors in arranging their trip.

In April 1990 the adventure began, a dream come true for the Mönnigs. Before leaving Germany they were interviewed extensively by the media. Pan Am provided free first class transportation from Berlin to Atlanta via Frankfurt and New York. In Atlanta, the Mönnigs and I rented a car and drove to my home in Nashville. The car was a Chrysler LeBaron, and they were stunned with its speed and luxury.

For three weeks, the couple lived with me and my family, taking side trips to various cities by car. One major focus was Graceland in Memphis, Tennessee, the home of Rock 'n' Roll legend Elvis Presley. The Mönnigs were great Elvis fans, and had expressed this to me during our first meeting on the train. Since Rock'n' Roll was forbidden by the East German government, they had never even seen an Elvis movie; but they had recorded his music off Radio Free Europe transmissions.

Everything they saw in the United States was fantastic; large grocery stores were unbelievable to them. They couldn't imagine where so much food came from, or why there weren't thousands of people pushing outside to purchase their small portion.

The Mönnigs, my wife Jackie, and I spent three days in Memphis. All of the arrangements in that city were handled by Jeff Abraham of the Pi Kappa Alpha Memorial Headquarters. Mike and Annette were featured on the local news as the first East Germans to visit Graceland. The Presley estate gave them a private tour, and they received the key to the City of Memphis. Keys were also presented to them by the Cities of Clarksville and Springfield, Tennessee.

In Nashville, Tennessee they met Governor McWherter, visited Opryland and the Grand Old Opry. They also toured Ruby Falls in Chattanooga, and were given a private tour of the Peterbilt truck plant. The Mönnigs especially liked the truck plant; in East Germany, one must wait an average of fifteen years to get an automobile, which may cost up to three years' salary. They also found American single-family homes breathtaking. In East Germany the chances of owning so much as a one-bedroom apartment were virtually none.

The trip back to Germany took us through Miami, Florida, a city the Mönnigs found both exotic and exciting.

Back in Berlin, Mike and Annette were celebrities. People recognized them from their photos in German magazines, and by the snake skin boots Mike bought in Tennessee. The most lasting results of their adventure, though, were the great impressions of Western life and people they brought back to their countrymen.

Hopefully, such good friendships can help close the gap between East and West. financial planners under the name of Personal Advisors, Inc. He also serves as a director of the Eagle National Bank of Miami.

CHAPTER ETERNAL

Stephen E. Reynolds Inducted Posthumously Into New Mexico Athletic Hall of Honor

Stephen E. Reynolds

Stephen E. Reynolds (Beta Delta '36) was born in Decatur, Illinois in 1916. Following graduation from high school, he worked for a year, then journeyed to Albuquerque to attend the University of New Mexico.

As a student athlete at UNM, Reynolds was a member of the UNM Lettermen's Club; KHATALI (Senior Men's Honorary); served as junior class president; and as both football team captain and Student Body president during his senior year.

Playing end on the Lobo football team, Reynolds was a first team All-Border Conference selection; was named to the national Pi Kappa Alpha All Star team; and to the academic All American football team. He graduated from UNM in 1939 with a bachelor of science degree, cum laude, in mechanical engineering.

From 1939-55 (with military service as a Navy lieutenant during World War II) Reynolds was a process engineer for the Phillips Petroleum Company; an assistant professor of mechanical engineering at UNM; a research physicist for the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology at Socorro; and director of the U.S. Army Signal Corps' Thunderstorm research project.

Reynolds authored numerous technical publications in the fields of thunderstorm electrification; precipitation mechanisms; and on the use, conservation and development of water. He was also a scientific co-discoverer of the electrification of water during freezing — the phenomenon which produces lightning during thunderstorms.

In August of 1955, Reynolds was appointed State Engineer of New Mexico by then Governor John F. Simms. During his 35-year tenure in this position, Reynolds served with meritorious distinction under nine different governors, and became nationally prominent as a water resources authority.

From 1954-57 he served on President Dwight D. Eisenhower's National Advisory Committee on Weather Modification; from 1960-63 as an advisor to the National Science Foundation; from 1962-67 as Chairman of the United State's Panel of Scientists and Engineers for the International Boundary Commission under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson; from 1968-72 as a member of President Nixon's Water Pollution Advisory Board; and from 1973-77 as a member of the National Academy of Science's Commmittee on Water Control Policy for the United States during President Ford's administration.

Steve Reynolds was a co-founder and president of the New Mexico Society of Professional Engineers; president of the Association of Western State Engineers; president of the Western States Water Council; and a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; the American Meteorological Society; and the American Physical Society. Civically active as a member of the Lion's Club, he was a past president of the Socorro Lions.

Among other honors, Reynolds received New Mexico's Distinguished Public Service Award; UNM's prestigious Zimmerman Award for outstanding contributions to society during a career of distinguished service in science and government; an honorary Doctor of Laws degree; and membership in Who's Who in Government and Who's Who in America. His accomplishments are also published in American Men of Science; Men of Achievement; and the Dictionary of International Biography in London.

In 1938, Reynolds married Jane Iden, who died in 1986. Their only daughter, Nancy Reynolds Treat, her husband Joe and their sons Noel and Justin Treat, currently reside in Farmington, New Mexico.

Steve Reynolds passed away on April 25, 1990, following a prolonged illness. At his memorial service in Santa Fe, New Mexico, Governor Carruthers proposed that a bust of Reynolds fill the last available space allotted to the State of New Mexico for display in the Rotunda of Congress in Washington, D.C., in honor of his outstanding contributions to society. The University of New Mexico posthumously inducted Steven E. Reynolds into its Athletic Hall of Honor on November 16, 1990.

MEMORIAL GIFTS TO THE EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

If you wish to give a gift in memory of a Brother who has joined Chapter Eternal, please send your check, made payable to Pi Kappa Alpha Educational Foundation, and include a note identifying the brother in whose name the gift is being given, as well as his chapter and approximate date of death. Gifts may be either unrestricted or restricted to a particular Foundation program or account. The Foundation will notify survivors of the receipt of gifts, providing a survivor's name and address has been included with the gift. Memorial gifts of all sizes are welcome. Such gifts are tax-deductible and a receipt will be provided. If you have questions, or if you wish to establish a memorial, contact Foundation Executive Officer Jeff Abraham at the Memorial Headquarters.

Iota Kappa SMC Andrew C. Lynch Eulogized by His Brothers

Andrew Charles Lynch, SMC of Iota Kappa Chapter, suffered a fatal heart attack not long after attending the Fraternity's SMC Conference in January 1991. He was a shining example of the ideals for which Pi Kappa Alpha stands. Not only was he our leader, but more important, he was our dear friend.

Andrew was a driving force upon the Greek system at the University of California-Santa Barbara. He was instrumental in developing new approaches to risk management and pledge education at Iota Kappa, while at the same time inspiring participation by his brothers.

On the national level, he was recently selected as the Pike of the Month (November 1990) for his outstanding dedication to Pi Kappa Alpha. Also, Andrew had the distinction of being one of two undergraduates chosen for the National President's Nominating Committee in Chicago during the 1990 National Convention.

In addition to Andrew's fraternity life, he had a deep emotional bond with his family. He loved just to spend time with them, talking about life's deeper meanings. He was also outgoing and competitive; this was most apparent on the basketball court, but even there, competitiveness was tempered by compassion.

One of his favorite poems was called Footprints, by an unknown author. The poem depicts the relationship between God and man. At the man's lowest points, God says, "...during your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

The Brothers of Iota Kappa feel that at our lowest times, Andrew was always there to pick us up and carry us if need be. We still feel this way.

Iota Kappa Chapter has established the Andrew Charles Lynch Scholarship Fund in his memory. Gifts may be sent to the Memorial Headquarters.
